Not Starved

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Boy scouts authorities at Pepperrell USAF base here said Sunday reports of starvation among boys qualifying for a campaign badge were the result of "enthusiastic exaggeration" among the boys themselves.

A base release said the officials were "still chuckling over weekend reports of starvation among boy scouts at the Pepperrell boy scout camp near Torbay."

"Rumors of starvation arose when a select group of boys at the camp set out on an overnight hike carrying field rations instead of regular camp fare. Enthusiastic exaggeration did the rest."

Love Blossoms In Aged Hearts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Neither Myer Krich nor Hinda Juba can be described as the impetuous type.

But today they bounced into the marriage licence bureau and obtained the legal go-ahead to wed.

Myer is 98. Hinda is 95.

Their love blossomed in the Jewish home for the aged, where both were admitted earlier this year.

"I liked her from the moment I met her," said Myer.

"He's a fine man," said the bride-to-be.

Hinda has been a widow for about 40 years. Myer was married 75 years but lost his first wife five years ago.

Wants More Money For Teachers

MONTREAL (CP) — Businessman John W. McGiffin, arriving home from the Duke of Edinburgh's study conference, said Saturday teachers should make more money in this industrial age.

Mr. McGiffin, general manager of Kingsway Transports Limited, toured Britain with an international group after the duke's conference on human problems of industrial communities.

"There are not enough people being attracted to the profession for social prestige and remunerative reasons," he said.

The Oxford onference — called by the husband of Queen Elizabeth — attracted some 300 delegates, including 30 Canadians, representing labor and management.

Mossadegh Backs Egypt

TEHRAN (AP) — Mohammed Mossadegh, the former Iranian premier who nationalized the British-owned Anglo - Iranian Oil Company five years ago, was quoted by a relative Sunday as saying Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal was quite lawful."

Mossadegh, wearing his customary pyjamas, was released Saturday after three years' imprisonment for treason.

Soldiers escorted him to Ahmedabad, where vilagers killed two cows and nine sheep in honor of their former landlord's return.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

Opening lead — queen of clubs.

The bidding was not what could be classed as scientific — it is merely recorded as it took place in a rubber bridge game. North came from a tribe that believed in pushing their hands to the limit.

His hand was indeed tempting for grand slam purposes. From his view, South might have both missing aces and either king, in which case a grand slam was feasible. Or South could have the jack of diamonds as well as the A-K or A-Q of hearts. Or, in fact, many other holdings including the ace of hearts, which could lead to thirteen tricks.

Whether all these factors were given full weight by North in his calculations is not known to this reporter. He had a marked weakness for bidding grand slams. The money involved meant nothing to him. His wife had come into a large inheritance before he married her. Besides, North knew he would get good service from South so far as the play was concerned.

Nor did South let him down. The contract is not easy to make, even if all four hands are known. It needed special treatment, and it got it.

The opening club lead was ruffed and three rounds of trump taken. The A-K-Q of diamonds were then cashed, South discarding a heart. Another diamond was played and trumped, establishing dummy's six. A club was then ruffed with dummy's last trump.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ A K 8 5 3 ♥ J 7 2 ♦ A K Q 6 4 ♣ —
♠ 9 6 2 ♥ 10 5 4 ♦ 9 8 7 3 ♣ Q J 10	N W E S	♠ 4 ♥ Q 6 3 ♦ J 2 ♣ A 9 8 6 5 3 2
	♠ Q J 10 7 ♥ A K 9 8 ♦ 10 5 ♣ K 7 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	7 ♠

By now, dummy had the good diamond and three hearts. South had a A-K-9 of hearts and the king of clubs. East had his original three hearts and the ace of clubs.

On the lead of the six of diamonds, East ran into discard difficulties. If he discarded a heart, South would throw the club king and make the remaining tricks with the ace-king of hearts and dummy's jack. If East discarded the ace of clubs, South's king of clubs and ace-king of hearts would take the last three tricks.

In fact, there was no escape for East. He had to pay off to North's precision bidding.

N. B. Potato Payments Are Still Under Investigation

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Saturday the federal government still is investigating possible wrongdoing in connection with some claims and payments made by the New Brunswick potatoes marketing board.

He said during a Commons agriculture debate if there has been any wrongdoing "it will be aired in the courts." He declined to elaborate or divulge the results of an investigation by officers of the agriculture, finance and justice departments.

It would be unwise, he told Gage W. Montgomery (PC — Victoria-Carleton), to make this public while the government still was making enquiries.

Mr. Montgomery was questioning Mr. Gardiner on an estimated payment of $177,000 to cover some of the board's losses.

The Opposition member said that if there has been any lawbreaking some of the payments on the board's losses should not be made.

Mr. Gardiner said the amount, added to payments of $2,688,000 covering normal losses of the board in past years, will clean up the board's debts.

So I guess he doesn't think doing anything wrong when he makes Plunger drop a fish. Look! Plunger has caught another fish already. King Eagle would still be going hungry, if he hadn't taken that first fish. What he can't do himself he makes Plunger do for it isn't his fish," retorted Polly Chuck.

"He thinks it is and he's got it. It certainly isn't Plunger's fish any longer," declared Johnny.

"Just the same King Eagle is a great big robber," retorted Polly.

Johnny chuckled again. "I wonder what the fish thought about it," said he.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

BEDTIME STORIES

Whose Fish Was It?

By Thornton W. Burgess

Possession be it wrong or right,
Will make it easier to fight.
—Old Mother Nature.

Plunger the Osprey, who is also called Fish Hawk, had caught a fish. King Eagle had made Plunger drop that fish, had caught it himself before it had reached the water, and had flown away with it. "Robber!" shrieked Plunger. But King Eagle said nothing and kept on his way to the Great Mountain.

Johnny Chuck and Polly Chuck had seen Plunger catch that fish and then had seen King Eagle take it away from him. "Plunger is right. King Eagle is a robber," said Polly Chuck. "That fish belonged to Plunger."

"If it was really his, he should have held onto it and not let King Eagle take it away from him," replied Johnny Chuck. Then he added, "In a way he really didn't take that fish away from Plunger. Plunger dropped it and King Eagle caught it. It would be different if he had taken it out of Plunger's claws."

"He made Plunger drop it, so it's just the same as if he had taken that fish right out of Plunger's claws. That fish belongs to Plunger. It is his fish." Polly Chuck was very indignant. She meant what she said.

Johnny Chuck chuckled. It was a provoking chuckle. "It seems to me that it is King Eagle's fish. He has it and no one can take it away from him," said he.

Look! Plunger has caught another fish already.

There was nothing that Polly Chuck could say to that. It was King Eagle's fish if possession meant anything. It is Mother Nature's law on the Green Meadows and in the Green Forest that only actual possession of a thing makes it anyone's property. Whatever one has he must hold if it is to really belong to him.

"It isn't fair," declared Polly Chuck.

What isn't fair?" asked Johnny.

"Plunger caught that fish and King Eagle had no right to take it away from him," retorted Polly.

"It is true that Plunger caught that fish, because he is a fisherman. King Eagle is not a fisherman. Yet King Eagle needs fish to eat. He knows that if he takes a fish away from Plunger that Plunger wil soon catch another. any harm. So I think King Eagle is smart," said Johnny.

"But, I still don't think that fish belongs to him. I still think him and it doesn't do Plunger
