BUSINESS SOCIETY

by Holly MacDonald

Hi! The Business Society's membership drive is now in full swing. Business students, keep joining because this is going to be a fantastic year! We want to see all years well represented in this years Society.

The first Business pub will be coming off Tuesday Sept. 23 from 8:30 - 12:30 at the barn. The entertainment will be live, featuring the highly recommended AMBER GLOW. Amber Glow is a husband/wife duo that sing all your favourite tunes. Business Society members admission is free -gratis- so here is your opportunity to get out and socialize.

On Friday afternoon senior business students are challenging juniors in soft ball. Meet around the tennis courts at 3 pm for some fresh air and a lot of laughs. The emphasis is on fun so don't be shy about your game.

Three new professors have joined us this fall. Dave Darlington is teaching Introductory Business, and Marketing. Ab Ferris is involved in accounting and Don Nemetz is teaching Introductory Business, Organizational Theory and Business and Society. Welcome gentlemen! We hope your stay at the UPEI Business Department is enjoyable.

The Business Society would like to congratulate senior Marie LeLoup on her winning of the Royal Trust Scholarship. Keep up your good work, Marie!

Our freshman representative this year is Clara Jean Howard. Clara Jean is keen to do a good job, so freshmen be sure to support her.

Well, that about wraps it up for this week Seniors, hope your policy project is starting to look hopeful. This semester will be the killer, but don't forget that all work and no play is a fateful combination. We'll be seeing everybody at the barn Tuesday night, and don't forget that members get in free. Non-members will be charged $1. 50. See you!

Come to the Fair!

taken from Topics

Got any nicknacks, whatnots, thingamajigs, whatsits in your attic or cellar or closet? They may bring dollars for scholars that the University Women's Group hopes to raise for the UPEI Scholarship Fund, at a Fair planned for Saturday September 27 in the Gym. The potpourri will include books, records, crafts, dorm decorators, foodstuffs, plus anything you may add to the collection. The ladies are hoping for a large contribution of jewellery for the White Elephant table.

A country kitchen with shelves laden with honey, jams, jellies and other condiments is certain to be a crowd-pleaser. For youngsters, a fish pond, balloons, a doll lottery and a toy booth. For amusement the Fair-goers can try their hand at computer games.

Paintings by Island artists, Adrien Arsenault, Daphne Irving and Henry Purdy, a photograph by Michael Liu, as well as a dinner for two are among items which will come under the auctioneer's hammer, in the hands of Dean Ivan Dowling of the Science Faculty.

The Fair will open at 10a.m. and close with one hour-long auction between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Women's Group hopes for Island-wide participation at the Fair. Island residents as well as the University community are asked to bring donations to the University's Utility Plant, Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 12 noon, and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. General Co-ordinator is Margaret Ellison. Further information is available from Betty Jean Griffith, 892-1451; Gay Hancock 964-2414; and Anne Love, 892-4479.
