

SAVE THE MOTHERS

Dodd's Kidney Pills Their Only Safety in Female Diseases.

You have seen a flower nipped by frost, fade and die in the flush of its beauty. That is how women die when attacked by any of the diseases peculiar to their sex.

Woman's burdens are woefully heavy. Her sufferings are agonizing. Her patience is grand. Disease preys upon her. The light dies out of her eyes, her steps become slow and dragging; she loses flesh; grows sallow, listless, droops like a flower. Then she dies. Her family is left to the cold mercy of the world.

"Mother's dead!" What a piteous phrase. What sufferings have been endured before it was used. Why should mothers, wives, sisters suffer so? They need not. Dodd's Kidney Pills will quickly and thoroughly cure all cases of Female Weakness. They never fail. They give health, strength, courage: a new lease of life.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

Mr. R. Morrow Cured of Lumbago Dodd's Pills

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—The vast majority of Torontonians know and esteem Mr. R. Morrow, the able and popular agent for the Toronto Auer Light Co.

For this reason the following statement made in writing by Mr. Morrow, possesses unusual significance.

"Two years ago I was attacked by Lumbago and Urinary trouble which caused me intense suffering, I took several different remedies without any benefit. Then I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and was completely cured by them."

Lumbago is unusually prevalent this fall. All sufferers should know that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only known cure for it. They never fail.

At Alma, Ont. a young son of Robert Knox got hold of a bottle of strychnine and drank a portion of the contents. He died a few hours later.

Chronic Eczema Cured.

One of the most chronic cases of Eczema ever cured is the case of Miss Grace E. Allen, of Hartland, N. B. On a sworn statement Mr. Allen says: "I hereby certify that my daughter Grace E. Allen was cured of Eczema of long standing by using four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment. William Thibault, druggist, of Hartland also certifies that he sold four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment which cured Grace E. Allen."

THE OCEAN LINERS LOST AT SEA

A Captain Tells who is to Blame

IN MOST INSTANCES WHEN A VESSEL IS LOST

And why the Commander is Seldom Amongst the Saved.

"There's another side to this question of the criminal carelessness of the commander which we hear so much talk about whenever a liner is lost," said the captain of a big ocean steamship the other day. "It's not the captain who is really to blame in one case out of ten even when he is running his ship at full speed through a fog. It's the public that's to blame, and I'll tell you how it is."

"To begin with, everybody knows of the rivalry between the different lines. Everybody knows what a difference there is, in the estimation of the public, between the rival boats of the same grade which start at the same time and come in 24 hours apart. The man who has traveled by the boat that comes in last is going to say to himself that next time he will go on the So-and-so, which must be a better boat, for didn't she come in a day ahead of the one he came on?"

"The captain of boat No. 1 is a hero for the time being, and the company he works for smiles on him. That he has run all the way at full speed through heavy seas and fogs and has taken all kinds of risks he knows, but he doesn't say anything about that, and the company doesn't, either. They have beaten the other line, and that is enough."

"The captain of boat No. 2, which came in a day behind the other, knows just what is in store for him before he reports at the office of his company. This is about what he hears:

"Why, how is this, Mr. Blank? You came in 24 hours behind the So-and-so. What was the matter anyhow?"

"Well, you see," says the captain, "we had storms part of the way, and when we got to the banks we struck a fog so thick you couldn't see your hand before your face, and we had to run at half speed all day."

"Ahem!" one of the owners will say. "Ahem! It's a bad thing, Mr. Blank, for us to be beaten 24 hours by the So-and-so."

"Captain Blank says no more, but feels that he has been reproved, and he remembers it on the next trip. The sea may be running 'mountains high' and the fog may be so thick you can't see the funnel from the bridge, but he is bound to get in on time this trip, and he does. The owners of the line smile on him. So he knows what he is required to do and goes on making record trips."

"It is the public, you see, which the company has got to please if it is to exist, and the captain has to please the company. Some day he does this once too often. He collides with another ship in a fog, maybe, or runs on the rocks. Perhaps the natural love of life or the thought of a helpless family keeps him from deliberately going to the bottom with the ship, but he knows that his career is at an end."

"The board sits on the case, and if there is any evidence to show that the accident was due to the carelessness of the commander in running at full speed in thick weather, or whatever the case may be, he is reprimanded and his certificate suspended for some months at least. When at last he gets the certificate back, it has a hole punched in it."

"Now let us suppose that he has been a faithful servant of the company for a good while, and they like him and decide to transfer him to another ship and give him a chance for existence. This new ship has to be insured, of course, before she goes to sea. The underwriters make their examination and in the course of their inquiries there comes up the question as to who is the captain of the ship."

"When they hear the name, they will probably say: 'Why, let us see! Isn't he the man who sunk the So-and-so? Yes? Oh, we can't take any risks on a ship commanded by Captain Blank! Put another commander in his place and it will be all right.'

"The company is therefore obliged to dismiss Captain Blank. Then he starts out to find another situation. His certificate, you remember, has a hole in it. He goes to see the owners of another line. As soon as they hear his name they say:

"Oh, yes. Didn't you command the So-and-so?"

"Yes, I commanded that boat."

"Humph! Very sorry, captain, but we haven't anything just now. If we should have anything, we will let you know."

"This scene is repeated at one steamship office tell another on both sides of the water."

