Card of Thanks.—The St. Vincent de Paul Society desires to thank most sincerely the ladies and gentlemen who took part in their entertainment last evening and night. It such a splendid success, as well as all those who have taken part in their different entertainments since October last. Also the public for their attendance, and all who have in any way contributed to the success of these entertainments.

Emery's Birthday.—The 17th anniversary of the birth of Robert Emery will be celebrated by the A. O. H. of this city by a grand musical and literary entertainment in their hall, Macsachera's building, Queen Street, on Wednesday evening, the 6th March. A choice programme is being prepared, and as the number of tickets are limited, those who purpose attending should secure them at once from the members.

The McKay Woolen Co.—This firm's announcement in another column will be of interest to our readers. It will be seen that Messrs. Benj. and Frank Heartz and W. A. Weeks, have sold their interest in the business to W. D. McKay and Geo. A. Dixon, who will in future have full control. We wish these gentlemen success in their undertaking, and predict for them a liberal share of patronage. Both members of the firm are well-known and popular, and are practical business men. Besides their Woolen Mill is of advantage to the country, and this entitles them to the consideration of the buying public. The firm will have an important announcement to make in a day or two.

Concert at Crapaud.—A grand concert undertaken by the scholars of the Crapaud School was held in the hall at Crapaud on Monday evening, February 18th. It was well attended. The programme consisted of a quartette by the Misses and Messrs. Lee, a speech by Dr. Cooney, which was very good, a dialogue, "Hiring Servants," a dialogue, "Getting Even With City Sports," taken part in by Messrs. Beer, McDonald and Trowsdale, which was the best of the evening, and brought down the house, and a glowing address by Mr. McFadyen. After the programme the sale of baskets, provided by the ladies of Crapaud, took place, and realized good prices. The proceeds go towards repairing Crapaud school.

Lost Mariners.—On Feb. 10th, Gloucester, that home of those "who go down to the sea in ships," held memorial services in their churches for those lost during 1894. The total number reported is 123, of which the bodies of only 23 were recovered. Of Islanders we find these names in the lists: James Donovan, aged 31, and Simon Gillis, aged 55, of the schooner Flash, lost off the coast of Newfoundland last January; John Heaton, single, John Campbell, 50 years old, married, and one of the crew of the schooner Susan in April last. It would appear that our loss in men for the past year has been lighter than for a long time. What a pity our young men could not be persuaded to go into our great Northwest and make good homes for themselves instead of risking their lives and corrupting their morals in the Gloucester fleet.

Many persons in this city and its neighborhood will deeply regret the death of Mr. James Barke, which we announce to-day.

LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT.

The concert in St. Patrick's Hall last night was, without doubt, the best of the series of excellent entertainments given under the auspices of St. Vincent de Paul Society this winter. The hall was thronged, and everyone was delighted with the rendition of the various numbers. Then, too, the stage was artistically decorated, an innovation that was greatly appreciated. That prime favorite, Mrs. Byrne, sang "An I Remembered in Erin" with much taste and expression. She was rapturously enjoyed, and the audience had to be content with a bow in acknowledgment. Miss Annie Hyndman delighted all with a charming Irish ballad. The applause which followed did not subside until she twice responded with a bow and all hope of her favoring the audience with another solo had been abandoned. Miss Sinclair's reputation as a vocalist had preceded her, and as she came upon the stage she was greeted with a shout of "Annie!" Her "Waiting" (with violin obligato by Mr. Vinnicombe) was in every way excellent. An encore was demanded, and as nothing short of another solo would do, she was obliged to respond. Prof. Caven's "Waiting" (with violin obligato by Mr. Vinnicombe) was in every way excellent. An encore was demanded, and as nothing short of another solo would do, she was obliged to respond. Prof. Caven can sing it, and he responded to the encore with another solo equally well sung. Mr. Cornish rendered "Annie" in his best style, and sang "Tommy Atkins" for the encore so enthusiastically rendered. "The Lost Chord" was sung by Mr. Cloud Hill, with instrumental accompaniment (piano, bass and violin) by Miss Hill, Miss Macdonald, Mr. Sharp and Master Hill. Mr. Hill was in excellent voice, and the various instruments accompanying him were well played, making the number one of the most pleasing on the programme. Another number which ranked with the best was the instrumental quartette—piano, violin, viola and cello—played respectively by Mr. Blanchard, Miss Macdonald, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Fletcher. It was certainly a musical gem, and was greatly appreciated. Miss Coody handed the bow with much skill, and the violin solo played by her was greatly appreciated and enthusiastically encored. Misses Florrie Blake and Gertrude McEachen contribute recitations which were cleverly delivered and well received. Each recitation evidenced the possession of a decided histrionic talent which should be encouraged and still further developed. Mr. Ernest Peak reading from Mark Twain's "Innocent Abroad" was very pleasing feature, and was well given. Misses Callaghan and Carroll opened the concert with a piano duet; and solos on the same instrument were played by Miss Hill and Miss McMillan. These young ladies are all accomplished pianists, and it is, perhaps, needless to add that their performances last night were excellent. W. J. Whitlock's comic song convulsed the audience. Mr. Whitlock did not want to respond to the encore—but he had to. The accompanists during the evening were Mrs. Dixon, Miss Caven, Miss Palmer, Miss Hill, Miss Coody, Miss Byrne, Mr. Earle and Mr. Blanchard. The National Anthem concluded the programme. Prof. Caven, President of St. Vincent de Paul Society, presided. The stage decorations were by Miss Wyse, assisted by Messrs. James McIsaac and A. E. McEachen. The carpet and most of the furnishings were kindly loaned by the Patent & Co., to whom the committee desire to return their sincere thanks.

THE WESTERN EXHIBITION.

At a public meeting held in the Court House, Alberton, on the 20th inst, the report of the Exhibition Committee was received and adopted, and a resolution carried advising the continuance of the Western Exhibition, and urging the government to give it half the County grant. An Exhibition Association was also organized to receive the grant in question. After the Exhibition meeting, Mr. Dillon addressed the large assemblage on the dairying question. A resolution to build and operate a cheese and butter factory at Alberton was moved by Rev. Father Burke, seconded by Benj. Rogers, Esq. M. L. A., and was unanimously carried, and a committee to solicit stock struck. The meeting was large and enthusiastic. J. P. Brennan, Esq., presided. We understand that Campbell is also to have a factory. Well done Western Prince.

THE MAN FROM TUNISH. Dress goods may have intrinsic merit, and yet lack the possibility of perfect draping. Without perfect draping it is in vain that the goods be costly, or the modiste Parisian. The draping is the charm which gives grace to a woman. This is one particular in which Priestly's famous dress fabrics stand unrivalled. It is universally known that they wear better than other fabrics, but they drapes with a grace which endears them to the aesthetic sense of every fastidious woman. Ladies should remember the trade mark "The Varied Board" on which each piece of Priestly's dress goods is rolled.
