Sheriff's Sale.

EDWARD JARVIS HODGSON, surviving Executor of the last will and testament of DANIEL HODGSON, Plaintiff, and
LAWRENCE WHELAN, Defendant.

BY virtue of a Writ of Statute Execution to me directed, issued out of Her Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature, at the suit of the said Edward Jarvis Hodgson, surviving Executor of the last will and testament of Daniel Hodgson, against the said Lawrence Whelan, I have taken and seized as the property of the above-named Defendant, Lawrence Whelan, the following property, to-wit: A certain tract of land, situate, lying and being on Lot 31, in Queen's County, in Prince Edward Island, bounded and described as follows, that is to say: Commencing at the north-east corner of the said Lot 227, on the west side of a road leading to Stanhope; thence west seventy-three chains, or until it meets the east boundary of the said Lot 227, or lately in possession of John Auld; thence north twenty chains; thence east seventy-two chains, or until it meets the north boundary of the said Lot 227, or lately in possession of John Auld; following the course thereof south twenty-three chains to the place of commencement, containing one hundred and forty-six acres of land, a little more or less, being the same as described in an Indenture of Lease made the 10th day of November, 1819, between Sir Graham G. Montgomery, of the one part, and the said Lawrence Whelan, of the other part.

Also—All that other tract, piece and parcel of land, situate, lying and being on Lot 31 aforesaid, bounded and described as follows, that is to say, having a front of ten chains on the east side of the Friston Road, and running back west by parallel lines, bounded on the south by Hugh Whelan, and on the west side by the said John Auld's farm and partly by vacant land, and on the west partly by John Lanerkin's farm and John Auld's farm, containing seventy-four (74) acres, a little more or less, being the same as in an Indenture of Lease, dated the 4th day of December, A. D. 1841, and made between Sir Graham G. Montgomery, of the one part, and John Ware, of the other part, the two tracts of land containing two hundred and twenty acres, a little more or less.

Also—All that other tract, piece and parcel of land, situate, lying and being on Lot 31 aforesaid,
bounded and described as follows, that is to say, by a line commencing on the west side of the Covehead Road, at a point ten chains south from the north boundary of a tract of one hundred and twenty-one and three-quarter acres of land, conveyed by the Commissioner of Public Lands to William Brown; it runs thence west fifty-eight chains and sixty links, or to a tract of seven and three-quarter acres assigned by said William Whelan to William Brown aforesaid; thence south three chains and twelve links; thence east to the road; thence north along the road to the place of commencement, containing eighty-two acres and one rood of land, a little more or less.

Also—All that other tract, piece and parcel of land, situate, lying and being on Lot 31 aforesaid,
bounded and described as follows, that is to say, by a line commencing on the east side of the Covehead Road, in the southern boundary of land conveyed by the Commissioner of Public Lands to William Woodbridge; it runs thence east fifty-four chains; thence south ten chains to land now or formerly in possession of Michael Lanerkin, thence west to the road; thence north along the same to the place of commencement, containing thirty-four acres of land, a little more or less.

Also—All that other tract, piece and parcel of land, situate, lying and being on Lot 31 aforesaid, being thirty acres of land, more or less, part of a block of eighty-five acres of land devised by John Auld, deceased, to his son, Edward Auld, bounded on the south by land now or lately in the possession of Richard Toombs, and on the west by land now or lately in the possession of the said Lawrence Whelan, and running east by parallel lines to the lands now or lately in possession of Edward Auld, a sufficient distance to include an area of thirty acres, as the survey and plan thereof are possessioned by the said Lawrence Whelan, in Queen's County.

And I do hereby give Public Notice that I will, on WEDNESDAY, the twelfth day of September, A. D. 1888, at twelve o'clock, noon, at the Court House in Charlottetown, in the said County, set up and sell by Public Auction, all the above-described properties, or as much thereof as will satisfy the levy marked on said Writ, being the sum of Three Hundred and Thirty Dollars and Eighteen Cents, with interest on Two Hundred and Fifty-nine Dollars and Fifty-five Cents, at seven and one-half per cent. from the eighth day of March, 1888, to the day of sale, besides sheriff's fees and all incidental expenses.

twelfth day of April, A. D. 1888, at twelve o'clock, noon, at the Court House in Charlottetown, under and by virtue of a Power of Sale contained in an Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the fourteenth day of March, A. D. 1884, and made between Alexander Lemon, of Montague Bridge, of the one part, and Archibald Kennedy, Francis Doherty and Eliza Dewar, of the other part:—