The captain leaned his elbows on the table. "Do you wonder," he said after a pause, "that generally when a liner is lost at sea her commander isn't among the saved? But mark my words," he added, rising, "in almost every disaster, when the cry of negligence is loudest, it's the public that's to blame and not the captain, who only does what he is obliged to do."

Why Suffer

When Your Agony and Torture Can Be Permanently Banished by Paine's Celery Compound?

Able Physicians Recommend It.

Able physicians, after a satisfactory experience with Paine's Celery Compound, have come to the conclusion that it is a true specific for that merciless tormentor—neuralgia.

Neuralgia indicates a low or depressed state of vitality, and nothing so rapidly weakens and exhausts the system as pain that prevents sleep and keeps the body and mind in agony and torture.

Neuralgia being a nerve disease, is most common in the face, and frequently the entire head suffers excruciating pain. Attacks of neuralgia are very uncertain; sometimes they come and pass quickly away; often the pain and agony will continue for weeks and months.

When there is a lowering of vitality, when sleeplessness, anxiety, malaria and debility are at work, and when there is exposure to wet and cold with rheumatic tendencies, neuralgia is sure to prevail.

Paine's Celery Compound being a nerve medicine and nerve food, it reaches the root of the trouble in a way that no other medicine can do. The most terrible and long standing cases have often been completely cured by the use of a few bottles. Paine's Celery Compound has in thousands of cases saved lives after the best medical exertions failed. If your life is a continued misery from neuralgia torture, be wise and use at once nature's true nerve medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. Beware of substitutes; Paine's is the kind that cures.

Meant What He Said.

"Yes," said Mr. Jones, when a certain girl's name had been mentioned, "I know her to speak to, but not by a bit."

"You mean," cut in the prompt corrector—"you mean that you know her by sight, but not to speak to."

"Do?" asked Mr. Jones anxiously.

"Of course you do. You have seen her so often that you know who she is, but have never been introduced to her. Isn't that it?"

"No, that isn't it. I never saw her at all to know her, but I speak to her nearly every day."

"How can that be?"

"She is the telephone girl at central."—Harper's Bazar.

SPOILED MATERIALS.

A Well known Druggist Gives His Experience.

A successful and well known Canadian druggist said recently: "I know from experience what it means to sell dyes that have no standing or established reputation. Over a year ago, I put in a small stock of — Dyes. I had been asked by three or four persons for these dyes which there was advertised, and I was under the impression the demand would increase. In a year's time I sold probably from twenty to twenty-five packets, and had so many complaints from disappointed women who had spoiled good materials and garments with these new dyes that I banished every one of them to my back store-house, where they now are. I find the Diamond Dyes give perfect satisfaction to all my customers, and will sell no other make while I am in business. What a tale could be told by women about spoiled goods from using cheap and tawdry dyes!"

This statement from an old established druggist has its notes of warning. His long and extended experience is in favor of the Diamond Dyes. There are too, hundreds of other druggists and dealers and tens of thousands of women who could give clear and convincing testimony that Diamond Dyes are far ahead of all other dyes in purity, strength, fastness of color, brilliancy and beauty.

As long as there are imitations and adulterated dyes sold, it is well that all should insist upon getting the "Diamond" when buying dyes for home dyeing. See that the name is on each packet.

DR. JOHNSON EAT HORSE

Dr. Johnson in his journal mentions the interesting fact that he had on a certain day had "palfrey for dinner." Now these three words have caused not a little trouble to the critics, and for this reason, that they know not what palfrey really is. It has been suggested that palfrey is a clerical error made by the doctor himself for pastry, but the doctor wrote so legibly, and there is so much difference between the words palfrey and pastry that this position is not at all tenable.

Palfrey is defined in Johnson's celebrated dictionary as "a small horse fit for ladies," and some have thought that the doctor (whose feats as a trencherman were notorious) may have broken a record on the day in question and disposed of a small horse. All these and other conjectures are wrong, and we will proceed to give the correct explanation.

The word palfrey (sometimes pampfrey by the interchange of l and m) is still in use among the rustics of Scotland and the north of Ireland, and means young cabbages when they first come to table in the spring. Such cabbages have not begun to "close" or become solid in the center. They are generally spoken of as "early pampfrey" and are considered a luxury. Dr. Johnson probably picked up the word from his friend Boswell or from some other Scotch acquaintance.—Notes and Queries.

Sir Colin Campbell.

Russian horsemen were coming on fast, and a grim silence fell on the highlanders. Then, as the beat of the hostile troops sounded deeper and louder, a curious quiver ran down the long two deep line of the Ninety-third. The men were eager to run forward and charge. "Ninety-third, Ninety-third!" rang out the fierce voice of Sir Colin Campbell. "D—n all that eagerness!" He had previously ridden down the line and told his soldiers: "Remember, there is no retreat from here, men. You must die where you stand." And from the killed privates came the cheerful answer, "Aye, aye, Sir Colin; we'll do that!"

The Russians were now within range, and the fire of the highlanders rang out sudden and sharp. A few horses and men came tumbling down, and the Russian cavalry wheeled instantly to the left, threatening the right flank of the highlanders. Campbell, a cool and keen soldier, saw the skill of this movement. "Shadwell," he said, turning to his aid-de-camp, "that man understands his business." So, too, did Campbell, who instantly deflected his line so as to protect his right, and met the advance with a destructive volley, before which the Russian horsemen at once fell back.—Corphill Magazine.
