

Punctuation.

Read the following illustrations of the importance of punctuation...

1. "Every lady in this land Hath twenty nails upon each hand; Five and twenty on hands and feet, And this is true without deceit."

2. A barber's sign, as understood by the customer:—"What do you think? I'll shave you for nothing, And give you some drink."

Here is something to please the spelling reformer:—"If an S and an I and an O and a U, with an X at the end, spell 'SIX,' And an E and a Y and an A and a spell 'I,' pray 'What is a speller to do?'"

There's nothing much left for a speller to do but to go and commit Stourkeye's sighd.

Does Alcohol Warm Us.

A patient was arguing with his doctor the necessity of his taking a stimulant. He urged that he was weak and needed it. Said he: "But, doctor, I must have some kind of a stimulant. I am cold, and it warms me."

"Precisely," came the Doctor's crusty answer. "See here, this stick is cold, taking up a stick of wood from the box beside the hearth and tossing it into the fire, 'now it is warm; but is the stick benefited?"

The sick man watched the wood first send out little puffs of smoke, and then burst into flame, and replied: "Of course not; it is burning itself!"

"And so are you when you warm yourself with alcohol; you are literally burning up the delicate tissues of your stomach and brain."

Oh! yes, alcohol will warm you up but what finds the fuel? When you take food, that is fuel, and as it burns out you keep warm. But when you take alcohol to warm you, you are like a man who sets his house on fire and warms his fingers by it as it burns.

An Expert Swimmer.

A good story used to be related of Andrew Murray who was an expert swimmer, and liked a joke. He lived at the time down by the burying ground, near the shore in Pietou. He and two lads went down to the Gulf to have a bathe, when Andrew remarked that he had business over on Prince Edward Island, and snugly securing his bundle of clothes, and armed with a bowie knife to kill the sharks, desiring his companions to meet him here in the morning, he bade them good-night, and struck out in the direction named, but when around the Point made a detour, and, charging those at home to make no revelations, was safely out of sight when the others returned with a sad story. He made sure to be at the shore by day-break, however, and as the lads came down to search for the body of their lost friend, Andrew was beating in for the shore apparently in an exhausted condition and had afterwards wonderful Island news for his amazed and credulous companions, who, it is said never took in the situation.

Another Club.

"Now is the time to send in a club," printed an editor. And the next day a man came in with a club. It was a hickory one, and the man wanted an "explanation." That was all. As he went out with one eye blackened, a slit in the left ear, an abraded nose, and his coat slit up the back, it is inferred that he got it.
