BRAGH & MILLER, - - Proprietors.

Designed to Educate Young Men for Business.

OUR SYSTEM is conducted on Actual Business and Scientific Principles, and embraces all subjects necessary for a thorough COMMERCIAL Education. Our facilities for teaching these are the most complete that have ever been devised. Theory and practice are combined, and the whole course rendered so interesting and practical that the duller student cannot fail to be largely benefited. The course of Study is short, practical, useful and reasonable; it is just what every MAN needs, and will use, no matter what his calling or profession is to be.

The youth commencing a business life with only industry and integrity as his capital, the clerk engaged during business hours, but desirous by evening study to repair the defects in his education, each have the advantage offered by our sessions occupying DAY AND EVENING. Morning Session, 9.30 to 12, and 2 to 4 p. m. Evening Session, 7.30 to 9.30.

Diplomas granted to such as pass satisfactory examinations. Students may enter at any time. No entrance examination required.
Business men and others are cordially invited to call and examine our system.

Teach your sons what they will practice when they become men.

Steam Communication with the Magdalen Islands.

TENDERS addressed to the Postmaster.
General will be received at Ottawa until noon on WEDNESDAY, the 5th of APRIL NEXT, for the conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails by steamer once a week, during the season of Navigation between Picton, N. S., and the Magdalen Islands and Gaspe, under a contract for four years, commencing with the opening of navigation in 1882.

The steamer to leave Picton on such regular day in each week as the Postmaster General may appoint, and proceed to Amherst and Cape de Meule, Magdalen Islands, and returning one day at the Islands for exchange of Mails, to return to Picton, calling both ways and exchanging Mails at Georgetown and Souris, Prince Edward Island. On every fourth trip the steamer is to proceed from the Magdalen Islands to Gaspe and back before returning to Picton, calling for exchange of Mails at Gaspe Basin, and at Percé weather permitting. The Postmaster General will require a first-class sea-going steamer for this service, and the tender must give a full description of the steamer offered—specifying name, tonnage, speed and accommodation for passengers and freight, also the price asked for each round weekly trip between Picton and the Magdalen Islands, and for each monthly round trip between the Islands and Gaspe.

A Grit Appeal to the Nation.

(Adapted from N. Y. Tribune.)

"The lines of demarcation between the political creeds of the two great parties are broad and distinct. It is true that in the eyes of all who rightly prize high moral qualities in their political leaders, the question at issue might quickly be settled on moral grounds."— Globe of Monday, March 20.

Give ear, good Canada, behold us kneeling Low at thy feet, with hearts clean purged from pride.
List to our prayer, our appetites revealing—
Let us inside!

Since direful '78 we've had no manna, Fainting from hunger we have nearly died.
Too long we've played the role of Doctor Tanna.—
Let us inside!

Too long our skies have sunless been and murky,
In vain our empty mouths have opened wide;
O, Lord of Lorne, we're leaner than Job's turkey.—
Let us inside!

What are our "principles"? O, do not ask us;
To solve that query we have vainly tried;
We're fairly famished, do not overtask us,—
Let us inside!

For our dear native land—may Heaven guide her—Reform and restoration we'd provide;
But such a job appeals the mere outsider.—
Let us inside!

Let Cartwright in—he loves his country madly.
"I cipher her," once ardently he cried;
"But the ne'er s'ighed for me," now moans he, sadly.—
Let him inside!

Here's Ross and Paterson and Charlton shivering
With wind on stomachs too severely tried, Here's Blake and Mills in expectation quivering.—
Let them inside!

Here's Anglin anxious for a job of printing Like that on which his 'prentice hand he tried;
Here's Albert Smith at a portfolio squinting.—
Let them inside!

For public pay persistently we're pining.
Some decent bill of fare for us provide;
On husks—crow—wind—we're dreadful sick of dining.—
Let us inside!
Let us inside!!
Inside!!!

No Dynamite this Time.

(How an Irishman Might Look at it.)

St. Patrick's Day passed in unexpected tranquility, but every precaution was taken.
The Post-office authorities cut open hundreds of pasteboard boxes sent from Ireland, Shamrocks for Irishmen in London, not dynamite were the sole contents.—Cable Despatches of 20th.

I.
What! pistols, an' sords, an' the bayonets all trainin',
An' every postma-ther wid scissors in hand!
To capture our poor little boxes containin' The bit o' green Shamrock, the pride o' the land!

II.
Ah! 'tisn't of death and of murder we're thinkin' (There's death and there's murder enough in the land;
'Tis a cup full of grief that in silence we're drinkin', Above the green message come thus to our hand.

III.
Put the sords in their scabbards, the guns in their cases,
Let us think o' the days when we dared o be gay—
Sure, peace may be hid 'mid the numberless graces
That deck the green Shamrock on Patrick's Day.

Eldon Notes.

The Rev. K. McLennan, being out on business in connection with the church, occupied the pulpit of St. John's church on Sunday last, and preached an excellent sermon to a full congregation.

The winter being so very stormy, the farmers are now making an extra effort to get a fair share of winter work done. It is pleasing to see the long concourses of mud sleighs driving to and from the mussel beds of Orwell Bay. We are informed that an average of 1000 loads is raised every day on one bed alone.

The monotony of the time was relieved here on Wednesday last by the report of a trot to take place at Orwell Bay ice that evening between Capt. M. Leod's "Dean" and Mr. McL. Smith's "Mymy." Every sporting man of the village, and others, rushed out to see the race. The first heat promised a good race, but the second and third heats were won easily by "Dean," who was reined up several times to keep the "Mymy" within distance.