ALL that tract, piece or parcel of Land situate, lying and being at Montague, on Township number Fifty-two, in King's County, bounded as follows: Commencing at the north-east corner of Main Street, at the north-east angle of land in possession of Archibald McLaren, and running thence west along the said Main Street boundary line for a distance of one hundred and ten feet, or until it meets land in possession of John Aneur; thence north along said John Aneur's boundary line for a distance of fifty-five feet, or until it meets land in possession of John Daniel Bell; thence east for a distance of one hundred and ten feet to Main Street; thence south along said street for a distance of fifty-three feet to the place of commencement. Also—All that tract, piece or parcel of land situate at Montague Bridge aforesaid, and bounded as follows, that is to say: Commencing at the northeast angle of a plot of land in possession of Charles D. Poole, and running thence in a northwardly direction along the west side of the street leading from Main Street to the New Government Wharf for a distance of fifty feet; thence east along the westwardly one hundred feet; thence south parallel with the aforesaid street fifty feet, or until it meets the north boundary of land in possession of Charles D. Poole; thence east along said boundary to the place of commencement, containing one-eighth of an acre, a little more or less. Also—All that other tract, piece or parcel of land situate at Montague, Township Number Fifty-nine, and bounded as follows: Commencing on the south-western side of the road leading from the Ferry Road to Montague Bridge; in other words, the western boundary of the said road, and running east for a distance of one hundred and ten feet to the place of commencement; thence south three degrees east along said road to the north boundary of the said road; thence following said line westwardly ten chains; thence north three degrees west to the Ferry Road; thence east along the same to a continuation of the east boundary of three and three-quarter acres sold to Hugh McPherson, and in the possession of Charles D. Poole; thence northwardly along the same to the Montague River Road, and thence southeastwardly along the same to the place of commencement, containing eighty acres and one quarter, a little more or less, together with all houses, buildings, rights, members and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

CHAPTER XLII.

[CONCLUDED.]

About two years before Norna's death, Brenda was wedded to Mordaunt Mervan.
It was some time before old Magnus Troil, with all his affection for his daughter, and all his partiality for Mordaunt, was able frankly to reconcile himself to this match. But Mordaunt's accomplishments were peculiarly to the Udaller's taste, and the old man felt the impossibility of supplying his place in his family so absolutely that at length the Norse blood gave way to the natural feeling of the heart, and he comforted his pride while he looked around him, and saw what he considered as the encroachments of the Scottish gentry upon the country, (so Zeland is fondly termed by its inhabitants,) that as well his daughter married the son of an English noble, as of a Scottish thief, in scornful allusion to the Highland and Border families, to whom Zeland owes many respectable landholders; but whose ancestors were generally esteemed more renowned for ancient family and high courage than for accurately regarding the trifling distinctions of meum and tuum.

The jovial old man lived to the extremity of a human life, with the happy prospect of a numerous succession in the family of his younger daughter; and having his board cheered alternately by the ministrals of Claud Halors, and enlightened by the lucubrations of Mr. Triptolomus Yellowly, who, laying aside his high pretensions, was, when he became better acquainted with the manners of the islanders, and remembered the various misadventures which had attended his premature attempts at reformation, an honest and peaceful representative of his principal, and never so happy as when he could escape from the spare commons of his sister Barbara, to the genial table of the Udaller. Barbara's temper also was much softened by the unexpected restoration of the horn of silver coins, the property of Norna, which she had concealed in the mansion of old Stourburgh, achieving some of her mysterious land, but which she now restored to those by whom she has been accidentally discovered, with an imitation, however, that it would again disappear unless a reasonable portion was expended on the sustenance of the family, a precaution to which Tronda and daughter probably assented, as a means of escape from a slow and wasting death by intemperance.

