Last evening's well attended meeting of the Prince Street Home and School Association was held in the school's assembly hall.

Delicious refreshments served by the catering committee brought another successful meeting to a close.

conditions appeared to constitute a considerable hazard to the health of the people of the city and believed the problem was one which could only be solved by co-operation between the two.

It was pointed out that despite efforts to have the Government make clear-cut boundaries no action had been taken.

Another suggestion advanced was that the Provincial Government be asked to institute a survey of the area contiguous to Charlottetown to determine sources of water, pumping and storage facilities and the best ways of distributing it.

That fire prevention is one of the things uppermost in the minds of Spring Park residents was evident in the many opinions voiced on the need for an adequate water supply.

Several speakers expressed appreciation of the services of the Charlottetown Fire Department and their thanks to the men in it.

It was said that the main reason for the decisions reached as to future plans sprang from the continuing shortage of the present water supply which ranged to a high degree in some instances.

At the same time it was brought out that having one of the few remaining clear building areas in the vicinity of the City there was a possibility that if a new high school should be erected it might come to Spring Park.

The matter of the Provincial Government having the authority to function on a large number of people was also discussed.

However, most of the discussion centred around the possibility of the area becoming a part of this city. It was felt that after a plebiscite had been taken to determine the wishes of the residents acting leading to union might result if the Spring Park people received a guarantee that their taxes would go up only as the services required were extended to them.

First recorded English King was Ebert, King of Wessex and all England, who died in AD 829.

Enjoyable Concert At Prince Of Wales Hall

The Prince of Wales College concert last night featured three artists, the husband and wife team of Janis and Felicia Kalejs, violinist and pianist, and Theo MacDonald Dunn, in a thoroughly enjoyable concert which was attended by a large audience.

Janis Kalejs, violinist, was formerly associate professor of music at the State Conservatory of Music in Riga, Latvia, and studied with the eminent violinist Georg Kulenkampff. His wife, Felicia Kalejs, has also had a distinguished career as a pianist and accompanist. She too was formerly an associate professor at the Conservatory in Riga, and accompanist and operatic coach at the Riga National Opera.

At the time of the Communist invasion in 1944 they fled from Riga, and after the war performed in Germany until 1949 when they came to Canada to join the staff of the School of Music at Acadia University, where Mr. Kalejs is head of the violin department and conductor of the orchestra, and Mrs. Kalejs is instructress in piano.

In addition to their teaching, they have found time for recitals and broadcasts which have established their reputations as outstanding artists. They have just returned from a tour of Toronto, Hamilton, London and Ottawa, where they were most enthusiastically received.

Opening Numbers Last evening's program opened with a sonata for violin and piano (Vivaldi-Respighi) in four movements, Moderato and Fantasia, Allegro moderato, a short, pensive Largo, and a joyful, almost rollicking Vivace, of which the last two movements were especially enjoyed.

The Macdonald Dunn, soprano, received her training in Wolfville, Toronto and Winnipeg. She has done considerable work in radio and dramatics and has performed in concerts and recitals throughout the Maritimes where she is much in demand as a soloist.

Mrs. Dunn's first group was composed of two selections from Handel's Messiah, "How Beautiful Are the Feet", and "Come Unto Him", and "My Heart Ever Faithful", from the "Pings" Cantata by Bach. Mrs. Dunn has a fine soprano voice, and the perfection of her enunciation added greatly to the enjoyment by the audience of her songs.

Her accompanist last evening was Mrs. Kalejs. Mr. and Mrs. Kalejs appeared again on the first part of the program, performing a sonata for piano and violin, by Elzar, and receiving the wholehearted applause of the audience for their warm and sensitive interpretation of the three movements of this lovely composition.

A sonata for violin and piano by Pierre, in three movements, Allegretto, Allegretto tranquillo and Andante non troppo-Allegro un poco agitato, opened the second part of the program.

Traditional Songs Mrs. Dunn's second appearance featured a number of traditional songs for which her dramatic ability seemed to fit her particularly. The first was an Old English air, humorous and a little touching, "When Love Is Kind". This was followed by Roger Quilter's arrangement of the familiar "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes", and two old Scottish airs, "Twas In A Mile O' Edinburgh Town", and the sorrowful "The Land of the Leal". Mrs. Dunn gives every note full value and her charming presentation of these folk songs was one of the highlights of the program. As an encore, she sang "The Kerry Dance".

Mr. Kalejs' final group of numbers was also composed of folk songs, Rumanian Folk Dances by Bartok, and warm applause from the audience brought the solist back for two encores. Variations by Kreisler on a theme of Chopin, and Kreisler's Serenade Esplanade.

These three artists all make their home in the Maritimes, and it is to be hoped that all will appear here again in the not too far distant future.
