GEO. H. COOK, PHOTOGRAPHER.

HAVING secured the services of Mr. CLOUD HILL, for many years Chief Operator with Hills and Saunders, and Gabes Hushes of Ryde Photographer to the Queen and Royal Family, persons wishing high class Photos taken would do well to call and see specimens.

Special attention paid to beautiful enlarged Portraits on opal and paper, finished in monochrome and colors which are greatly admired for truthfulness and delicacy of finish. These really high class permanent Portraits are rapidly taking the place of all inferior kinds, and are produced at prices consistent with conscientious work.

They can be produced from negatives, or taken by us or from any photograph sent however old and faded, D. guerresotypes, Ivory Miniatures, Glass Positives, etc., etc., and will not fail to give entire satisfaction.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BANISHES BAD BLOOD.

Bad Blood is responsible for all the Boils, Eruptions, Pimples, Eruptions, Skin Diseases, Humors and Disfiguring Rash that are so prevalent, especially in spring. There is a NATURAL FOE to BAD BLOOD called Burdock Blood Bitters which always conquers, never fails and is recommended by thousands. It searches out and removes all impurities from the smallest pimple to the worst scrofulous sore. In Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Shingles, Tetter, etc., its effects are wonderful.

WHAT THEY SAY.

Two of my children had large sores on their bodies caused by poorness of the blood. They were completely cured by one bottle of B. B. B. Mrs. J. PINEL, London East, Ont.

About a year ago I got a running abscess on my neck which made me very weak. B. B. B. cured it and I am strong again. Mrs. GEO. LEDINGHAM, Montefiore, Man.

A Faithful Friend.

Sirs,—I have great faith in your Burdock Blood Bitters, and can recommend it for most anything. Two years ago I was troubled with an ulcer on my ankle; having used B. B. B. for bad blood I procured a bottle, and a box of Burdock Healing Ointment; after using three bottles and three boxes I was completely cured and can recommend it everywhere. Yours truly, Mrs. WM. V. BOYD, Brantford, Ont.

The Tarte Charges.

(Montreal Gazette.)

The country is to be congratulated on having at last got the Tarte charges before it under circumstances that will ensure their thorough investigation. They are of a most serious character. Though they affect most directly the member for Quebec West they also attack the integrity of the Minister of Public Works and inferentially of his subordinates. If they are proven Mr. McCreedy will have to retire from the House of Commons, in which he sat for 24 years, under circumstances of the utmost humiliation. He may not suffer alone, for if he is guilty of the offences alleged against him, officials of the Government hitherto held in high respect will also be degraded. There has been no graver task set before the Canadian Parliament during its existence. The painful incidents that marked the last session of the last Parliament are mild compared with what will follow should Mr. Tarte's assertions be established. He accuses Mr. McCreedy of having extorted from Larkin, Connolly & Co., a firm of Government contractors, the immense sum of $200,000, of having prostituted his position as a member of Parliament and a representative on the Quebec harbor commission to make personal gain, of having profited to the extent of $40,000 out of the parliamentary grant to the Baie de Chaleurs railroad, and of having represented himself as acting for the Minister of Public Works the better to carry out his evil purpose. Mr. Tarte also accuses the Minister of Public Works of having received sums of money from the firm of Larkin, Connolly & Co., who had contracts under his department. There are a number of side issues to the case. Mr. Tarte has, himself, been accused of being personally corrupt and has been pointed to as a blackmailer; it is certain that personal enmity has much to do with the origin of the charges, and that political partisanship has been invoked to prevent their investigation in the Quebec courts, where, if they had been proven false, severe punishment would have fallen on the heads of the instigator. It is to be borne in mind always, too, that Sir Hector Langevin and Mr. McCreedy have formally and emphatically asserted their innocence. Their record as public men is long, and has been held honorable. Put against Mr. Tarte's, their words would stand. To the House of Commons now, however, these are extraneous matters. It has before it, made on the authority of a member, the gravest charge that can be alleged against a public man. Its duty is to get at the truth without the slightest regard as to who may suffer, or consideration what the ultimate consequences may be.

A Healthy Sentiment.

The W. C. T. U. has a great missionary work to do in forming a healthy sentiment against alcohol among the classes which control the social and business life of the nation. A leading New York paper says: All who pray, all who teach, all who preach, and all who care for temperance, need to unite heart and voice and influence for a total abstinence revival which shall sweep through the palace as well as the cabin. If we are to suppress the saloon at the bottom we need to smash the champagne bottle at the top—and not only that, but also to wage war against alcohol in the household, whether in cooking or in tonics, or disguised under any of its Protean shapes.—WOMAN'S JOURNAL.

Wine is the source of the greatest evils among communities. It causes diseases, quarrels, seditions, idleness, aversion to labor, and family disorders. It is a species of poison that causes madness. It does not make a man die, but it degrades him into a brute. Men may preserve their health and vigor without wine; with wine they run the risk of ruining their health and losing their morals.—FENELON.

It is the moral ruin which it works in the soul which gives it the denomination of giant wickedness. If all who are intemperate drunk to insensibility, and, on awakening, could arise from the debauch with intellect and heart uninjured, it would strip the crime of its most appalling evils.—DR LYMAN BEECHER.

Wine bringeth forth three grapes: the first of pleasure, the second of drunkenness, the third of sorrow.

DOMINION CONVENTION.

