the auspices of the Brae United Church Young People's Union. Getting away to a very late start, 9:10 p. m., the play was replete with laughter, fun and merriment, and there was never a dull moment. Each member of the cast was ideally suited to his or her role. Between the acts there were special songs by Bertram Phillips and Ken MacNevin which were encored. Lunches were sold by members of the Brae Y.P.U. who also entertained the cast at the close of their fine performance. Members of the cast were as follows: Prof. John B. Wise, the poor married man; Kenneth MacNevin, Dr. Matthew Graham, country physician; Lorne Burleigh, Jean Miller, Billy Blake, a college boy; James Burleigh, Jupiter Jackson, a black tramp; Bertram Phillips, Mrs. Iona Stord, a mother-in-law; Gwen Millar, Zole, her daughter; Daisy Phillips, Roselind Wilson, a college reporter; Ethel Burleigh. —AZ.

YOUTHFUL HEROES

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C.—(CP)—Ronnie Noullett, 5, saved the life of his playmate Gerald Dyck, 4, when the latter fell off a log at the edge of the north arm of the Fraser River. Ronnie was helped in the rescue by his six-year-old brother, Malcolm Noullett.

STURDY JALOPY

GUELPH, Ont.—(CP)—William Scanlon of nearby Rockwood likes driving to town in his 1924-model automobile. He thinks the newer cars haven't anything on the high-topped old model T and says the high-wheeled car is at its best in deep snow.
