THE DAILY EXAMINER

OCTOBER 1, 1897.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

(Montreal Gazette, Tuesday.)

There is no sign of any improvement in the cheese market, and so far as the bulk of the stock in the country is considered, it is a stand-off between buyers and sellers. Which party will make the first move only the future will decide. At present, with large stocks in view, the tone is unmistakably easy, and cheese can be bought on spot for less money than a week ago. This was proved by transactions in Ontario makes, chiefly Augusts at 9½c, which did not net the seller any money. At the wharf also this morning 3,000 Quebec makes sold at 9½c and 9¼c, the great bulk at the inside figure, so that as regards these cheese prices are ½c lower than they were last Monday. The public cable is unchanged at 45s, but private advices give reduced limits.

Finest Ontario cheese	9½ to 9¾
Finest Townships cheese	9½ to 100
Finest Quebec cheese	9½ to 9¾

Butter rules quiet, with a heavy tone. Factorymen, as a rule, are still holding their September creamery for full figures, but exporters will not give anything like the price asked. The most that a seller could realize today on a full line of goods would be 19½c, and they would have to be something fancy. There is quite a demand for western dairy at present, and shippers are buyers at 13½c to 14c. Liverpool cable quotes finest unchanged at 99s, with good, 60s.

Finest creamery	19 to 19½
Seconds	18 to 18½
Dairy butter	13½ to 14

Andrew Clement & Son, Manchester, September 17th, 1897, report: "Butter—account of the very low prices now ruling for Danish, Swedish and Irish butters, we have had a quiet time in Canadian and American holders, therefore, have been content to look on, as it would only have made matters worse had American and Canadian been cut to the same extent. In the course of the next ten days things will have come around again, and we will have another three weeks' good market. So long as we get the very finest quality at a price to enable retailers to cut up at 18p per pound, we will have a healthy demand. Unfortunately, a good deal of States butter falls short of this standard, and it is difficult to know how to place it at anything like its relative value. Choicest Danish average 110s, less four month's discount; choicest Irish creameries, 102s, do; ordinary finest sold at irregular prices; Canadian and States boxes are held for 96s to 98s Liverpool.
"Cheese—Quotations keep creeping up, and no one seems to understand the reason

Do You Use It?

It's the best thing for the hair under all circumstances. Just as no man by taking thought can add an inch to his stature, so no preparation can make hair. The utmost that can be done is to promote conditions favorable to growth. This is done by Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, cleanses the scalp, nourishes the soil in which the hair grows, and, just as a desert will blossom under rain, so bald heads grow hair, when the roots are nourished. But the roots must be there. If you wish your hair to retain its normal color, or if you wish to restore the lost tint of gray or faded hair use Ayer's Hair Vigor.

why trade is only of a moderate character, the labor disputes making buyers hold back. There may be a further advance, but it will certainly mean a dragging trade trace if there is. Finest white or colored 46s. A few of this week's landing are held for 47s."

BRITISH PRE-EMINENCE.

The average Britisher has come to the conclusion that he is the arbiter of the fate of Europe, and holds the balance of power. It must be confessed that the changed tone of the Continental politicians and newspaper writers from abuse to caress encourages this assumption. Even Prince Bismarck recently deprecated the constant badgering and baiting of Great Britain by German statesmen and writers. As matters stand, in the event of war, the side securing the assistance of Great Britain must win. In the meanwhile, it is evident from the tenor of the speech of Wolsley at Glasgow on Thursday last, when the freedom of that city was conferred upon him, and from the remarks made by the Parliamentary Secretary for the War Office, the Hon. W. St. J. Broderick, the same night, that the Government is preparing to introduce a scheme for a considerable increase in the strength of the army, which will probably call for the formation of a dozen additional battalions of infantry and a proportionate addition of cavalry and artillery, during the next session of Parliament. The warnings have not been sounded too soon. A telling instance of the military weakness of Great Britain was afforded at Aldershot on Thursday, when the 2nd Battalion of the Rifle Brigade left that camp for a tour of colonial service, including a sojourn at Vancouver. Though nominally a full battalion, there were only slightly more than 400 men, and the detachment will have to be reinforced from the 1st Battalion of the Rifle Brigade, which is now on its way.

Scrofula Cured

"When three months old my boy was troubled with scrofula. There were sore places on his hands and body as large as a man's hand, and sometimes the blood would run. We began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and it soon took effect. When he had taken three bottles he was cured." W. H. GARDNER, West Earl, Pennsylvania.

GASPEREAUX NOTES.

Potato digging is engaging the attention of the farmers in this section of the country. Our school is progressing favorably under the efficient management of Mr. Archie C. McMillan who is a careful and painstaking teacher. The almost total failure of the mackerel fishing here will be quite a loss to fishermen and others engaged in the business. Our genial and enterprising merchant, Mr. Henry Dunn, is doing a rushing business. He has lately completed a fine building to be used as a stable and coach house. Extensive repairs have been made in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. Mr. A. J. Donnelly, of this place, left last week for Montreal, where he will resume his studies at the McGill Medical College. Mr. Michael Mahar, Surgeon, has lately purchased a fine mare from Mr. William H. Prowse, Murray Harbor. Mr. Joseph McDonald, Panmure Island is busily engaged hauling lumber for a new dwelling house which he intends to erect in the near future.
Gaspereaux, Sept. 27th, 1897, R. K.

"My Own Notes."

