Tenfold Growth in Production By P.E.I. Oyster Farmers Since 1933

RAPID EXPANSION OF "FARMING" UNDER POLICY APPLIED BY DOMINION FISHERIES DEPARTMENT—SHARP INCREASE IN OUTPUT SIGNIFICANT OF POSSIBILITIES FOR FUTURE.

Oyster "farmers" operating under the policy adopted by the Dominion Department of Fisheries for developing an "oyster farming" industry in Prince Edward Island sold more than ten times as many oysters last year as they marketed in 1933.

Those figures tell something of the success and expansion of the farming program which, of course, is to be distinguished from fishing operations on beds where there is a public fishery, but here are some other facts which add brief emphasis:

Areas were first offered for leasing in the autumn of 1931. In 1932 the number under cultivation was 26, and their approximate total size was 110 acres. Last year the leased areas being farmed numbered 140 and their combined size was approximately 601 acres, although not all of this acreage was in actual use.

In one sense, though not as regards the start of actual leasing and cultivation of areas, the beginning of the oyster farming program in Prince Edward Island goes back to 1928, when by agreement between the provincial and federal authorities the control of the beds and of areas suitable for oyster culture was transferred to the Dominion Fisheries Department.

Continuous Research

The farmers follow methods developed through the department's study and experimentation and advice is always available to them from Dr. Neeldler, who has his headquarters at an oyster research station established by the Biological Board of Canada at Ellerslie, P. E. I.

Experimental farming is carried on continuously by the department in the Bideford River, a tributary of Malpeque Bay, where areas have been set aside for this purpose and where the research station is located.

Of course, Prince Edward Island isn't the only oyster-producing district of Canada, although the output from its "farms" and public beds is bigger than the production of any of the other three provinces having oyster resources—New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and British Columbia. Together, however, the four provinces do not now produce sufficient oysters to take care of Canadian demand and there are sales opportunities within the Dominion for increased output. This is one of the facts which has been encouraging the extension of farming operations among the Prince Edward Island oyster people.

Among Hitler's Souvenirs

BERLIN, April 20—Chancellor Hitler's gifts on the 47th anniversary of his birth, piled high in the Chancellery today, included:

34,000 pairs of socks destined for the army. Twelve cradles destined for German babies born today. Several hundred pounds of food and dainties. A snapshot of a Nazi father and his five sons, all in storm troop uniforms. A painting from the Italian ambassador to Germany. A model of the battleship Deutschland. A portrait of Bismarck. A bust of Wagner.

Responsibilities Of Newspapers Emphasized

NEW YORK, April 20—Responsibilities of newspapers as guardians of good government were emphasized by two prominent journalists today at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press.

Henry L. Mencken, of the Baltimore Sun papers, declared the press constitutes the "only effective opposition" in this country, and Sir Willmot Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times, said:

"The newspapers of today are not in all lands free, but where they still have liberty and defend it—against enemies without and within—where they stand for discussion and agreement, setting themselves unbreakably against the regimentation of custom and obedience by goocstep, even the cynic may find a place for hope."
