A Plattsville Lady Rescued by Dodd's Kidney Pills, from terrible Danger

Plattsville, Ont., Aug. 29—The Echo, published here, reports the remarkable cure of a well-known lady, Mrs. J. Barnett, who had for years suffered from Nervousness, Rheumatism, Back-ache, Sleeplessness, pains in the head and eyes and general weakness.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. To an Echo reporter, Mrs. Barnett said: "I had no appetite, I could not sleep, I was a physical wreck."

"I was treated by doctors, but their medicine gave me no relief. "I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and before I finished one box, I had improved noticeably. I have taken twelve boxes in all, and am now completely recovered. I ascribe my recovery to Dodd's Kidney Pills alone."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a positive cure—the only cure,—for Kidney Diseases of all forms. They have never failed.

ROSARY BEADS.

They Were In Use Among the Hindoos Before the Era of Buddha.

The prevailing idea in regard to a rosary is that it belongs solely to followers of the Catholic religion. But take away the cross that is hanging to the beads and we find that one must turn to the dim, mysterious east for the origin of the rosary, for it is among the temples of India, China and Japan that the first sign of the practice is to be found. Ancient pictures of the Hindoo gods depict them with chaplets of beads in their hands, and it is believed that this method of keeping count of their many prayers was in use among the Hindoos before the era of Buddha, or at least B. C. 500.

The use of the rosary seems especially suited to an eastern clime and to the repose of an oriental mind. The Buddhists are fond of using very smooth beads of glass, polished jade or coral, and it has been thought that the smooth, cool beads gliding through their fingers as they murmur the holy name for thousands of times help them to arrive at that state of holy abstraction from earthly things which is so much prized among the followers of Buddha.

The favorite Japanese rosaries are made of polished wood, crystal, onyx and chased silver, and the Japanese Buddhists repeat in endless devotion "Namu Amida Butzu" ("Save us, Buddha"), while their Chinese brothers have the blessed name "O-Mi-to-fu" forever on their lips. A rosary of very great size was recently brought from a temple in Kioto, Japan. The largest bead is about six inches in diameter, and the rosary entire is about 24 feet long. The huge beads are of dark brown polished wood. They are hollow and have each a figure of a god inside the little shrine, which can be seen through a lattice of brass work.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
