

A Girl Charmer of Birds.

There lives near Harrisburg, Ohio—an out-of-the-way place in Hancock county, about three miles west of Mount Blanchard—a very remarkable child only five years old, who seems to have the power to charm the birds at will. Her mother first noticed this strange fascination that the child possesses about a year ago. The little girl was out playing in the deer yard among a bevy of snow-birds, and when she spoke to them they would come and light upon her, twittering with glee. On taking them in her hands and stroking them, the birds, instead of trying to get away from their fair captor, seemed to be highly pleased, and when loose would fly away a short distance and immediately return to the child again. She took several of them into the house to show her mother, who thinking she might hurt them, put them out of doors, but no sooner was the door opened than the birds flew into the room again, lit upon the girl's head, and began to chirp. The birds remained about the premises all winter, flying to the little girl whenever the door was opened. The parents of the child became alarmed, believing that this strange power was an ill omen, and that the much dreaded visitor, Death, was about to visit their home. But death did not come, and during the last summer the child has had many pet birds. The child handles the birds so gently that a hummingbird, once in her hand, does not fail to return. Last winter a bevy of birds kept her company, and she played with them for hours at a time. Every morning the birds fly to her window, and leave only when the sun sinks in the west. The parents of the little girl are poor, superstitious people, and have been reticent about the matter until lately, fearing that some terrible calamity was about to befall them.

A Half Cent's Worth of Bliss for Two

Rev. A. S. Leinbach, of Reading, received a note from Sinking Spring a few days ago, requesting him to be ready to marry a couple at his residence on a certain day. The clergyman was waiting on the day appointed, but the couple did not appear and he supposed they had changed their minds. The next day, however, while he was absent from home and the ladies of his household were busied with their domestic duties, the door-bell was rung and on the steps stood the couple from the country. The girl was quite young, but the man was considerably older. They said the rain had kept them at home on the day appointed, but they desired to be married at once. They were invited in, and Rev. Mr. Leinbach was searched for at the post-office and elsewhere without success. Another minister from the country, however, was met by the messenger, and requested to perform the ceremony. He went to Rev. Leinbach's house, two ladies of the family was called as witnesses, and the nuptial knot was tied. After receiving a handsome marriage certificate the couple took their leave, and at the moment of departure the groom put into the hand of the officiating clergyman something rolled up in white paper. They then departed in such haste as to excite surprise. The package was opened and roll after roll of paper was removed, until at last the marriage fee was found an old-fashioned copper half cent, of the date of 1832.—Reading (Pa.) Eagle.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."

—JOHN WEEKS, Butler, N. Y.

The American People.

No people in the world suffer so much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heart-burn, Water-brash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, etc., yet since the introduction of Green's August Flower we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. 50,000 dozen sold last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your Druggist and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular size 75 cents.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple pure remedies, Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.
