JOHN INGS, Esq., and Mrs. Ings returned from the Rocky Mountains last evening, having spent the summer with their sons, who are the prosperous owners of large ranches near Calgary. Mr. Ings describes the comforts and luxuries afforded passengers by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company as unsurpassed in America. He was greatly interested in the methods adopted by the ranchers, and had an opportunity of studying the form as well as the manners of the noble red man of the prairie.

THE funeral of Mr. John P. McCarron, printer, took place from his mother's residence, King Street, this forenoon, and was largely attended. Mr. McCarron was for many years an employe of THE EXAMINER, where he earned the goodwill and esteem of both employers and fellow-employes. For several years past he has been ailing, but his illness was not so severe as to incapacitate him for work, and it was not until February last that he was obliged to succumb to the inevitable and retire from active service. Since then, although able to move about, he has been rapidly sinking, and a week or two ago was obliged to take to his bed, where he remained until death relieved him. We sympathize with his mother and relatives in their sad bereavement.

"DAVIES PIPES—Stockton and others speak."—Patriot, 9th Sept.
A constant reader of the Patriot, residing not a hundred miles from Souris, was "struck" by this heading over a report of one of the Grit meetings held in New Brunswick, and straightway began the following reflections:

"You are quite right, David. Every Laird should have a pipe, and why should not the desponding Grits? Nothing like aiming high, David; 'tis not every Laird who has an M.P. for his pipe. But Blake does not like the bagpipes, they say, and may not be pleased—however, it can't be helped now. 'Tis done. Your fiat has gone forth, and poor Davie must be dubbed your piper for all time to come. There never was an old stocking without a foot to fill it. This beats the old nursery story of the 'Red Stockings.' But just for a moment, David, forget care and all Grit grievances, and imagine the 'Great Advocate of our Fishery Claims' sitting under a upas tree playing 'Johnny Cope' for the Monotonian Grits. The poor tight little island paid the piper for Louis's exertion on her behalf at the Fishery Award Court. But who pays the piper for his Monotonian escapade? No one yet knows. The 'piper,' I suppose, Mackenzie will not contribute one barbeque, and Blake will not care a 'tranceon.' No doubt you intended well by your protegee, L. H. Davies; so did the ape when he killed the fly on his master's forehead with a stone. You forgot to tell us that after the Monoton meeting, Davies, failing to arouse any enthusiasm on the part of his Grit audience, despairingly played, 'I have piped to you and you have not danced'; and at last, while the meeting listlessly filed out, piped, 'We'll na come back again!'"

SIR CHARLES TUPPER arrived at Ottawa on Saturday, looking remarkably well, and had a conference with the members of the Cabinet with reference to making the Colonial Exhibition permanent. On Sunday he was considerably better.—Chignecto Post.

A WRITER in the Toronto Globe on exhibition at the Toronto Exhibition: "Watching for the Fleec," by R. Harris, is an admirable composition. The women are well and characterfully depicted, and the dark purple water very much alive. "Adversity," also by Mr. Harris, is one of these pictures that one must look into to get the full meaning of, as is the case with most of his pictures. Examination reveals the pathetic lines about the mouth and the humid sadness in the eyes. Six yards away the maiden looks as if she were sentimentalizing over her last flirtation."

THE anniversary of the settlement of Pictou was celebrated in grand style on Wednesday last. The weather was fine, and the town, which was gay with bunting, filled with visitors. The sports of the Pictou Amateur Athletic Association were the centre of attraction. The grounds were thronged with visitors, who took great interest in the games, and the best of order prevailed. Among the contestants were Mr. Daniel J. McDonald, of the Post Office Department, Mr. F. Davies, and Mr. D. A. Stewart, of Brudenell. The one-hundred yards flat race was won by Mr. Daniel J. McDonald, who defeated amongst others Fred Scott, the well known St. John flyer—time, 10.2-5 sec. He also won the quarter mile race, in the good time of 55.2-5 sec. and took second place in running wide jump. Mr. D. A. Stewart was also successful—taking second prize for throwing the 16-pound hammer, and second prize for putting the shot. In the running hop-step-and-leap, Mr. Stewart and Mr. McDonald (Pictou) tied, and in jumping of McDonald was victorious. Stewart taking second money. In the bicycle race there were two contestants—Mr. Patillo, of Truro, and Mr. Fred Davies, of this city. The Truro representative won. The Island contestants arrived home last (Friday) evening.