I have made in a number of years of ardent collection quite a library of my own notes, and the fact that I have already lived two-thirds of my probable tether of life and am a "buccaneer" of the newspaper world by stress of circumstances sometimes gives me a pang. I recognize the ludicrousness of my collection for an impossible future of comfort and leisure, for even one possible posthumous work. I have never had leisure to produce one whole or complete piece of literature and probably never shall have a day's leisure in my life, but this irony of fate does not deter me. I am like a collector of specimens of butterflies. He will never learn to fly, or the secret of it, or anything in particular, but he goes on collecting. I shall never write the books of the sketch skeletons in my imagination, but I shall certainly continue to make endless preparations for a posthumous library of, according to my schemes and plots and themes, some 1,000 sturdy volumes. The world of readers may thank God perhaps that these books will not appear in print, but I am just mad enough to get some zest in life out of making, in imagination, these schemes for books that can never be written. Perhaps it is as sane an occupation as old china collecting, stamp collecting, button collecting and, to jump to the extreme of Philistinism, the collection of dubious old masters, mostly daubs. I confess this speculation seems to me to be a far wiser. Looking at it from my point of view, as a book lover, I think what a library these daubs would buy.—Lotus.

A Cure For Snake Poisoning.

It is very noteworthy that many nations, more and more, in civilization have for a long time protected themselves against poisoning from snake bites by a method which never until the present time, the twentieth century, has been discovered by European scientists. The races of Psyllor in Africa, Mosser in Italy and Guncer in India, ages ago possessed a means to insure themselves against poisoning from snake bites, and today there are people who are not harmed by snake poison, if we may believe the descriptions of the travelers. Such are the negroes on the Guinea coasts, the race of Elswor in Barbary, some fakirs and snake charmers in India, the inhabitants of Mozambique and some Kafirs in South Africa. The means used by all these peoples to secure immunity from snake venom consists in taking as a medicine the venom, either fresh or dried, from the venom glands of snakes. The majority eat the venom, but in Mozambique the same result is gained by inculcating with it. That these peoples really do make themselves proof against snake bites in this way seems to be sure beyond a doubt.

Although this method was made known long ago in Europe by travelers, nobody seemed to take any notice of it until the experiments of Pasteur and his school had demonstrated the possibility of utilizing it. Then scholars began to study the effects on animals of feeding snake venom and of inculcating with it and to convert into scientific capital the avowals of these fakirs.—Robert von Lenderfeld in Chau-tauquin.

French Sentiment.

The French parrot who slew his father and mother and was asked, upon condemnation, what he had to say and why sentence should not be pronounced upon him, entreated the court to have mercy upon a poor orphan. This tale is green with the moss of ages and may not be true, but something like it is true of a woman named Marie Celvet, recently sentenced by a Paris tribunal to 20 years' imprisonment at hard labor for the murder of her sister. While in court she constantly wore a long crape veil. "Why do you wear this veil?" asked one of the officials, to which she replied that she was in mourning for her sister, showing an affectionate sensibility, the earlier exhibition of which, however, would have been more becoming to her green than the garment.—New York Tribune.

Curious Coincidences.

A Vienna journal, the Neues Wiener Tagblatt, calls attention to the curious fact that when the Ring theater, in Vienna, was burned, with great loss of life, one of the other playhouses of the Austrian capital was playing Palleron's "Le Monde ou l'on S'Ennuie;" that when the Stadt theater, in Vienna, was burned another theater in the city was playing "Le Monde ou l'on S'Ennuie," and that on the evening of the day when the fire in the charity bazaar in Paris took place the Theatre Francais was announced to play "Le Monde ou l'on S'Ennuie."

Excused.

"You wish to be relieved from jury duty," said a judge quoted by The Green Bag, "but you haven't given a good reason." "It is to save money for the people," replied the unwilling talsman. "I have dyspepsia, judge, and I never agree with anybody. If I go on this jury, there will be a disagreement, and the county will have to go to the expense of a new trial." "Excused," said the judge.

Every woman should realize that her health is like a bank account. At the outset she has so much deposited to her credit in the bank of health. If she draws out more than she puts in she will soon overdraw her account. An over-drawn account in the bank of health means one of two things, a life of hopeless suffering or an early death. The woman who neglects her health in a womanly way is making big drafts on her account with the bank of health and will soon be a physical bankrupt. Disorders of this description wreck a woman's general health quicker than anything else in the world. They soon transform a healthy, happy, amiable woman into a weak, sickly, fretful and despondent invalid. They utterly unfit a woman for wifehood or motherhood. For all disorders of this nature Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in maternity, giving them health, strength, vigor and elasticity. It relieves pain, allays inflammation, checks debilitating drains, and quickly subdues all other symptoms. It at once stops the dragging pains and sinking spells, the nervousness, the digestive disturbances and other complications that arise from the same cause. Taken during the months of expectant maternity, it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It insures the new-comer's health and a plentiful supply of nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. An honest dealer will not suggest an inferior substitute for the sake of extra profit.

Broke the Spell.

Up to the time of Cleveland's election it was a popular superstition with politicians that no candidate whose name began with the letter C could be elected to the presidency. The idea arose from the fact that no man whose surname presented this peculiarity, no matter how strong he was with the people, had ever been successful at the polls. There were two Clintons, George and DeWitt, William H. Crawford, Henry Clay, Lewis Cass and a number of others, who, though their prospects seemed bright indeed, met with a defeat when it came to the test. Several of the C's, George Clinton and Henry Clay, for instance, were strong candidates several times, but never could "make the rifle."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Sections of a Kentucky Pedigree.

Bob Jolly of Cave City has a hand-saw purchased in 1796 in Virginia. It was bought in that year by the grandfather of the Otter brothers, the well known Louisville merchants, who are no spring chickens at this writing themselves. Mr. Otter, the grandfather, shortly after moved to Kentucky and brought the saw with him. Mr. Jolly has owned the saw for 43 years. The rear wheels of the wagon in which Mr. Otter made his trip to Kentucky from Virginia are still to be seen on the place of Mrs. Caleb Freeman in the Cave City country. These are about 100 years old.—Glasgow Times.
