Police Criticism For Civil Defence Role

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberals said Friday Prime Minister Diefenbaker should not be in the cabinet governing the country in an event of nuclear war and not his personal attack on a shelter at his residence.

John Pallett, parliamentary secretary to Mr. Diefenbaker, accused Miss LaMarsh of making a personal attack on the prime minister.

Miss LaMarsh denied the attack on the office of the prime minister for the proper governing of the country in a nuclear war.

of the country in a nuclear war. Mr. Diefenbaker said that in the last session of Parliament Canada he would remain in the fallout shelter at the prime minister's residence here with his wife.

ADD'S DETAILS
Adding more details Friday, he said that instead of the initial plan, which called for all cabinet ministers to be in one shelter, the present program is for them to be dispersed in "about half a dozen" shelters and around Ottawa. An effective communication system would link them.

Similarly, he said, policy regarding evacuation of public shelters would be changed. While it was first thought that evacuation from cities was the safest action in the event of a nuclear attack, residents now were being told to stay at home unless they have detailed arrangements at a point of destination.

Opposition Leader Pearson said that while equally in protection would call for a fantastic expenditure, there should be some collective protection for children. He also called for stockpiles of food and strategic materials and a national system of automatic warning.

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) said all Canadians should be given an equal chance of surviving any nuclear war. The government should embark on a program of nuclear war.

Walter Pitman (NDP—Peterborough) said it would be easy to ridicule civil defence but that it would be difficult to advance an alternative policy. He could not recall what had been done but the record showed that only 94 Canadians had taken out plans to construct fallout shelters.

Heavy Spending Drives Attanta Deeply Red

OTTAWA (CP)—A sharp rise in expenditures in February combined with lower revenues increased the government's budgetary deficit for the first 11 months of the current fiscal year to $33,900,000.

Finance Minister Fleming's monthly treasury statement issued Friday night showed the 11-month deficit was $15,500,000 greater than the $300,000 deficit for the 1961-62 fiscal year.

In his budget last June Mr. Fleming had forecast a deficit of $63,000,000 for 1961-62. Government expenditures tend to pile up towards the end of each fiscal year.

Expenditures in February rose to $22,800,000 from $60,200,000 in January. Budgetary revenues were $37,400,000, down from $42,500,000 in January.

Most of the decline in revenue in February was caused by a drop in personal income tax collections and in non-tax revenues from returns on investments.

LOWER LAST YEAR
The $33,900,000 deficit for the April-February period of the current year compares with a $29,100,000 deficit for the corresponding period in the previous fiscal year.

Budgetary revenues in the 11-month period rose to $5,200,000, or 10 per cent, over the same period a year earlier. But budgetary expenditures advanced more rapidly to $1,670,000, or 15.1 per cent.

U.S., Russia
Deadlocked
On Test Ban

GENEVA (CP)—The United States and the Soviet Union, deadlocked on terms for a nuclear test ban treaty, accused each other in the 17-nation disarmament conference Tuesday of pursuing policies designed to set off a new testing race.

U.S. State Secretary Clark suggested the Soviet Union may be blocking any chance for a new treaty of its own. The Russians denied the charge.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko said President Kennedy's plan to conduct atmospheric nuclear tests in April constituted an "aggressive act on the part of the United States."

Young Mother Dies In Fire

SYDNEY (CP)—Mrs. Earl Murphy, 19, died early Friday when fire destroyed a two-story apartment house.

Nine other persons, including Mrs. Murphy's husband and two children, were injured.

The fire, which levelled the building in less than 10 minutes, broke out while she was sleeping in bed. Cause of the fire was not known.

MEANWHILE, operations of the old age security fund—not part of budgetary accounts—had a deficit of $14,400,000 in February, which accumulated a total deficit of $15,600,000 for the February period. There was an accumulated surplus of $5,300,000 in the 11-month period last year.

The fund, financed by special tax levies, is used to pay old age pensions to all aged 70 and over. The deficit any February was caused by the recent increase in the pension to $65 from $55 a month.

MONTREAL (CP)—Fire swept an east-end shopping centre Friday, destroying 13 of the four-story buildings and 13 other structures. Damage estimates range from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Among the establishments razed was a branch of the Montreal office of the bank's fund which was operating in a vault which was supposed to be fireproof.

Weeks of Crisis

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine President Frondizi called for help Friday from army Gen. Pedro Aramburu in an effort to save his regime—caught in a squeeze between military leaders on one side and Peronist working masses on the other.

Aramburu, a retired infantry officer, served as caretaker president from the 1958 downfall of dictator Juan Peron. One of Frondizi's lieutenants said Frondizi wanted the popular general and elder statesman to serve as mediator in Argentina's worst crisis since the revolt that ousted Peron.
