BIG UPEI THEATRE SOCIETY CONTEST

Hello. I'm the guy who's supposed to do the poster for this semester's performance of Allen Stratton's play "Papers". Only thing is, I don't do posters. Well, not the type the Producer wants. I'm into Russo and Kierkegaard, at four in the morning, not Renoir. I'm no Picasso, Dad, but I done my share of study, at the Samuel Holland Institute of Technology, studying Parisian Art, and I know which end of the paint brush is up. Are you hep to what I'm saying. I'm saying I spent the advance money and I need a drawing, fast. So, that's where you come in. You, the reader. The Producer won't mind if I have a friend do the drawing AND I am willing to bestowe compensation to any one of my Artistic Brethren out there who's willing to help me out. Yeah, and so it's a contest. It ends Wednesday of next week with the winner to be announced in the following week's Gem. The Producer wants three silhouettes in the picture. From right to left he wants a YOUNG GIRL in pig tails looking up at a slightly TALLER MAN who is looking back at her. To the left of this guy is ANOTHER WOMAN. She has her back to him, arms crossed like. She's looking further left. The play is a farce about a love triangle, and the poster is supposed to depict that. Like I was saying, I'm not into Renoir, but I got paid. Why not you?
