There are rules a landlord can set within the Landlord Tenent Act but these must be outlined in the lease-rent agreement. If any rules violate the Act, then evidently the agreement is invalid. In the interpretation of this writer several violations are contained in the present agreement and an immediate apology is the only honorable action left for the administration. A new lease should be signed and a more responsible position taken. Would you believe one girl told me she was advised by the Resident Manager that because the old lease-rent agreement was signed the residences weren't covered by the Landlord and Tenent Act???

HOW TO VOTE: Introduction: Last year The Cadre ran an article picking choices for the spring elections. The purpose was eventually to show what a small amount of faith politicians have in voters. Virtually every candidate and all of last year's executives complained that the article would sway the election vote drastically.

I have more faith than that in university students. However, I'll still share my humble opinions on elections. First; what to look for in a candidate: knowledge and opinions of duties, specific position nominated for and organization (Student Union). Also, although not nearly as important, experience.

Next is; why bother to vote? Some people say that the Student Union has no say in any important decisions at UPEI. Maybe so, but this is a young university and a good council could definitely make constructive steps toward student involvement in decisions which ultimately affect students. This doesn't mean just improve conditions for students, but much more importantly improve the whole university community.

A good turnout of responsible voters next Wednesday will give council confidence that it is strongly supported by students.

Let's make our Student Council the official voice of a real Union.

GREETINGS FROM THE STUDENT UNION ADVERTISING COMMITTEE

We solicit your patronage for those firms who spend their money in an effort to reach you through CIMN and the CADRE... if a Charlottetown firm thinks enough of your business to try to reach you and pays their money with your newspaper and radio then we think you'll agree he deserves your first consideration when you are in the market for his products.

Thanks for the help

Straw Dogs (1971) *
The half-hour finale of the most gruesome type of violence has surrounded this film with controversy. An American mathematician, disturbed by the predominance of violence in American society, moves with his British wife to an isolated Cornish villiage. But after his taunting wife is assaulted, he discovers that beneath the peaceful surface lies a primitive savagery which destroys his hoped for idyllic life.
