

Language of the Eye.

The eye tells as much to the one who knows how to read it as the whole of the face. To one who has paid attention to its alphabet, the "language of the eye" is full of revelations. Every one should study the grammar thereof; for often when anything else deceives, the eye tells the truth. "When the eyes say one thing and the tongue another," says Emerson, "the practical man relies on the language of the first." How many inclinations that are dissembled by the lips are confessed by the eyes! How often a hecetering attitude or a mouth full of threatening words is betrayed by a quailing eye! That restless eye betrays the proud boast of the tongue. That aggressive, ferocious eye is a flag of warning, before which the turtle-dove voice should not lull us into security. "Each man carries in his eye an exact indication of his rank in the immense scale of men." He may try to dissemble his rank, but before one who is learned in the "language" it is in vain to attempt to carry on the deception long. There are some who have a wonderful power of veiling the expression of the eye, but they cannot always be on their guard; the hidden lights and smouldering flames will flash out at times, revealing the secret of the citadel, whether there be strength or weakness within, genius or imbecility. The reason why this man is obeyed and that one is not, is because the one has the eye that commands obedience and the other has not. It is not the eye itself, of course, that does this, but the power behind it—the trained will, the sense of power, the intrepid mind, which gleam through the eye, and in rare instances can charm down insanity in man or ferocity in beast.—Phrenological Magazine.

GOOD HABITS.—Habits of temperance, economy, truthfulness, honesty, generosity, once thoroughly engrafted upon the life of an individual, will accomplish for him what years of seeking and effort without them would fail to produce. They will open wide for him the gates of success, of honor, of respect, of affection, through which so many seek in vain to enter. Working spontaneously and almost unconsciously as they will after constant and intelligent culture, they release the power that produced them for still higher efforts; they form a foundation on which to build, without fear of overthrow all the finest traits of excellence; they prepare the way for progressive virtue and for beauty of goodness which is so rare, but so admirable.

1882. THE EXAMINER. 1882.

New is the time to Renew Subscriptions and Subscribe.

ONE of the most prominent questions to be agitated is that of improved communication with the Mainland during winter and summer. THE EXAMINER will, in 1882 as in 1881, be actively employed in the discussion of this question. At the suggestion of the Hon. S. Prowse—who seems to have a high opinion of the influence of THE EXAMINER—and who has taken a leading part in the measures which have been adopted by the Local Legislature and Government—we shall keep before the public eye the following extract from the

TERMS OF UNION.
SECTION 7.—That the Dominion Government shall assume and defray all the charges for the following services, viz:
SECTION 8.—Efficient steam service for the conveyance of mails and passengers to be established and maintained between the Island and the mainland of the Dominion, winter and summer, thus placing the Island in continuous communication with the Inter-colonial Railway, and the Railway system of the Dominion.

As heretofore, THE EXAMINER will, in 1882, advocate the introduction of improvements calculated to advance the interests of Prince Edward Island, in particular, and the great Dominion of which we form a part, in general.

THE EXAMINER is in favor of cutting down the Local Legislature, consolidating the Local Civil Service on a sound business basis, maintaining a system of rigid economy in the administration of local affairs, and applying the money thus saved to the advancement of the Agricultural and Industrial interests of the Province.

THE EXAMINER's policy shall be, as it has been, first National and then Political; first for the Island, next for Canada, and then for the Party by which both are governed.

Articles on Practical Agriculture will form a prominent feature of THE EXAMINER during 1882; and our columns will, as heretofore, be well filled with news and interesting miscellany.

Now, therefore, is the time to subscribe.
