Carnival Shows Profit Of $1,092

The official financial statement of the St. Dunstan's University Winter Carnival shows a net profit of $1,092.39, according to figures released last night by the business manager, Brian Dornan. This net excess of revenue over profit compares favourably to the $200 lost in 1965.

The biggest source of revenue according to the report was the sale of 438 passes which covered the cost of all events. The second highest source came from the sale of Clancy Brothers tickets, amounting to $1,732.50.

This year's carnival, which extended from Jan. 27 through to the 30th, was generally considered to be the best ever at SDU, despite the postponement of three major events because of the storm. All revenue was higher for this year's carnival, while administration and advertising expenses were the lowest in four years.

JUNIOR CLASS WINS

The prize for the class competition went to the Junior Class, which took two firsts, a second, and one third place finish. Ted Richard, a science student from Sherwood, P.E.I., is the class president.

Winner of the carnival contest was Emeida Murnaghan, a Freshman Arts student from Moncton, and formerly of Charlottetown. The other contestants included Joan Power for the Seniors, Lyris Roberts, Juniors, Donna Murphy, Sophomores, Helen MacKenzie, Engineers, and Jean Maas, the Nurses.

Trends In Modern Farming Outlined By Banquet Speaker

KENSINGTON — D.L. Parks, deputy minister of agriculture for Nova Scotia, was guest speaker at the Seabrook Farms Frozen Foods, Ltd., Grower's Banquet, held at the Kensington Royal Canadian Legion Home on Tuesday evening.

A presentation of prizes to the growers for quality of products was also made at this event. Borden Campbell of Irishtown won the trophy for best quality products presented by Green Cross Products, Ltd., as well as a cash prize presented by Veasey's Seeds. Other prize winners for quality of crops, and donors of prizes were as follows: Broccoli, 1. Clifford Picketts, Prima Fertilizer, Ltd.; 2. Robert Williams, Agrow Seed Co.; 3. Ian Henderson, Prima Fertilizer Ltd.; 4. James Montgomery, Rogers Bros., seeds; 5. Douglas Woodside, Seabrook Farms.

Brussels Sprouts: 1. Arthur Campbell, Brookville Farm Co., Ltd.; 2. George Howes, Cyanamid, Ltd.; 3. James Montgomery, Seabrook Farms. Cauliflower: 1. Wendell Crozier, Havelock Lime; 2. Arthur Campbell, Veasey's Seeds. Green peas: 1. Don Wood, Niagara Chemical; 2. Don Baker, Seabrook Farms; 3. Caseley Produce Co. Ltd., Rogers Bros., Seeds; 4. Weirum MacKay, Seabrook Farms.

The guest speaker was introduced by Stanhope Moore.

Mr. Parks, in his address, commented on some of the modern trends in farming. He stated that "the agricultural industry has a record to be proud of" and added "but if you plan to farm in 1966 as you did in previous years, you cannot count yourself a modern farmer". He spoke of the many changes that have taken place in the past 20 years, all of them having a definite effect on methods of farming.

He listed first the results of scientific research; rapid advances in effective communication and transportation; new advances in mechanization and automation, bringing great changes in farm machinery.

The expanded use of outside capital, he said, characterizes modern farming more than anything else. Modern farmers have a whole new attitude toward debt.

"They have found that they have credit to sell", farmers were eager to use other peoples' labor, but very reluctant to use other people's savings. Now modern farmers are using borrowed capital.

Mr. Parks suggested that "your indebtedness in 20 or 30 years time will likely be more than twice the value of your farm now" but when a man retires he may be $50,000 in debt but he may be worth that much.

Electoral Reform Proposal Backed

BROOKFIELD — Third District of Queen's Liberals last night endorsed Provincial Liberal Leader Alex Campbell's proposed program of electoral reform.

Speaking at Brookfield Community Hall, Mr. Campbell expressed his satisfaction at the unanimous approval of the meeting for the reduction of the voting age to 18 from 21 and the principle of "one man, one vote."

He said, "this is a matter that has too long gone unattended to."

Mr. Campbell went on to say "the whole system of collecting the sales tax in the province must be opened to complete review and reform, because of the inequities inherent in the system now employed. The present system has become ridiculous when it is considered, for example, that the sales tax on a shovel might depend on whether a farmer uses it to clean out his barn or shovel snow from his pathway."

