Early Decision Is Expected On Universe Origin Theory

HALIFAX (CP) — British astronomer Sir Bernard Lovell said here that science is on the verge of deciding which of two conflicting theories about the origin of the universe is correct.

Instruments should be able to tell "within a few years" whether an explosion 10,000,000,000 years ago formed the universe from a small mass of cosmic material, or whether the universe has always been the same in form.

Dr. Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank radio telescope, said so far the telescope is unable to prove either theory.

Since 1957 the equipment has recorded and analyzed strong signals from 300 sources, about six per cent of them from beyond the limit of optical telescopes, he said.

INCREASED READINGS

If the total readings can be increased to 1,000 it may be clear whether the perimeter of the universe is receding, according to evolutionary thinking, or expanding, which would support the steady-state theory.

The results will be of great importance for theology and philosophy as well as science, he said. For centuries man has sought the origin and age of the universe.

Earlier in an interview, Dr. Lovell said the first man will land on the moon between 1965 and 1970. He could be either a Russian or an American, but it was likely the Russians would be the first to put a man into orbit around the moon and bring him back.

Dr. Lovell said the Russians have an advantage at the moment because of their ability to put heavy payloads into space. However, American technology was moving at such a pace the gap could soon close.

Dr. Lovell was speaking to a public meeting of the Nova Scotia Institute of Science.

LITTLE SANDS

Mrs. Mary Deans, Charlottetown spent a recent weekend as guest of Mr. Bruce Stewart and Miss Flora M. Stewart, RN, and Miss Sally Stewart. High Bank.

Mack MacLean and family, Cornwall, recently visited relatives in Little Sands and Murray River.

The first wild geese were seen here on March 28 when a flock of 14 were seen separating near the shore and part going in each direction in search of open water. Other Spring birds seen here were the black robin and the robin red breast. Red winged black bird and Juncos.

Carleton Hume reported watching an eagle flying overhead, near his store in Little Sands. Folks in Little Sands West also saw this big bird flying overhead. It is thought it is the one that has made its home in Flat River for many years.

Several men who are employed by the Northumberland Ferries, recently spent the weekend with their families in Little Sands. They are Messrs. Charlie Stewart, Lloyd Wheeler, Malcolm MacLean Sam Blue and Bruce MacPherson, all of Little Sands

Miss Dorothy Blue, Charlottetown, is spending the end of March weekend at her home in Little Sands.

Stanley MacMillan with the Canadian Army, is spending part of a 38 day leave with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacMillan, Wood Islands East.

Miss Addie MacCannell has arrived at her home in Wood Islands East, after spending the winter in different places.

Miss Bertha MacLean, who is employed at the airport at Summerside, spent a recent week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. MacLean, High Bank.

Mrs. George Livingstone, has recently returned to her home in High Bank, after spending some time as a patient in the Kings County Memorial Hospital, Montague.

Bruce Stewart and his two sisters, the Misses Flora M., RN. and Sally, High Bank, were recent visitors to Moncton.

Miss Dora and Miss Margaret MacNeill, have returned to the home in Little Sands April 5, after spending the winter in Charlottetown with relatives.

Ewen Hume accompanied Mr. Carleton Hume to Charlottetown on Friday, Ewen returned to his home in Little Sands about 2 weeks ago. He spent the winter in Charlottetown.

The latest word from Mrs. A. D. MacNeill states that she is improving steadily and it was expected she would leave the Hospital some day this week for a nursing home in Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. William White, left their home here early Sunday morning for Pictou, where he is employed with the Northumberland Ferries. C.O.

BRISTOL

Mrs. Catherine Connolly, celebrated her 80th birthday last week at her home in the village, where she resides with her son Bill. Still in good health, she is able to recall the days of the wooden plough and the reaping hook.

Gerald Barry, who was taken to the Charlottetown Hospital after a sudden illness last week, has returned home.

Skating and hockey are over for the season at the rink in Mowell, but with the building completed, plans for the fall will be arranged for an early start.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coffin were business visitors to Charlottetown on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb McDermid and Mrs. Joseph MacInnis have returned from a vacation in Boston, Mass., where they were the guests of Mrs. McDermid's sisters.

With the fishing season only two weeks away, the shores here have become a hive of activity, and in many shanties, fishermen are working into the night to be ready if the season gets started in time. Vincent MacGrath, 98, may not be fishing this spring as he has for the past 77 years, but will be around the shore.

Opening lead — Jack of diamonds.

This hand was played in the Life Masters Individual championship in 1958. In an individual event, a participant takes turns playing as partner with the other players, while in other types of events, a participant plays steadily with a partner of his own selection.

The winner in 1958 was Sylvia Stein of Detroit. This card helped her to win her first national championship.

Mrs. Stein was East, defending against three hearts. She won the diamond lead with the ace and returned the nine. The nine play was a signal to her partner, in case he ruffed, that she wanted him to return the higher-ranking of the two side suits (spades and clubs).

It was a use of the suit-direction convention, which is so valuable when a ruff takes place. Thus, if Mrs. Stein had held the king of clubs instead of the ace of spades, she would have returned her lowest diamond, the three, to show that she wanted the lower suit, clubs, returned.

Declarer played low on the nine of diamonds and West ruffed. Obeying orders, West returned the queen of spades. Declarer was shrewd enough to play low from dummy, but it did him no good.

Mrs. Stein overtook the queen with the ace and led the queen of diamonds for West to ruff. If she had permitted the queen of spades to win, South would have gained a trick.

West ruffed the king of diamonds and returned the jack of spades. Declarer eventually used the king of spades for a discard, but still had to lose two club tricks and went down two —200 points.

The extra trick that Mrs. Stein gained was an important one. Overtaking the queen made her plus 200 instead of 100, and permitted her to outscore other East-Wests who played at a part score in diamonds, usually making four for a score of 130 points.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
