Forecast Sharp Cut In Salmon In Three Rivers In N. B.

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial fisheries experts Tuesday heard a forecast that stocks in three New Brunswick salmon streams will be cut by more than half by 1961.

Dr. C. J. Kerswill of the Fisheries Research Board told the federal-provincial Atlantic salmon co-ordinating committee the drop in salmon population will be the result of DDT spraying between 1952 and 1957 to control spruce budworm in New Brunswick forests.

He forecast the decline by 1961 on the Miramichi, Restigouche and St. John Rivers at more than 50 per cent of present stocks.

He said the public is not aware of the harm done to Atlantic salmon through DDT spraying.

The drop in the Restigouche and St. John Rivers would not be as constant as on the Miramichi because spraying in their areas has been stopped for a period. But it would compare with the decline forecast for the Miramichi.

Law Stops Boy Helping His Milkman Friend

LONDON (Reuters) — The widow of a former Labor cabinet minister fought back Monday night against a ruling making it an "offence" for her 11-year-old son to help a milkman on his rounds.

Mrs. Sheila McNeil, widow of a former secretary of state for Scotland, told the London County Council its attitude is "absurd, dictatorial and unintelligent."

The council's education officer had written Mrs. McNeil telling her it was against a child labor act for her son Craig to help the milkman.

Mrs. McNeil said she could not believe the law was framed to prevent a child from having fun delivering milk for a few hours. "Do you think he is being exploited in some way or do you feel I am failing in my duty as a mother in allowing him to do this?" she asked.

She said the law was meant to protect and assist parents—not to irritate and interfere with the way they brought up their children.

AT ST. ANDREWS POST

Dr. Kerswill is the scientist in charge of Atlantic salmon investigations at the biological station in St. Andrews, N.B.

Provincial fisheries experts from Quebec and the four Atlantic provinces are attending the committee's annual meeting, which will also plan research and management aimed at rehabilitating salmon stocks.

Wood Industry Must Advertise

MONTREAL (CP) — Mechanization to increase production will solve the average lumberman's main problems, Max Stephenson of Edmundston, N.B., said Tuesday.

Mr. Stephenson gave the manufacturers viewpoint in a panel discussion on marketing held Tuesday at the Canadian Lumbermen's

Association 50th annual convention here.

Mr. Stephenson said costs, selling price and profits run hand in hand. If production costs continue to rise and selling prices are low those lumbermen with little capital to survive will be forced out of business, he said.

Mechanization was a good way to cut costs.

He said the lumber industry spent too little money advertising the value of lumber and wood products. Substitutes for wood products continued to be advertised freely and to gain ground.
