

To Correspondents.

We must request that every communication may contain the real name and address of the person sending it, not for the purpose of publication, but as a guarantee of the writer's good faith.

The Editor begs it to be clearly understood that he cannot, under any circumstances, undertake to answer questions through the post. Nor will he return rejected contributions, whether poetic or otherwise. Questions requiring answers on Tuesday should not reach him later than Thursday of the previous week.

Funny.—Yes; by county court summons.
Heb.—Your claim would be against the person in charge of the horse.

A. D.—The marriage is quite legal. The omission of one of the Christian names in the license is of no consequence.

E. M.—James I. of England and VI. of Scotland. He was the son of Mary Queen of Scots.

Nickols.—1. Earl Beaconsfield has been married once.—2. She was created Viscountess, in her own right, 1868.

A Constant Reader.—The little sewing silk round them. They will die off.

Alax.—The widow takes one-third, and the four sons and two daughters take the remaining two thirds equally amongst them. The eldest son is not entitled to any more than the rest of his brothers and sisters.

Poor Clerk.—The cuckoo is a very widely diffused bird. It is found in India and Africa, and migrates northward in the summer, even to Lapland and Kamtschatka. It appears in Britain in April, and all except the young birds are believed to migrate southward again before the middle of August.

J. B.—The ultimatum of England and France was sent to St. Petersburg on the 27th February, 1854, and on the 11th March the Baltic fleet, under Sir G. Napier, sailed. War was not, however, actually declared by England and France, until 27th March.—The indemnity paid by France to Prussia after the conclusion of the Franco-Prussian war was £200,000,000, and the cession of parts of Alsace and Lorraine, including Strasbourg and Metz.

H. D.—The Royal arms of England in the reigns of William I., William II., and Henry I., consisted of two lions or leopards passant, the cognisance of William the Conqueror. Henry II. introduced a third lion, this being the Royal coat of arms down to the time of Edward the III. Edward the III. and his successors quartered the preceding with the fleurs de lys, the arms of France. Mary I. then quartered the preceding with the arms of her husband, Philip II. of Spain. When England and Scotland became united James I. and his successors combined the arms of England and France [first and fourth quarters], second, the lion rampant of Scotland, third, the harp of Ireland. He also introduced the unicorn as a supporter of the arms, in honour of Scotland, and the lion in honour of England. George the I., George II., and George III. introduced the arms of Brunswick. In 1801 the arms of France were omitted. In 1816 the arms were modified through Hanover being made a kingdom. In 1837 the arms of Hanover were omitted.

Facts and Scraps.

—Scurvey Treatment.—Lime Juice ad lib
The Unpopular Educator.—Experience.
—Coming Events.—The end of the world.
—A novelty which is sure to make a great hit. The fish torpedo.
—A Good Umpire.—The Right Hon. Lyon Playfair, M. P.
—The Weapon of the Peace Society.—The Ambulance.
—The Pope's Best Bow-yeer.—Sir George of the ilk.
—The man in Possession of the Suez Canal.
—Russia.—Lock, ahoy! Lock-keeper.—Lock it is! And we don't mean to let you, or anybody else, meddle with the key.

—The Worm will Turn.—Quite so; but the Italian organ-grinders are not aware of it, or assuredly they would impress him into their service.

The talent of success is simply do what you can well; and doing well whatever you do—without a thought of fame. Fame never comes because it is craved.

The death of distress.—Sportsmen.—I ro-vision seem very dear about here? Biddy Thru for yer' anner. Beef hasn't been so high since the cow jumped over the moon; and the poor have to kill themselves with work in order to live in this unfortunate country.

—Something like enthusiasm.—When Dr. Schliemen was a grocer's shopman, such was his Homeric enthusiasm, that he used to serve out his groceries over the counter by troy weight instead of avoirdupois.

—Men of the Time.—Pater [to his little son who has been out cricketing]—Well, my boy, did you have a good game? Boy, no; very shy. The other side brought an awful raw team into the field, and we were disappointed of four of our men.

—A Justice Flush of Money.—Going home the other night, Mr. Justice Flush debated whether he should give the cabman four shillings and sixpence [his legal fare] or five shillings, and deciding upon the latter, he called it finding a "Verdict for the Crown."

—In the scales.—"What" said Jones to Jenkins, looking up from a paper containing some political utterances and the prospects of Marshal McMahon, "what's an homme fini?" "Finny!" replied Jenkins, "finny! Jenkins, 'finny' why of course it means that he's in a 'fishy condition'."

—Too True.—A Chinese laundry is being erected in Holland Park, for which the advocates in our newspapers of "Chinese cheap labour" hope to secure a large business. It ought to be successful; for in the utterances of these worthy persons there is enough of the wish-e-washee to satisfy even the most ardent pro celestial.

The grounds are being tastefully laid out with walks and drives, the greater part being left finely wooded. Seabathing can be enjoyed with suitable privacy, on various parts of the beach near the Hotel, dressing rooms have been constructed for the purpose. A Ferry Steamer belonging to the Hotel, will ply frequently to and from Summerside, and will regularly meet all Steamers from Shediac and Charlottetown; and can be made available for picnics, fishing and shooting parties and pleasure excursions on the Bay. Horses, carriages, rowing and sail boats, always on hire. Families and parties can have contiguous suites of rooms, if required, by sending reasonable notice beforehand.
