Angry Young Bishops Cause Brows To Lift

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP) — Whenever Bishop Mervyn Stockwood rises to address his fellow prelates of the Church of England they tend to take a tight grip on their chairs.

And much the same thing happens when his friend Bishop John Robinson of Woolwich heads towards the speaker's platform.

Many in the church hierarchy look on the two as being a bit too avant garde for their taste —a pair of "angry young bishops," as they have been referred to, in the press.

They frequently draw frowns or lifted eyebrows among their colleagues for their somewhat controversial writings and public pronouncements. Last year Bishop Robinson caused a furore with his outspoken book Honest to God, an argument for bringing some of the abstract theological teachings of the church down to modern, everyday terms.

At the recent church assembly the church prelates got the double-barrel treatment—a speech written by Bishop Stockwood, 51, and delivered, in his absence, by Bishop Robinson, 45.

OPPOSE WASTE

In it Bishop Stockwood sought to shoot down a proposed new schedule of fees for lawyers required to officiate at church ceremonies.

He emphasized that he was not against lawyers and court officials being paid — probably they were not getting enough— but many of the ceremonies themselves could be eliminated.

The enthronement of bishops was a "curious charade" and church officials were "victims of a paraphernalia which is archaic, wasteful and expensive."

The suggested fee for the elevation of a bishop was £205. Dr. Stockwood said he once ordained an American on behalf of an American bishop, witnessed the oaths himself, and all it cost was sixpence—for the postage stamp on a letter informing the bishop that he had carried out the ordination according to requirements.

Recalling his own confirmation, consecration and enthronement, Dr. Stockwood said there were a number of lawyers and court officials present and they had to be satisfied on three points: "That I really was Mervyn Stockwood; that I was born in wedlock; and that I was born a free man and not a serf."

PICTURE PROOF

Since bishops receive no letters of orders, the only evidence he had that he actually was a bishop were newspaper pictures, one taken with the late Pope John and the other with Billy Graham.

Much of the oath - taking, swearing and signing of documents was repetitious and unnecessary.

"Apparently what I gave (at his confirmation) was viewed with a measure of suspicion because at my consecration I repeated the oaths of allegiance and obedience. But even that was not the end because there was some swearing of a similar nature on the day of my enthronement."

But the bishop's plea was all for naught. Most of his colleagues were not amused and they rejected his attempt to have the schedule of fees returned for further consideration.

An official of the committee said it had been asked to consider fees only, not whether certain legal purposes were really necessary.

But then the Archbishop of York, Dr. Donald Coggan, brought some hope to Bishop Stockwood with the announcement that the subject of whether all these ceremonies and the legal services they involve are necessary would be referred for study as a separate issue.

Yanks Win Henley Heats

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia Wednesday captured the early point lead in the opening day of the 82nd annual Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

The double victory gave the club 10 points in the chase for the Maple Leaf Trophy, emblematic of the Henley Regatta points championship.

Hamilton Leanders and Undine Barge of Philadelphia, second with five points each.

CHAMPS WERE 4TH

St. Catharines Rowing Club, Henley champions for the last three years, was fourth with 3½ points while Toronto Argonauts followed with 2¼ and the Detroit Boat Club with two. Brockville, Ont., has 1½ points for seventh spot.

Hardegan was five lengths up on Claude Saunders of the Leanders Club in his 155-pound final. Bob Metzlinger of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology finished third.

Reichenback had three lengths on Al Casales of Philadelphia Undine in his 135-pound final. Third spot went to George Sandala of Toronto Argos.

Hardegan clocked seven minutes, 25 seconds for the 200-metre distance while Reichenback rowed it in seven minutes, 44.5 seconds.

In other action, Otto Pleitner of Mexico City's Club Antares swung home six lengths in front in the second heat of the junior singles.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

The United States team, having defeated Canada in he semifinals, and the Italian team, having defeated Great Britain, met in a 60 - board match in the final round of the Second World Bridge Olympiad. Italy won by 158 international match points to 112.

The U.S. team got off to a good start. After 13 boards they were leading Italy 42 to 11 and it began to look as though the famed Italian Blue Team might lose its strangehold on the world championship.

But seven boards later the Italians had taken the lead, 36 ter 20 hands. 92 to 82, but from back and were ahead again after 29 hands, 29 to 82, but, from then on, the Italian team scored steadily and eventually won by 46 IMPs.

The Italians were especially effecvive in the last 20 deals. Playing with machine-like precision, they were utterly invincible. No team in the world could have beaten them in this third of the match. They not only made no errors, but were uncannily accurate whenever a close decision had to be made.

Italy gained 13 IMPs on the accompanying hand. The American North-South pair, Jordan and Robinson, had reached six hearts and made seven on the bidding shown.

When Belladonna and Avarelli had the North-South cards, they reached a sound grand slam on the following bridge:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	6 NT	Pass
7 ♦

Some of the bids were strictly conventional, being based on the Roman Club system—which features many highly specialized gadgets to deal with potential slam hands. The grand slam was easily made by establishing an extra club trick in dummy and Italy gained 750 points on the deal.

Banks In Hiding So Remains Free

MONTREAL (CP) — Hal Banks stayed out of sight and out of jail Wednesday.

Once he comes into view, the former president of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.) will be taken to jail to start serving a 30-day term for contempt of court.

"I presume the bailiff is still looking for him," said a lawyer for the shipping company which brought about Banks' prosecution for contempt.

"Where Banks is, what his plans are, I don't know."

Bailiff Andrew Landriau was admitted Tuesday night on a search warrant to Banks' home in suburban Point Claire but the deposed union leader was not there.

HOME IS WATCHED

The Banks house remained under constant surveillance by the bailiff's men.

"If Mr. Banks come home, my men will immediately contact me," Mr. Landriau said.

The writ of arrest was issued at the request of lawyers for the Upper Lakes Shipping Limited, the firm that prosecuted Banks in a civil action for contempt of court.

It stated that Banks allowed SIU members to picket a ship belonging to Upper Lakes Shipping Company in disfance of a court order.

Banks spent four days in jail earlier this year on a five-year sentence for conspiracy in connection with the beating of a rival union leader in 1957.

He was released on bail pending a hearing of his appeal in September.
