THIS IS what will appear on the cover of the Dominion Drama Festival programs which will be sold here during Final Festival Week here next May. The design, by Mrs. Malcolm Putnam, Charlottetown, was chosen from 13 entries in a contest sponsored by the DDF program committee.

Program Cover Design For Festival Selected

A striking block print design in black and white, created by Mrs. Malcolm Putnam, Charlottetown, has been chosen by the executive members of the Final Festival Committee for the cover of the souvenir program for the Dominion Drama Festival finals to be held here in May.

Mrs. Putnam's design was chosen from among 13 entered in the contest. It was announced last evening by Randolph Manning, executive chairman of the Final Festival Committee.

Different aspects of Island life are represented in the panels of the design. (Historical and theatrical significance will be emphasized on the pages in the program.)

Lettering on the winning entry was the work of George Scantlebury.

SERIES TICKETS

Mrs. Putnam's prize was two series tickets good for all ten performances throughout the final festival. Although definite admission prices haven't been fixed yet, Mr. Manning estimated the value of the prize at $50.

The artist said that she had been "both thrilled and surprised" at winning the contest, one she hadn't planned to enter until the last minute.

Although she has been drawing and painting since she was nine years old, Mrs. Putnam has never won a competition before.

"I never entered one," she said.

Mr. Manning said that choosing a winning entry had not been an easy task because of the variety in subject matter chosen and the excellence of some of the designs by the runners-up.

SUITABLE SOUVENIR

He said the theme chosen by Mrs. Putnam had made her entry the one which would be most suitable as a souvenir of the Island.

Other entrants in the contest were Claude Maurice, David MacNevin, Gordon Rodd and Mrs. Guy Fichaud, all of Charlottetown; Leslie Poole, Montague; Raymond Smith, Kensington; Ross MacKenzie, Summerside, and Mrs. G.M. Schurman, Yarmouth, N.S.

Prince Edward Island's new director of dramatic arts, Ron Irving, assisted in selecting the winning entry.

Others on the panel of judges were Mrs. Douglas McGowan, Tom Lothian, Randolph Manning, Bev Cook and Gordon White.

Parks Instead Of Rink Mooted In Montague

MONTAGUE BUREAU O THE GUARDIAN

A meeting of the chairman of the Montague and region strawberry festival was held earlier this week with each chairman of the various committees presenting a report on their activities and findings. The meeting was well attended.

A. A. (Joey) Fraser advised that the regional high school was available for the three-day event and that also the athletic field would be completed and at the disposal of the festival.

The suggestion that the permanent project for the festival should be parks for the town of Montague is being considered by the committee.

David Clarkson, chairman of projects committee said he found by investigating that it was not possible to build a hockey rink and have it completed for next winter unless some drastic steps were taken at once, and said he had the suggestion of a park made to him on several occasions and he was passing it on to the festival committee for their consideration.

Two park areas were suggested, one back of the town hall and along the river in this area. The other was one that was suggested by Harold Hynes several years ago from the Burnt Bridge down along the stream. This he felt could be a very beautiful location for a park and close to the town.

The display for model boats with Athol MacKinnon as chairman and who will now have the assistance of R.K. Clements has already several models on tap and considerable interest in this project has already been shown, it was reported.

The reports show that considerable progress has been made and the chairman, G. Arnold Wightman outlined the plans for the next meeting to be held late in November.
