

THE WAR-TRAIL!

CHAPTER XXI.

A PRAIRIE REPAST.

In gazing out my eye was attracted by some objects. They were animals, but of what species I could not tell.

The objects I had noticed were full three miles off; they were in the direction of the lake, and of course on the other side of the barranca.

The sight of the prong-horns stimulated my hunger. My first thought was how to get near them.

The barranca lay between them and me, but I saw that if I could entice them to its brink, they would be within range of my rifle.

Once more staking down my horse, I tried every plan I could think of.

Remembering that my serape was of very brilliant colors, I bethought me of another plan which, when adroitly practised, rarely fails of success.

It was not long before I had the gratification of perceiving that my decoy was likely to prove attractive.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE. ILLUSTRATED.

"Always varied, always good, always improving."—CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, JR.

Harper's Magazine, the most popular illustrated periodical in the world, begins its sixty-fourth volume with the December Number. It represents what is best in American literature and art; and its marked success in England—where it has already a circulation larger than that of any English magazine of the same class—has brought into its service the most eminent writers and artists of Great Britain. The forthcoming volumes for 1882 will in every respect surpass their predecessors.