The annual Club trot, on Orwell Bay, came off on Saturday. The day was fine and the ice clean; but unhappily the frosters did not come. After much delay and disappointment, a club of five was mustered. A load of hay, which happened to be on the ice, was made the starting "post." After much bluster and noise the "post" was reluctantly left, and three heats made. Mr. J. Murphy's "Flouce" second, and Mr. Wm. Smith's "Gray" third. In justice to the Committee it may be stated that a first-class trot did not come off, on account of one of the competitors not coming in time.

A WORD to the ladies! Do not exchange your old Sewing Machine for a new one; but fetch it to me and I will repair it and make it as good as new or no charge made.—WILLIAM BROWN, shop on corner of Prince and Grafton Streets, Charlottetown, P. E. I. nov 17 if wy

The Channel Tunnel.

The London correspondent of the Globe says:—

The decidedly hostile opinion of so great an authority as Sir Garnet Wolseley upon this subject, has aroused a good deal of comment both here and on the Continent; and as a kind of set-off, a leading journal publishes a letter from "one of the most distinguished Generals of the French Service," whose name is suppressed, but whose opinion, it is said, carries considerable weight. Sir Garnet believes that soldiers in plain clothes might, without exciting suspicion, cross to these shores by the proposed tunnel, take Dover garrison, throw up earthworks, and secure enough ground to enable reinforcements to come up from behind in sufficient numbers to overcome any attack of the English soldiery stationed at the mouth of the tunnel. The French general meets this with an objection that has already been brought forward on this side of the channel, to the effect that all this would require a large number of tools, and it would be an impossibility for soldiers in plain clothes to travel with picks, spades, shovels, muskets, and other requisite trenching implements without some suspicion being aroused and intimidation sent before they reached this end of the tunnel. This country (England), he says, has been as liable to invasion ever since the introduction of steam as it would be from the channel tunnel; and if the English people think the tunnel is likely to be the chief road through which an invading force will penetrate into England, they should think themselves lucky, for there would be then less chance of a surprise, as that point would be sure to be especially guarded.
Another great military genius like Napoleon I. would, perhaps, he continues, be tempted to invade England, but he would certainly not be so demented as to send the invading force through a tunnel into a veritable mouse-trap. The great difference of opinion which prevail, and the fact that there are two powerful rival schemes in the field, will, I fear, so delay the legislation necessary to proceed with the project that we shall not see operations commenced this year.

Tony Pastor owns and runs a first-class theatre on Broadway, New York City, and has gathered about him the best troop of variety artists that could be obtained anywhere. The company has just completed a brilliant engagement at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, and after the present tour they will reappear in Tony Pastor's own theatre in New York City.
Mr. Pastor is the originator of his peculiar school of character singing, and has made himself immensely popular, having realized by his talents a large fortune.

The writer of this article met Mr. Pastor recently at the Bingham House, in Philadelphia, and found him as genial in private as he is amusing before the public. During our conversation I inquired as to his physical health, and he replied that, notwithstanding the strain upon him in the discharge of his professional duties, it was excellent. He had occasionally severe pains, either the result of rheumatic attacks or colds, but any complaints of that character never troubled him long, as he had found out a remedy for all such annoying affections. I asked him what the remedy was, and he replied, "St. Jacobs Oil." I then learned from Mr. Pastor that he considered the Great Germans Remedy an excellent preparation for the cure or relief of rheumatism, and that it was about the only thing used among professional people for that distressing complaint. He took bottles of it with him whenever he went travelling, and would not be without it, and knew that it was very popular with a number of members of his own company. A conversation held subsequently with various members of the organization revealed the fact that St. Jacobs Oil had been performing most invaluable service for them in the way of curing them of rheumatism. Nearly every artist in the troupe used it, and was enthusiastic in its praise, and the writer was really forced to the conclusion that Tony Pastor was certainly in luck in having so valuable an article known and employed by his inimitably good company of performers, for it enabled every one to be always in his place, thus insuring comfort to the management and genuine satisfaction to the public.
Tony Pastor would certainly be in trouble without St. Jacobs Oil. At least, other managers whose artists have been temporarily un supplied, have noticed the difference between St. Jacobs Oil in Stock and St.
Jacobs Oil out of stock—among the members of their companies.—N. Y. Clipper.

The gravity of the Irish question is steadily increasing. The authorities are startled by the discovery that the recent murder in Dublin was another "execution" by the emissaries of the "secret tribunal." To add to the difficulties of governing Ireland the Irish members purpose going in a body to Ireland during Easter recess and challenging arrest. The Opposition are contributing their quota to the troubles of the Government by maturing a scheme of Irish land relief which, it is rumored, will be even more sweeping in its character than the League programme. At Rathdowney, County of Queen's, on Saturday last, a priest was prosecuted for using seditious language. Special precautions were taken to avoid a conflict with the authorities. On Friday night thirty men attacked the house of a farmer suspected of paying rent, and were fired on by ambushed policemen. One of the attacking party was mortally wounded.

Col. Davidson, presiding at a missionary meeting at Edinburgh, recently, said that in his long residence in India he had seen in small villages three, and sometimes four churches holding the same standards and having the same form of service, struggling together for a handful of worshippers who could have been well accommodated in one church. This he regarded as a sinful waste of men and money when viewed in connection with the waste of atheism.
