

Every cup satisfies!

KING COLE TEA

Cadet Inspection For Q. S. S. Corps

The Queen Square School Cadet Corps under command of Cadet Major Edward Mullins will be inspected Friday afternoon at Memorial Field, Victoria Park, commencing at 2 o'clock. Second in command is Cadet Captain Robert Burke.

Following are the officers of the three platoons: No 1 Platoon — Cadet Lieutenant Lorne Burke, Cadet Sgt. Arnold Mullins. No 2 Platoon — Cadet Lieutenant David Soper, Cadet Sgt. William MacDonald. No 3 Platoon — Cadet Lieutenant Billy Purcell, Cadet Sgt. Charles Weatherbie.

Company Sergeant Major is Cadet Sergeant Major Russell Kelly. Joseph Revell is Company Quarter Master Sergeant.

The Queen Square Corps will march to the music of its own band under the direction of Cadet Sergeant Edgar Doucette.

Visitors are asked to co-operate by staying off the inspection field. Inspecting officer is Brigadier W. W. Reid, D. S. O., E. D. Also present will be Lt. Col. A. W. Rogers, E. D., Officer Commanding the P. E. I. Regiment, (17th Recce) with which the Q. S. S. Corps is affiliated. Capt. Haldenwell, Eastern Command Cadet Officer will also attend.

The inspection program is as follows:

1. Ceremonial Drill, (a) General Salute, (b) Inspection, (c) March Past in Close Column of Platoons, (d) March Past in Column of Route 2 Physical Training Demonstrations, (e) Bren Gun Drill, (f) First Aid, (g) Woodcraft, knots and lashings, (h) Map-reading.
2. Review Order.
3. Presentation of Awards.
4. Remarks by Inspecting Officer. Chief instructor of the Corps is Lt.-Col. L. F. MacDonald, E. D., Assistant Hon. Frt. Lieutenant J. W. F. McCallum, Capt. J. W. Croken, Lieutenant L. P. Callaghan and Mr. T. A. Bradley.

Consider Automobile Ferry For Nfld.

OTTAWA, June 7 —(CP)—Provision of an automobile-carrying ferry between North Sydney, N. S., and Port Aux Basques, Nfld., is under "active consideration" by the Government. Gordon Higgins (P.C.—St. John's East) was advised in Commons today.

In a written reply, Mr. Chevrier said Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland made representations to the Government for the construction of such a ferry some time ago. A passenger and freight ferry now plies between the two points, which are mainland and Newfoundland terminal of Canadian National Railways.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS

50c Per Insertion

BIRTHS
CARRAGHER—At the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Thursday, June 1, 1950, to Mr. and Mrs. Uria Carragher a daughter, Donna Grace, weight 7 lbs. 8 oz.

BERRIGAN—At the Prince County Hospital, June 6, 1950, to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Berrigan (nee Kathleen Donnelly), Kinkora, a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, weight 8 lbs.

MARRIAGES
GORDON—GORDON — At the Presbyterian Manse, Charlottetown, P. E. I. on Friday, May 19th, 1950, by Rev. G. Carlyle Webster, George Glenwood Gordon, Montague, to Edythe Gladys Gordon, Rosneath.

N. D. MacLean
 UNDERTAKER
 EMBALMER
 Charlottetown and North Wiltshire
 PHONE 140

CENTRAL GUARDIAN

This column is reserved for new local interest, but advertising of a heavy nature may be inserted at five cents a word, strictly payable in advance.

JIMMIE'S TAXI Phone 523.

COOK'S for Photographs.
ALL SPRING COATS clearing at 33-1-3 off at The Fashion Shoppe.

TRINITY CHOR rehearsal this evening at seven. Full attendance requested.

MRS. JOHNSTON'S LADIES' WEAR — Beautiful Dresses, Coats, Suits, also Clearance Sale.

90TH ANNIVERSARY SERVICE At Zion Church Sunday, June 18 Rev. A. D. MacKinnon, D.D., Cape Breton, Guest Speaker.

HOME COOKING and parcel post sale, Rogers Hardware, Saturday, June 8th, 2:30 King's Daughters, Trinity United Church.

ANNUAL MEETING of Drama Festival Association, Thursday, June 8th in room 26, P.W.C. at 8:00 p.m. All members requested to attend. Public cordially invited.

CONDITION IMPROVED—Very Rev. G. J. MacLellan, V.G., who underwent an operation in the Charlottetown Hospital Monday morning, was feeling much improved yesterday.