Mordaunt and Brenda were as happy as our mortal condition permits us to be. They admired and loved each other—enjoyed each circumstance—had duties to discharge which they did not neglect; and clear in conscience as light of heart, laughed, sung, danced, duffed the world aside, and bid it pass.
But Minna—the high-minded and imaginative Minna—she, gifted with such depth of feeling and enthusiasm, yet doomed to see both blighted in early youth, because, with the inexperience of a disposition equally romantic and ignorant, she had built the fabric of her happiness on a quicksand instead of a rock,—was she, could she be happy? Reader, she was happy; for, whatever may be alleged to the contrary by the sceptic and the scoorner, to each duty performed, there is assigned a degree of mental peace and high consciousness of honorable exertion, corresponding to the difficulty of the task accomplished. The rest of the body which succeeds to hard and industrious toil, is not to be compared to the repose which the spirit enjoys under similar circumstances. Her resignation, however, and the constant attention which she paid to her father, her sister, the afflicted Norna, and to all who had claims on her, were neither Minna's sole nor her most precious source of comfort. Like Norna, but under a more regulated judgment, she learned to exchange the visions of wild enthusiasm which had exalted and misled her imagination, for a truer and purer connection with the world beyond us, than could be learned from the sagas of heathen bards, or the visions of later rhymer. To this she owed the support by which she was enabled, after various accounts of the honorable and gallant conduct of Cleveland, to read with resignation and even with a sense of comfort, mingled with sorrow, that he had at length fallen, leading the way in a gallant and honorable enterprise, which was successfully accomplished by those companions, to whom his determined bravery had opened the road. Hence, his fantastic follower in good, as formerly in evil, transmitted an account to Minna of this melancholy event, in terms which showed that though his head was weak, his heart had not been utterly corrupted by the lawless life which he had for some time led, or at least that he had been amended by the change; and that he himself had gained credit and promotion in the same action, seemed to be of little consequence to him, compared with the loss of his old captain and comrade. Minna read the intelligence, and thanked Heaven, even while the eyes which she lifted up were streaming with tears, that the death of Cleveland had been in the bed of honor; nay, she even had the courage to add to her gratitude, that he had been snatched from a situation of temptation ere circumstances had overcome his new-born virtue, and so strongly did this reflection operate, that her life, after the immediate pain of this event had passed away, seemed not only as resigned, but even more cheerful than before. Her thoughts, however, were detached from the world, and only visited it, with an interest like that which guardian spirits take for their charge, in behalf of those friends with whom she lived in love, or of the poor whom she could serve and comfort. Thus passed her life, enjoying, from all who approached her, an affection enhanced by reverence; inasmuch, that when her friends saw the period of her existence, they were comforted by the fond reflection, that the humanity which had placed her, in the words of Scripture, "a little lower than the angels!"

THE END.

TEA AT MONTAGUE.—Please bear in mind that on the 27th of June next the Tea of the season will be held at Montague, in aid of the Methodist Church, which it is expected will then be well on towards completion. Notices of special attractions to the Tea will appear in the papers in due time. 1m—mch15

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Our Oldest Organist.

SIR,—It is rumoured that Mr. Earle, organist of St. Paul's Church, has been frozen out of his situation by a few dumb proxies, or slips of paper handed round promiscuously, the names represented not being even read to the meeting.
Proxies may be tolerated when lawfully used, but they cannot be used with the ballot system as conducted in St. Paul's Schoolroom, on Easter Monday evening.

If we could have a full meeting of the members of St. Paul's Church, Mr. Earle would not have to make room for an untried stranger, who is to receive $100 more than Mr. Earle who has performed the duties of organist for the past twenty years to the satisfaction of the congregation.

Respectfully Yours,
LOW CHURCHMAN.

April 9th, 1888.

Carefully Corrected.

SIR,—I observe that the speech published in the Patriot as the one given by Mr.
Davies in the House of Commons, is quite different from the one which appears in the Dominion Herald. In one case Dr.
Bergin called on Mr. Davies to name the articles on which, as he said, a poor man pays $35 a year. But no attempt is made to show how the $35 a year was made up.
That is the way Herald puts it, and there is no doubt Herald is right, for the Hon.
Mr. Foster, speaking after Mr. Davies, took him to task for not naming the articles when he was challenged to do so; but instead of doing this he "let off" an extra edition of the fireworks he always keeps on hand, and took great care to aim no straight bullet at the mark which was put before him.

It would not do that Mr. Davies should appear before the electors of Queen's County discomfited by Mr. Bergin, and twitted by Mr. Foster with his discomfiture.
The report is therefore tampered with and Mr. Davies is made to come off as he always does when the story is told by himself, with flying colors.

It does not imply a great deal of respect for the electors of Queen's County, who read the Patriot, that Mr. Davies should treat them in this way. I understand that members are furnished with proofs of the speeches, and that reasonable corrections are allowed. Any tampering with the report afterwards is very reprehensible.
