

Evidence Continued In Preliminary Hearing

The preliminary hearing in the case of Harold Lee, charged with theft and public mischief, continued into its fourth day yesterday morning before Magistrate K.M. Martin with J.P. Nicholson presiding for the Crown and J.O.C. Campbell, Q.C. the defence.

The first witness of the day, called by the Crown, was Sergeant Donald S. Davis, R.C.M.P., who stated that he had received a call at the barracks at about 11:45 a.m. on April 20. "I then proceeded to the DeSable and Hampton area with Constable Nightingale," said the witness. "Arriving at Hampton, I saw Chief Constable MacArthur and other police in the area. Going to the Dunsford store I saw the accused on the couch in quarters adjoining the store property. I saw the accused lying on the couch, moaning and he appeared to be in distress. He appeared to lose consciousness at times." Witness said that Dr. MacDonald was present.

Lee stated that he had been struck on the right side of the head in the region of the temple and had been knocked unconscious. Accused pointed to the region of the blow. "I saw no redness or swelling whatever. The witness said that seeing nothing unusual, he had a conversation with Dr. MacDonald who shortly after applied pressure to the area. On the first application of pressure there was no reaction from Lee, but the second time he moaned. POLICE ACTIVITIES

Sergeant Davis stated that the car (Lee's) was held under guard throughout the day, until the dog-master with the trained police dog arrived from the mainland. At DeSable he said "a plaster cast was taken of a footprint in the shoulder of the road," the ditches he said contained snow and soft clay. Witness stated that dog-blocks were set up throughout the area and both the Borden Ferry and the airport at Summerside were checked. Referring to the scene at DeSable he added "I saw nothing to indicate anyone had left the highway".

SUDDEN ILLNESS

Miss Margaret Rhynes one of the Stars of the Festival, was seized with a sudden attack following her performance at Queen Charlotte High School last night. Miss Rhynes was in the act of waiting for a taxi to take her to Prince of Wales College when the attack occurred. She was rushed to the P. E. I. Hospital where latest reports from her physician indicated that the girl was resting comfortably. Miss Rhynes has for a number of years distinguished herself as a Highland dancer. In this year's competition she took two first prizes and two second prizes.

Souris Convent First Aid Course Is Completed

A class of 14 girls received Red Cross First Aid Certificates on Wednesday evening, May 2nd in St. Mary's Convent. Mrs. Harry W. Cudmore, Director of First Aid Services congratulated the girls and thanked their instructor, Rev. Sister St. Emma Marie. Mrs. Cudmore stressed the urgent need for prevention of accidents and urged the girls to do their best to promote safety in their homes and also in other places.

Mr. J. Gordon MacDonald explained the main points of the hearing was then adjourned until Thursday morning. Also on the docket was one drunk and incapable who was sentenced to ten days in jail (hold for good behaviour). A motorist charged with failing to stop at a red light, failed to appear. After hearing the evidence of Cst. E. Tedford, R.C.M.P. to the effect that he had delivered the summons to the man's wife at New Glasgow, P.E.I. A warrant was issued.

Bringing Up Baby

Best ounce of prevention against those new-mother blues we hear so much about, is a well-planned "con- your strength. A well-rested mother is a better mother, both from the standpoint of vitality and disposition. Secret of staying off fatigue is to rest before you're plumb tuckered out. A coffee break now and then—a cat nap while baby naps—or a leisurely tub will so revitalize you that a chore won't seem a bore, and you'll accomplish twice as much.

OFF to a solid start. Chances are the first spoon-fed food recommended for your new baby will be cereal. You'll find Gerber Five Cereal Variety a big help for those first tries with solid food. Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat and Mixed Cereal make it easy to introduce cereal variety to baby. Gerber Cereals are notable for bland but distinctive flavors—all five are pre-cooked and fortified with iron, calcium and B-vitamins.

2 blanket rules. (1) New receiving blankets can be easily de-fuzzed if you rinse 'em 2 or 3 times before using. (2) When buying crib blankets, get two in the same color. When baby graduates to a larger bed stitch the two together. Early addition to the infant diet—orange juice—for the vitamin C so vital to sound gums and body tissues. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is made from tree-ripened fruit, selected for high vitamin-C content, mild flavor and appealing color. Careful pasteurization insures purity. Limited. WE AND OUR NEIGHBORS

THE LILT OF OLD SONGS It has been said that old houses loved and enjoyed by their former tenants retain a flavor and charm that is felt by those who come later. At the Queen Hotel, oldest of the Charlottetown hotels, on winter nights especially one can almost hear the sound of laughter and the lilt of song of those gathered there many years ago.

The illusion is strengthened (if illusion it is) by the absence of any marked change in the appearance of the hotel and the presence of a number of the same friendly faces in office and dining room. Two of the always courteous and helpful office clerks started as bellhops at the hotel. Two of the three waitresses came here as young girls some twenty or more years ago. And talk of combining marriage and a career! Mrs. Austin Bradley, affectionately known and remembered by hundreds of Red Cross Disaster Service. He stated that loss of homes and belongings by fires was one of the gravest problems in this province. Mr. MacDonald outlined a few simple means of fire protection which should be observed in every home. The following girls received Certificates. Standard Refresher Seals: Miss Marguerite Mossey, Miss Joan Murphy and Miss Madeleine Pranght.

Standard Certificates: Miss Norma Gallant, Miss Noelle Hollans, Miss Mary MacKinnon, Miss Martha Leslie and Miss Adrienne Callaghan. Junior Certificates: Miss Catherine Chaisson, Miss Louise Gallant, Miss Rose MacAulay, Miss Audrey Roach, Miss Jean Campbell and Miss Belle McIntyre.

diners as "Katy", miraculously managed to raise seven children; bright and well-adjusted with scarcely an interruption in her cheerful, calm and efficient service! I have spoken to many who lived at the Queen Hotel or stayed there off and on in the pre-automobile, pre-radio, pre-television era and without exception they look back at that period as the Good Old Days. What fun they had! The very apartment where I have passed four pleasant and restful months was then known as the "Victorian Room" or the "Ladies' Parlor". Around the marble fireplace now blocked by a dresser, with the help of a piano now removed, merry groups gathered nightly and held sing-songs. Gentlemen of course were admitted to the Ladies' Parlor though they could adjourn if they wished to their own particular domain, the white marble fire-place in the lobby.

One gentleman, Mr. Elmer Farnell, who still comes to the Island on business from his home in Amherst, Nova Scotia told me of the happy musical evenings when he and Charlie Earle, Dr. Earle Robins, Elmer Ritchie and Judge Edgar Shaw were among the vocalists. One winter, said Mr. Farnell, a snow-storm that was a snow-storm kept trains from running for two weeks. What a grand time it was, especially for traveling men whose expenses were paid by their firms! No one could go anywhere but there wasn't any talk of nothing to do or boring evenings. They made their own good times—best of them the get-togethers around the fire, the sing-songs around the piano. Who can add up all the advantages of those days and balance them against the disadvantages, do the same for the present and find a reliable estimate? Who can tell how much of the glamour of the past is due to yearning over one's lost youth? But it is quite possible that life was especially good in those days for the comparatively favored ones!