Mrs. L. M. Stevens, President W. C. T. U. of Maine, and Mrs. J. K. Nichols, Commissioner for the World's and National W. C. T. Unions at World's Fair, have been appointed fraternal delegates from the National to the annual convention of the Dominion W. C. T. U., to be held in St. John from June 19th to the 23rd. Mrs. Nichols is highly recommended as a lecturer, and will give an address one evening during convention. Miss Phelps, Dominion lecturer, will also give an address, and Miss Willard will give two public addresses, besides assisting in the general work of convention. This will be the most notable convention of women ever held in the Maritime Provinces, and all white ribboners are looking forward to it with bright anticipation. The pastor and trustees of century church have most kindly placed their fine Sunday school rooms at the disposal of the W. C. T. U. for this convention, and given the use of their beautiful church for Miss Willard's address. The pastor and trustees of St. Andrew's Church have been equally generous, and Miss Willard will probably speak for St. Andrew's Church on the evening of the 19th. The W. C. T. U. of St. John have met with every encouragement from ladies not connected with the Union, who have kindly consented to entertain delegates and to aid in making our guests' visit to the city memorable in every way.

Canadian Pacific Railway.

The tenth annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway shareholders and directors took place on Wednesday last. The gross earnings for the year were $16,552,828.98, and the working expenses were $10,252,828.47. The net earnings were $6,299,999.51. Deducting the fixed charges accruing during the year ($4,246,618), the surplus was $2,053,381.91. From this, two supplementary dividends of one per cent. each were made, one on Aug. 17th, 1890, and Feb. 17th, 1891 ($1,500,000), leaving a surplus carried forward of $753,381.91. The surplus of the previous year was $1,903,350.32, making the total surplus carried forward, $2,656,732.23. The working expenses of the year amounted to 61.94 per cent. of the gross earnings, and the net earnings to 38.06 per cent., as compared with 60.04 and 39.96 per cent. respectively, in 1890. Sparring of the improvements, the report cites the replacement of 213 timber bridges of various kinds by permanent masonry, iron work, or solid embankments, and adds that a satisfactory agreement was reached with the Dominion Government in September last concerning the exchange of traffic at St. John, N. B., with the Intercolonial Railway—the Government line; and since that time there has been a marked improvement in the traffic of the company's line between Montreal and the Maritime Provinces.

Abusing the Voice.

As the voice is the most delicate of instruments and one with resents at once any abuse of its powers, be sure that you are not misusing it. Emma C. Thursey says in the Ladies' Home Journal. It is the easiest thing in the world to detect such misuse when it exists. After singing for twenty minutes, stop and see if there are any feelings of weariness or evidences of huskiness about the throat. If there are you are forcing your voice, and you will show your wisdom by not singing again until you have learned how to use it properly. Some people learn naturally how to use the voice, while with others it is a matter of necessity that they shall be taught. And as there is no surer way to lose a voice than to do anything in the future with your voice, cease singing until you can secure a good teacher. It will not hurt your voice to remain unused, though, of course, early training and constant practice are most desirable.

If, however, you find that you are using your voice properly and that your efforts are pleasing to your friends, sing as often and as much in your home and in your friend's parlors as you please, remembering always that it is better to sing half-a-dozen times a day for ten minutes at a time, than once for an hour. Never sing for a longer period than ten minutes, without resting. It is dangerous in the extreme to tire the voice, and this evil takes prompt and sure revenge by roughening its quality and spoiling its natural sweetness.

Discovery of Roman Remains

An important discovery of Roman remains has just been made in London. In laying down a new water main the workmen came upon the bases of three Doric columns, in an admirable state of preservation. These bases are in a straight line with the shattered pillars discovered in May, 1878, and correspond exactly with them in character and arrangement. The new discovery proves that the building of which these columns formed the facade, instead of presenting, as was thought, a six-columned portico of 70 feet in breadth to the street, must have showed a colonnade of at least 11 columns, that number being already accounted for, and extending to the length of 160 feet. It must have been a fabric of great size and magnificence occupying the north-western angle of the north-western quarter of the Roman city. It is to be regretted that the position of these last discovered columns being in a public thoroughfare, it is impossible to preserve them in situ.—London Times.

Russian Jews in Slavery.

The United States and England are watching with equal interest and anxiety the emigration and immigration of Russian Jews. A staff correspondent of the London Times goes so far as to assert that in London these people are actually held in slavery and bought and sold as slaves; that in the East End of London a market is held every Sunday, at which Russian Jews are disposed of to purchasers. "Of course," says the writer, "a man is not sold in a fashion clearly agreed upon; but these men, driven out of Russia and wandering from place to place without a home or resources, reach London knowing neither the town, nor the language, nor any living person. There they become the prey of a man who is an actual slave-dealer. He keeps and feeds them till the day of the sale, when they sign, in return for a certain sum given for them, a very long engagement as workmen or servants, according to their capacity, in consideration of a certain salary, feeding and lodging. Now, the sum given for them varies from £2 to £3. Their salary varies from 2s. to 3s. a week. Their feeding is horrible and so is their lodging. They suffer hunger, cold, heat, vermin, and work from early morning until late in the evening. They have agreed to pay back a certain sum if they break their engagement. They are deprived of relations, power, acquaintance, and protection. They remain slaves, working for nothing, day in and day out, for the profit of their master, other men of work, and especially English workmen."

If this is a true picture—and there is too much reason to believe it true—these poor Jews have cause to doubt the efficacy of Christianity to set the bondman free.