CONTRIBUTIONS ACKNOWLEDGED—Among the contributions to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund from the crew of the Car ferry Abegweit, was the sum of $10.00 from the L.O.L. No. 2829, Borden. A cheque to the fund for $10.00 was also received from Muttart and Muttart, Albany.

LAI D TO REST—The funeral of the late Mrs. Donald S. MacKinnon of North River was held yesterday afternoon from the Cutcliffe Funeral Home to Highfield Cemetery. Service was conducted by Rev. H. Barber. The pallbearers were, Leigh Good, Frank Howard, John McKinley, William Hounam, Norman Hyde and Fred Ward.

FUNERAL AT MT. BUCHANAN—Funeral of the late Donald MacKinnon of Mt. Buchanan was held on Sunday, June 4th. Rev. J. H. Bishop conducted services at the house and grave, assisted at the house by Rev. John Murchison. Interment was in the Polly Cemetery, Mt. Buchanan. Pallbearers were John MacKinnon, Sumner MacKinnon, Neil Morrison, Charles D. MacLeod, Watson Bishop and John Nicholson.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY—The funeral of the late Mrs. Frank Kelly was held yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 108 Elm Ave., to St. Paul's Church. Service was conducted by Rev. J. T. Ibbot. Interment was in the People's Cemetery. The pallbearers were, William McQuarrie, Ernest Cudmore, George Cudmore, Willard Spencer, Thomas Whalen and R. T. White.

FALCONWOOD

Continued from page 1

that the nursing profession draws its life and inspiration.

"The noble and sacred science you have entered on is large, difficult, and deep beyond most others," he continued. "It is every day becoming larger, deeper and in many senses more difficult, more complicated and involved. It requires more than the average intellect, energy, attention, patience, courage, and that singular but imperial quality, at once a gift and an acquirement, presence of mind, than almost any other department of human thought and action."

Dr. Tidmarsh commented on the hard, and at times unpleasant life the graduates had led during the past two years, but expressed the belief that the eyes of their souls had been opened, the range of their sympathies widened, and their characters moulded by the events in which they had participated.

The nurses were asked not to fall into the error of attempting to pick and choose their patients, but to take the good with the bad, the hard case with the easy.

"There is some danger," he said, "that in these days of great advancement in the material sciences, the nurse should become so engrossed in the intellectual side of her profession as to lose the distinctly human touch. The kindly service and the wide sympathies which, after all, are the life giving principles of your calling."

Dr. Tidmarsh suggested that the nurses continue their studying, even though their period of training was over. In conclusion, he quoted the words of Lord Lister: "If you had nothing but pecuniary rewards to look to, your profession would not be one to be desired. In its practice you will find it to be attended with peculiar privileges, second to none in intense interest, and pure pleasures. It is your proud office to attend the fleshly tabernacle of the immortal spirit, and your path, if rightly followed, will be guided by unfettered truth and love unfeigned."

Highest Standing Awards for the highest standing during their two year training periods were presented to Mary Beatrice O'Shea (Falconwood) and for late Comrade James N. Collier will be held at the Cutcliffe Funeral Home at 2 p. m.

LEGION FUNERAL SERVICE

Thursday, June 8th.

Deputy Minister Shaw Writes From Scandinavia

Scandinavian farm methods are being keenly noted by Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Prince Edward Island representative at the conference of International Federation of Agricultural Producers held recently near Stockholm. The following letter from Mr. Shaw, dated March 27, has been received by Hon. C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture:

"This trip is so busy that one has little time to attend to correspondence. The people here are wonderful. Full of hospitality and good will. The Danish and Swedish people went to unusual lengths to entertain us, and I have never seen so much good food of a varied character, served so often, and with such abundant good will as we have enjoyed here during our stay. Dinners have been served every night after tours during the day and continuing until six in the evening. We are all anxious to see everything in these fine countries, and when we finally retire for the night, we are almost exhausted."

"These two countries are very beautiful this time of year, which is the best. Denmark is a model of good farming and Sweden also. The latter country reminds me of the Island in June, and is somewhat varied in soil character. The intensive cultivation practised in Denmark takes in every available foot of soil.

"There are very few fences, the cattle mostly on tether, and there is no lost space. Crops grown are similar to our own, even to forest trees. There are a few evidences of weeds. Manure is carefully conserved, the liquid part retained, and sprayed on the crops.

"The people are intensely community minded and their activities centre around the church, the folk school and the Cooperative. Some of the churches are over 1,000 years old and of the same general pattern. The cemeteries evidence the deep respect of these people for their dead, and are models of beauty and care.

