Homecraft Guild In New Quarters

The Homecraft Guild has opened a new shop on Great George Street, between Fitzroy and Euston Streets.

The movement is the work of a group of women, led by Mrs. T. B. Rogers, who saw the need and opportunity for such an organization in order that the many fine craftsmen on the island might have some profitable means of disposing of their work.

The shop sells hooked rugs, paintings, leather work, pottery, hand-made jewelry, all kinds of needlework and many other kinds of fine work, too numerous to mention all, made by Island men and women.

Home cooking is another line in which the Homecraft Shop deals - jams, jellies, conserves, sandwich fillings, cookies and candies are on sale there all the time, and on Fridays freshly baked breads and cakes are a specialty.

Another special service deals in typing and fine mending - a number of skilled typists and needlewomen are on call to do such jobs.

The shop first opened on Friday, February 23rd, in the Market Building. Thirty women had previously met, organized themselves into a Guild, elected officers, and contributed a one dollar fee to the fund which started the movement rolling.

The Guild carried on at the Market, working against formidable obstacles, and at the Women's Institute building at the Provincial Exhibition, until they felt justified in opening a small shop.

The shop is not large, but it almost seems to sparkle with its light walls and ceiling, and the many lovely and colorful displays of work attractively placed there.

The Guild charges a twenty per cent commission on all work sold in the shop to cover operating expenses, the contributor naming the price of the article.

By means of a highly efficient book keeping system which has been evolved by the Guild secretary, it is possible to keep a record of every article accepted or sold.

Those responsible for the instigation of the movement and those who have worked so hard to make it a success deserve a great deal of credit. They are performing a needed service, both for members of the Guild and others who contribute their work; and for the public which is thus enabled to examine and obtain examples of fine Island craftsmanship.

Organization Under Way For Disaster Services

The first concrete steps towards the organization of disaster services on a Provincial basis were taken at a meeting held last night at the Provincial headquarters of the Red Cross Society.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. A. Foster, Mr. R. H. Rogers, Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, and Mr. D. A. MacKinnon, was elected, whose duty will be to nominate a Central Committee to serve under Major Lawson Jenkins, Provincial chairman, Red Cross Disaster Services.

In his opening remarks, the chairman of the meeting, Judge L. G. Lewis, President of the P. E. I. Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, stated that this Province was the only one in Canada without any relief services, and that although the organization of these services was primarily for peacetime emergency work, they would form a component part of any civil defence scheme.

After a brief review of the history and work of the Red Cross, Mr. R. H. Rogers, past-president of the P. E. I. Division, spoke of the great deal of suffering caused by the various forms of disaster, adding that the work of the Red Cross is of emergency only in such circumstances where money is not available for rehabilitation.

Major Lawson Jenkins then gave the details of the proposed disaster organization explaining that men of proved leadership were needed to head the sub-committees in the areas where they will function and went on to speak of the services required, and the method of operation.

Following a discussion in which numerous points were clarified, the above-named committee was elected. Representatives from several communities were present at the meeting, among whom were: Mr. J. F. Arnett, Stewards, Rev. W. Mercer, Mt. Steward, Rev. Father Robin, Rustico, Mr. H. Ceretti, Borden, and Mr. J. Kinch, Tignish.

Rev. K. Robertson MacFadyen, B.A., B.D., will conduct both services in Zion Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

Mr. MacFadyen was born in Prince Edward Island where he received his early education and graduated from Prince of Wales College. He received most of his education in the United States and is a graduate of Chicago Theological Seminary, Chicago, Illinois. Recently of Toronto, Ontario, he is well and favourably known as a member of the Toronto Presbytery.

P. E. I. Golf Title To Be Decided Today

The Provincial Amateur Golf championship will be decided over the Belvedere links of the Charlottetown Golf Club this afternoon when the concluding 18 holes of medal play will get underway there at two o'clock.

Leading a field of 42 golfers in the opening round at Summerside on Wednesday with a sharp score of 73, Al Kerr of the R. C. A. F. station at Summerside will hold a six-stroke advantage over his nearest competitor, defending champion Art MacKenzie of the City Club, who was off in the first round of the 36-hole tournament for Provincial golfing honors.

Bill "Pud" Beer of the Charlottetown Club, who finished just three strokes below Kerr in the opening round, will not continue on in the tournament today. He left for Ottawa late yesterday afternoon where he will compete in the Canadian Open Amateur Championships which get underway there on Monday.

Alan MacMillan, of the local Club and Norman MacLeod of Summerside will also be starting out today's round six strokes down on the leading airforce shotmaker. They both tied with MacKenzie with 79's on Wednesday.

Two other divisions will constitute the balance of the field with Derwin Huestis, Bill Campbell and Bill Fraser, all of Summerside's Club, going away on an even stroke basis for second division honors with Tom Rogers of the City club trailing by two strokes.

Ross Armstrong and Keith Dibble, also of the Western Capital club are tied going into today's play for third division prizes with Jack Cowley of Summerside starting out four strokes down.

Defending champion Art MacKenzie of the Charlottetown brigade is trailing in third place in first division play six strokes below the front-running Kerr. Following is the draw for today: 2:00 - A. Kerr, Art MacKenzie, A. G. MacMillan, MacLeod, Don MacDonnell, Roy Adams, 2:12 - Frank MacLinnis, George COINCIDENTAL Meeting In Ch'town. The long arm of coincidence was really that for a resident of Quinicy, Mass., who came here with his wife and daughter for a holiday visit. Mr. John D. Smith of that city, a solicitor and counsel for the Quinicy Savings Bank and the Quinicy Trust Company, was greatly surprised en route when he met Mr. H. E. Sutherland, a prominent Republican leader in Norfolk County, Mass. and counsel for the Quinicy Co-Operative Bank, one of the largest in Massachusetts.

On their arrival here they registered at The Charlottetown and decided to take a short walk around the city. As they left the hotel they met Mr. Donald K. MacKay, counsel for the Granite Trust Company, Quinicy, Mass. To add further to the coincidence all three are former presidents of their Bar Associations.

Mr. MacKay held the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in his post as former U. S. Staff Judge Advocate with the U. S. Forces in Liberia. He has also been chairman of the Board of Review for NATO, and chief of the European Branch of the U. S. War Crimes Office.

Mr. Smith whose forbearers were Islanders, is a former editor of the Quinicy Evening Telegram. Mr. Sutherland is counsel for a director of the North Westmouth Co-Operative Bank and a former chairman of the Quinicy School Committee. Both he and Mr. MacKay are descendants of former Maritimers who left Nova Scotia many years ago.
