NO LAUGHING MATTER

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Getting tickled is no laughing matter—at least when it's a daily occurrence and goes on for several hours, Judge Herman Sachjen agreed Saturday. He granted Mrs. Isabella Erickson, 53, a divorce from Ardel W. Erickson, 47, who allegedly hid the tickling in the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Funeral Yesterday In Murray Harbor

The funeral of the late William C. Graham, who passed away at the Kings County Hospital on Friday, at the age of 67 years, was held yesterday afternoon from the Murray Harbour North Presbyterian Church. The service was conducted by Rev. Carl Currie.

The hymns sung were "Abide With Me," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Shall We Gather at the River," and "The Lord's My Shepherd".

The pall-bearers were Wilbert Graham, Mark Jackson, Walter King, Carl Graham, Lloyd Reid, George G. Graham.

The late Mr. Graham was born in Gasperaux, the son of Mrs. Charles Graham and the late Charles Graham. Besides his mother and his wife, nee Eileen MacLure, he is survived by two children, Lulu of Toronto and Charles at home.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Mrs. Newell MacDonald, Allison, Alice, Mrs. Armas MacDonald, Allison; Margaret, Mrs. Preston MacLure, Montague, and Florence, Mrs. Frank Amadon, Massachusetts. A brother Borden at Gasperaux also survives.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a dress of navy blue crepe with red accessories, and wore a corsage of red carnations.

The bridesmaid, June Coles, of Oshawa, sister of the groom, wore a gown of blue nylon net over tulle with lace bolero. She wore a matching necklace and carried a nosegay of yellow chrysanthemums.

Three-Act Play Acted At Heatherdale

"Betty, The Girl O' My Heart" was presented by the Georgetown players in Heatherdale Hall on July 19, to a large and appreciative audience.

Rev. A. C. Fraser, Valleyfield, capably acted as chairman, and introduced the cast of characters: Marie, the maid, Mrs. Charles Fraser; Mrs. Jenkins, the Housekeeper; Mrs. Spurgeon Walker; Martin, the Butler; Mr. Spurgeon Walker; Mrs. Peter Graves; Mrs. George White; Elizabeth, Mrs. Nelson Hanson; Betsy, Janie Llewellyn; Jerry Carmichael, Charles Fraser; Mr. Peter Graves, (Rev.) W. A. Patterson.

The characters knew their lines well, and each act moved on quickly and smoothly.

Mrs. Jenkins and Martin have long been in the employ of the Graves household, enduring the haughty, socially-minded Mrs. Graves and her daughter Elizabeth, who finally by their extravagance cause the financial downfall of Mr. Graves.

Monday night was the ninth performance, the play having already been presented at Elmira, Georgetown, Morell, Pownal, Cardigan, Murray River, Murray Harbour and Bridgetown.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S RECTORY IN MONTAGUE YESTERDAY

St. Mary's Rectory, Montague, was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when Alice Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Collings, Montague, was united in marriage to Alton Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Younger of Charlottetown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. McCardie.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a floor length gown of nylon net over tulle with lace bolero. She wore a braided net shoulder-length veil with interlaced pearls, and fingertip lace mitts. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, and her only ornaments were a pearl necklace and matching earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried on her arm a white orlon topper.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a dress of navy blue crepe with red accessories, and wore a corsage of red carnations.

old high priest, Paglababa, was "inches thick" with congealed blood. Scrapings had been sent for analysis.

A description of the monastery was given for the first time in the reports.

They said the monastery outwardly resembled a fortress more than a place of worship.

Immediately behind a buttressed entrance were sentry posts. In the central courtyard was a practice ground where Sadhus tested their skill with sword, dagger and bow.

The monastery's main arsenal, housing a variety of deadly weapons, was located in a maze of underground tunnels, which also housed the living quarters of the Sadhus and their beautiful young captive girls, with connecting passages between them.

A "temple of love" where the Sadhus indulged in barbaric sex rites with the "love slaves" stood on the picturesque wooded grounds on the banks of the Mahanadi river.

The orgies were performed in the "belle" that the only way to be cleansed of human desires and attain piety was to satiate themselves with "sins of the flesh."
