

PAPERS BY THE ACADIA.

INDIA.

The following document, which has just appeared on a subject to which we refer in another place, will be read by every right-hearted and Christian man with shame, sorrow, and indignation.

"Political Department, Simla, Nov. 16. 1842. The Governor-General is pleased to direct the publication of the following letter, which, translated into the Hindee language, has been transmitted to the several princes and chiefs to whom it is addressed, and circulated generally throughout India.

"By order of the Right Honourable the Governor-General of India. T. H. MADDOCK, Secretary to the Government of India, with the Governor-General."

"FROM THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL TO ALL THE PRINCES AND CHIEFS, AND PEOPLE OF INDIA.

"My Brothers and my Friends.—Our victorious army bears the gates of the temple of Somnauth in triumph from Afghanistan, and the despoiled tomb of Sultan Mahmood looks upon the ruins of Ghuznee.

"The insult of 800 years is at last avenged. The gates of the temple of Somnauth, so long the memorial of your humiliation, are become the proudest record of your national glory; the proof of your superiority in arms over the nations beyond the Indus.

"To you, princes and chiefs of Sirhind, of Rajwarra, of Malwa, and Guzerat, I shall commit this glorious trophy of successful war.

"You will, yourselves, with all honour, transmit the gates of sandal-wood through your respective territories to the restored temple of Somnauth.

"The chiefs of Sirhind shall be informed at what time our victorious army will first deliver the gates of the temple into their guardianship, at the foot of the bridge of the Sutlej.

"My brothers and my friends,—I have ever relied with confidence upon your attachment to the British Government. You see how worthy it proves itself of your love, when, regarding your honour as its own, it exerts the power of its arms to restore to you the gates of the temple of Somnauth, so long the memorial of your subjection to the Afghans.

"For myself, identified with you in interest and in feeling, I regard with all your own enthusiasm the high achievements of that heroic army; reflecting alike immortal honour upon my native and upon my adopted country.

"To preserve and to improve the happy union of our two countries, necessary as it is to the welfare of both, is the constant object of my thoughts. Upon that union depends the security of every ally, as well as of every subject of the British Government, from the miseries whereby, in former times, India was afflicted; through that alone has our army now waved its triumphant standards over the ruins of Ghuznee, and planted them upon the Bala Hissar of Cabool.

"May that good Providence, which has hitherto so manifestly protected me, still extend to me its favour, that I may so use the power now entrusted to my hands as to advance your prosperity and secure your happiness, by placing the union of our two countries upon foundations which may render it eternal.

(Signed) "ELLENBOROUGH."

INDIAN POLICY.—The public journals have nobly performed their duty on the subject of our Indian policy and proceedings. All party interests have been merged in the one great subject—the stain on the British character in India by the atrocious cruelties of the British army in their march from Cabool, and the impious awarding of a triumph to Juggernaut by the restoration of the Temple of Somnauth, and the march of the sandal-wood gates from Ghuznee.....Juggernaut has been appeased and gratified, not only by the offering of the sandal-wood gates, but he snuffs from afar the blood of the slain. He whom that grim idol persecutes and enshrines will receive this homage with fiendish delight. What says an eye-witness of the horrible nature of the worship which this monster-deity claims from his votaries, and of the scenes exhibited on his days of high festival?—and let the reader bear in mind that this is the idol propitiated, and this the worship restored, by the exercise of the British power in India:—"The triumph of the first great murderer is nowhere more complete than in the immediate vicinity of the dark pagoda of Juggernaut. It is impossible to approach this region of the shadow of death without inhaling the abominable effluvia of putrefaction, which, like a pestilence, desolates the neighbouring shores. Innumerable human skeletons, bleaching in the burning air, proclaim the insatiable ravages of this Moloch of the East. So deadly is the superstition with which his myriads of votaries are infected, that on the great festivals every avenue to his temple, for several miles around, is crowded with voluntary victims, all of whom miserably perish—some by fatigue—others by ingenious devices of self-inflicted torture; their exclusive object is death, and if they can trail their charred and blackened bodies within the borders of a sanctuary, the walls of which they cannot hope to reach, they are happy.....But it is when the terrific pageant comes forth, a moving palace of enormous dimensions, supporting the enshrined image of this accursed deity, that superstition may be said to put in the sickle, and to reap the harvest of death. Dragged by the united strength of a thousand human bodies, priests, victims, bramins, and faqueers, its approach is the signal for every horrid species of immolation. Multitudes rush from time to time to prostrate themselves under its wheels, which crush them to atoms in a moment. Others cut themselves with knives, and dye the car and its line of progress with streams of blood; while their frantic relatives shout with delight at the heart-revolting spectacle. Mothers cast their infants into the track of the sanguinary procession, and then turn to watch the wild and wanton dance of the Always, clapping their hands and keeping time to the silver bells that tinkle round their slight ankles, while their little ones writhe in the agonies of death.".....From this diabolical idol worship the British Government derived, and we believe, still derives, no inconsiderable fund. We have given the above sketch, that this Christian country may know what they gain in character, when they are called upon to rejoice in the restoration of the Temple of Somnauth.—ATLAS.

