WASHINGTON WIG BOOM HAS BUSTED WIDE OPEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The wig boom in Washington has busted wide open. The nation's capital is said to be the "hottest wig city" in the country, but the heat was on the wig shops Friday. Forty-four wig collection suits were seized at as many as 200 wig-wearers. Counter-suits it has been filed against wig-makers.

Ritual Bonfire Suggested Of British History Books

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—A ritual bonfire of history books extolling the glories of the British Empire was suggested here Friday as the solution to racial discrimination. The suggestion, at the annual conference of the British Liberal League, was made by J. Wheeler, prospective parliamentary candidate, who presented a resolution calling for legislation condemning racial discrimination. It was passed by an overwhelming majority with an amendment also condemning religious discrimination.

Farm Federation Outlines Views On Feed Plans

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture said here it approves half of a two-part federal proposal to assist west-coast movement of feed grains. A press release said the farm organization welcomed the payment of storage on feed grain in eastern elevators between Oct. 15 and April 15 but said it attempts to revamp the feed freight assistance policy is inadvisable at this time and needs further study.

Secret Police Drive Enforced In S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The secret police drive against anti-government activity—heretofore centered on Buddhist and student opposition—has broadened to the ranks of Vietnamese professional men, official sources said here. A physician and three lawyers were reported under arrest on suspicion of working against President Ngo Dinh Diem's administration. On the other side of the controls the free motion of the thumb. The fact that the patient can now flex his elbow suggests that regeneration is also occurring in the musculocutaneous nerve, which was repaired with a graft from nerve in the thigh.