Introducing Mr. Campbell, D.F. Sigsworth, party policy strategist, stressed the fact that "it is the determination of our enthusiastic young leader, to secure the formation of new party policies, firmly in the hands of the rank and file party members."

Chairman of the meeting was Mrs. George Dickson. Other speakers were W. R. Jenks, provincial association president; Sidney Green, chairman of the party finance committee; B.B. Jones, Bunbury and H.P. Willis, former Liberal candidates.

PWC's Winter Carnival Ends With Hootenanny

Approximately 1,000 people attended the 1966 Red and Blue revue, "God Save O' Canada", a satire on Canada and the Canadian way of life from Confederation to the present day, at the Confederation Center last night.

This year's variety show presented by the Prince of Wales College cultural committee was the highlight in the third big day of the college's four-day annual winter carnival. The show was directed by Sally Martin and there was a cast of 20.

Earlier in the day, at 7:30 to be exact, the college students enjoyed a pancake breakfast at Montgomery Hall and from there they "headed for the hills" for an early morning toboggan party. At two o'clock the students saw "Tomb of Leges" at their theatre party.

The hop at the Prince of Wales College gymnasium, after the variety show, ended the day's activity for the college students.

Today, the last day of the carnival, features King's College Day. In the afternoon, starting at 2:30 with girl's basketball, teams from King's College, Halifax, compete against the Varsity teams from Prince of Wales.

Last weekend the teams from PWC journeyed to Halifax and competed against the teams which will be seen today.

Last week's trip proved very successful for the PWC students and with spirits being as high as they are the students are predicting "tough" competition for the teams from Halifax.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

The schedule begins in the morning with a bridge tournament. This is the only activity scheduled for the morning. In the afternoon, competition between the two colleges begins at 2:30 with a girl's basketball game.

The PWC girls are looking for their second straight win against Kings girls as are all the other teams who will be competing.

The ball game will take place in the PWC gymnasium. At 4:00 bowling at the recreational center, curling at the Charlottetown Curling Club and a hockey game at the Forum are scheduled.

The carnival is brought to a close at seven o'clock with a hootenanny at the gymnasium. The Sons of Erin, a folksinging group from St. Dunstan's, will supply the music along with the voices of the Prince of Wales students.

Tribute was paid to the leaders and members of parish organizations, whose reports gave proof of a busy and productive year's work.

The following men were elected or re-elected to serve as Vestrymen in 1966: E. G. Acorn, R. F. Acorn, M. V. Blake, Donald Carruthers, Arthur Holland, Eugene Korrey, Frank Michael, C. A. Orford, T. N. Rogers, William Shams, Frank Weatherby, Dr. H. H. Kelly. From their number the two Parish Wardens will be elected at a Vestry meeting to be held shortly.

Building Program Considered By St. Peter's Congregation

The annual meeting of parishioners of St. Peter's Cathedral, Charlottetown, took place last week, with the Rector, Ven. J. R. Davies, M.A., in the chair.

Reports showed that St. Peter's had met in full its Diocesan obligations in 1965, and overpaid its Missionary Apportionment. Beyond these obligations the parish had contributed generously to Anglican World Mission, the Primate's World Relief Fund, and to such varied causes and objectives as the Anglican Foundation of Canada, the Church Bible and Prayer Book Society, the Mission to Seamen, the Protestant Welfare Bureau, the Community of the Resurrection, and the Society of St. Francis.

A discussion of the need for a more equitable distribution of the financial responsibilities of the parish took place. Far too many members it was pointed out are still "token givers", leaving the main burden to a comparative few. With the urgent need in the near future of a new parish hall and church school building this situation must be changed.

A resolution arose from the discussion that a special meeting of the congregation be held in three months time to consider a report from the congregation based on its findings meanwhile. From this meeting it is hoped will come plans for liquidating the present debt and the construction of a modern and adequate parish building.

ATTENDANCE IMPROVES

The rector's report noted that there had been some improvement in Church attendance during the year, and most important, in the number of Communionals made. His comments on the growth of the Sunday School underlined the need for more adequate facilities for its use.