MOUNT ETNA.—According to letters from Sicily, the eruptions of Mount Etna were prolonged beyond the period at which the most experienced persons expected them to cease. A letter from Palermo, dated the 12th of December, says, that on the 6th of the flow of the lava was ascertained to extend 10 miles. Great numbers of persons visited the mountain, notwithstanding the dangers to which they exposed themselves. The Catania steamboat arrived on the 10th with 25 passengers, provided with stores of food, and determined to ascend the mountain. However, they had not advanced far, when a dozen found themselves obliged to return, complaining of the terrible weather and cold. Several shocks and terrestrial commotions were felt at Aquila on the 5th of December. A Dusseldorf paper says, that some Germans, who were of the party that ascended the mountain, have disappeared. The steamer waited three days at Catania for their return, but nothing had been heard of them. Vesuvius continued tranquil.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS.—The total number of horned cattle in the United Kingdom, is estimated at 7,000,000, and the total number of sheep at 32,000,000. Valuing the first overhead at 10l., and the last at 25s., both together will give a total value of 110,000,000l.—Manchester Guardian.

At the meeting of the North Lambeth Bible Association, held recently, it was stated that the Bible was now circulating in 137 languages.

A gang of forgers of antique coins and medals have for some time past successfully carried on a very extensive trade with antiquaries in the country; emissaries occasionally visit the chief towns throughout the United Kingdom, where they seldom fail in disposing of some of these spurious wares.

THE FAMILY LIFE MEDICINES.

THE celebrated Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters, prepared and sold by Dr. Wm. B. Moffat, 375, Broadway, New York, may now be said to be the most respectfully established and extensively adopted family medicines in the United States. They have not only won the sanction and recommendation of all the candid and philanthropic portion of the medical profession, who have observed their invariable efficacy in general derangements of the stomach and bowels, and their astonishing effects in many varieties of acute and chronic disease, but what is far better, these medicines have recommended themselves, and fully and fairly achieved the distinguished and now certainly pre-eminent position which they now occupy in public and domestic estimation. They are proved by their works, and make no appeals to vulgar credulity. If the proprietor were disposed to make an invidious comparison between these self-established medicines and any others, he might confidently assert and challenge contradiction that there is no medicine known to the medical profession, or named in their books, concerning which so many clear, unquestionable and conclusive evidences of usefulness and remarkable cures are recorded as those which he can adduce concerning the Life Pills and Phœnix Bitters. If it be admitted that sufferers are the best judges as to whether a remedy has relieved them, and restored them to health and strength, then is the evidence in behalf of these medicines decisive and irresistible. Dr. Moffat is in possession of an immense accumulation of voluntary testimonials from respectable persons and families in all parts of the Union, far and near, who give their names and residence to the unsolicited statement that they have been completely and speedily cured of the following diseases, and of many others not here enumerated, by these Life Medicines alone, when other medicines had been long employed in vain, viz: Scrofula, in its most dreadfully advanced and destructive stages, when large portions of the flesh and bones of the face had been destroyed; Piles of five, ten, twenty, thirty and even thirty-five years standing; Rheumatism, both acute and chronic, of the most hopeless character; Turgescence of the Liver, and various other liver complaints; Bilious Cholera, and every conceivable variety of bilious affections; Marasmus Tabes, or Decline, and Marasmus Phthisic, or Consumption, in more advanced stages than any on record; Dyspepsia, in all its chronic and acute varieties, with its frightful train of distressing symptoms; Worms of all kinds, both in children and grown persons. Diarrhoea, both serous and bilious; Costiveness, both habitual and occasional; Fever and Ague, in its three principal varieties, and intermittent and remittent fevers, of all kinds; Hypochondria, in other extremely complicated nervous affections, with nervous debility in general; Salt Rheum, Running Scald, and eruptive diseases generally, including Eanthesis, Erysipelas or St. Anthony's fire, and sallow, unhealthy complexion; Palpitation of the heart, and Determination of blood to the head, settled pains in the organs, limbs, back, head and side; affections of the bladder, kidneys, spleen, throat, and pleura; jaundice, dropsy and gout; together with those general affections of the system which arise from complicated causes.

The certificates of these cures are in the proprietor's possession, and will readily be shown to all who desire to see them. A small selection from them have been published in Moffat's Medical Manual, of which a new and enlarged edition is preparing for the press. The reason why these medicines, which in ordinary family use operate merely as mild and effectual laxatives, cure so great a variety of formidable diseases, liver and the absorbent vessels of all impurities, they lay the foundation for the cure of all specific diseases, they are compounded of unique and unprecedented variety of choice and exquisite ingredients, some of which are almost unknown to the profession, which exert a specific action upon many complaints, without in the slightest degree affecting the general system, otherwise than as simple purifiers, when those complaints are not present. Both the Pills and the Bitters are mild and agreeable in their operations, causing neither prostrations nor nausea, and requiring neither confinement nor peculiar diet. Their effects are uniformly to both body and mind. They cannot be taken without benefit, and they should be procured both by individuals and heads of families, and constantly kept on hand not only as remedies but as preventatives of disease. They are prepared and sold wholesale and retail, by Dr. Wm. B. Moffat, 375 Broadway, N. Y., and also by the AGENTS—NEW YORK, May 30.

These valuable Medicines may also be had on application to Mr. George Parley, Seafort-street, Bedouque; Mr. George Wigginton, Crapaud; and Mr. Edward Henry Lot 18.