"Was down to see the resting place and remains of James Hepburn, Earl Bothwell, the husband of Mary Queen of Scots, and the beautiful old church in which he rests; also the castle in whose dungeon he was prisoner, and in which he died.

Folk Schools

"The folk schools are a remarkable institution and play a prominent part in the cultural life of the people. They teach no particular crafts or industry, but study history, politics, music, dancing, liter-would be too great a burden to ask Cabinet to approve all new research projects.

Mr. Gillis agreed. He said members only draw a blank if the entire Cabinet holds responsibility for a certain matter. But he predicted the law would lead to some Cabinet shifts, with Trade Minister Howe handing over to Mr. Claxton the responsibility for atomic research.

Mr. Wright, grinning, said he was sorry Mr. Gillis felt that way about Cabinet. He considered it an important body.

Mr. Smith, who reported that his militia career consisted of becoming a lance-corporal in Methodist Church Scouts in Regina, vetoed a suggestion that the House consider the bill in sections rather than subordinate clauses. Then he had a hard time keeping up with the pace.

Mr. Wright complained that in one section of the bill the Government was getting away from the long-standing British practice. Formerly the number of men in the army was decided by Parliament. In the bill, the number would be fixed by Cabinet.

He was not trying to restrict the number in the forces but felt that the democratic principle of having Parliament approve the number should be retained.

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it ature, and other cultural themes, and fit their students for a more complete citizenship and fuller life. Two hundred and fifty girls, mostly from farm homes in this busy season attend to their value in the minds of the farm people. Over five hundred boys take a five month's course during the winter season.

"I just returned this minute from a demonstration and dinner put on by a similar school in Sweden. The music, singing and folk dances put on by these people in the colorful costumes of their country was simply marvellous. In general the life of the people here seems to be pleasant, prosperous and untroubled, and there seems to be little evidence of demarcation at any place among the people.

"On the small farms, large numbers of Red Danish cattle are kept, and dairying of course, is predominant. I saw very little poultry, and quite a few hogs of a type that I considered less desirable than ours, but greater care is exercised in finishing for market. Cash crops are sugar beets and rape seed for oil. The by-products are influential in dairy production. The setup in the dairies is excellent and by proper controls. The price to the producer is the same for butter, cheese and whole milk. Clover and alfalfa are abundant.

"The pattern in Denmark is marked by remarkable uniformity in thinking, activity, farm practice and livestock. During our trip I only encountered one case where cattle were other than the Red Danish type. Very dissimilar to our Island practices, and productive of maximum results.

"Artificial units are plentiful and over 50 per cent of the cattle are bred in this manner. There are very few farm owned tractors, and horses are chiefly relied on for power. There are, however, farm machinery Co-operatives which rent tractors out to farmers as required. This seems to be a very satisfactory arrangement.

"The Swedish system follows the same general pattern, but differs materially in many respects. The Extension Service in Denmark, for instance, is under the farmers' organizations, and entirely separated from the Government, while Swedish practice is associated to a greater extent with Government or Country controls.

"There are many things to tell about this trip, which to me is entirely valuable, that only a few may be mentioned here. I will be compelled to leave greater detail until a later date, and prepare a more comprehensive review from my voluminous notes."

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR

Continued from page 1

der apparently caught Red Party chiefs flat-footed. They had just announced an eight-man "leading group" to replace the central committee members purged yesterday. One of the eight was knocked out by the "kaha" list.

MacArthur banned the 17 "sharing responsibility for the policies governing the content" of Akahata rather than close the paper or revert to censorship which was lifted two years ago. He called both these courses "repugnant," and to be used as a last resort.

His letter to Yoshida called the Communist paper a glaring "exception" to the general policy of the Japanese press in respect.

Japanese police today raided headquarters of a Tokyo union. They said they were searching for documentary evidence connected with a letter denouncing MacArthur's occupation. The letter was read to a union meeting Saturday.

In these days of radar, atomic energy and new weapons, Mr. Wright said it gave the Minister too wide powers to allow him alone to approve new scientific steps.

Mr. Claxton said the particular clause was the same as that applied to the National Research Council, that in "major cases" Cabinet approval was obtained but it

Mr. Claxton said in modern times equipment was far more important than the number of men. Control of the equipment and the number of men could be exercised annually by Parliament through the expenditure estimates of the Defence Department.

In peace no Canadian Government would go beyond the expenditure appropriation authorized by Parliament. In case of an emergency no Government would hesitate to go beyond the appropriation. He felt that in an emergency no Parliament would attempt to place limitations on the forces.

MACARTHUR</