
STOWAWAY MAKES 16-HOUR TRIP

Albert Sangelais, Jr., 13, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was taken off the freighter Fort Henry at Sarnia Tuesday after a 16-hour trip down Lake Huron. He was discovered as a stowaway shortly after the ship left the Sault. A spokesman for the steamship company said he was "well fed" on the trip and "ate every meal." He was held in Point Edward, near Sarnia, awaiting arrival of his parents.

John Howard Society To Hear Penitentiary Commissioner

"A man's a man for a' that." Who believes in this statement even more than Robert Burns? The members of the John Howard Society.

The Society in it's name perpetuates the memory of John Howard, 1726 — 1790, a high sheriff of England whose voluminous reports produced the first prison reforms in England in 1774.

The annual meeting of the Prince Edward Island Society will be held Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Basilica Recreation Centre at 2.30 p.m. Lieutenant Governor W.J. MacDonald, Premier W.R. Shaw and Mayor A.W. Gaudet will be in attendance at a dinner sponsored by the City of Charlottetown, preceeding the meeting. The guest speaker will be A.J. MacLeod, Canadian Commissioner of Penitentiaries.

John Howard himself said: "To reform prisoners, should always be the leading view of every house of correction, as rational and moral beings we owe this to them; nor can any criminality of theirs justify a neglect in this particular."

John Howard Societies, seek, through public education, penal reform, and assistance to discharge inmates of our penal institutions, to better the corrective system.

Every province of Canada has a John Howard Society. The one in Prince Edward Island was formed in 1961 and re-organized in July 1963 with Matt F. Hagan as president. Vice-president of this branch is Lou Howatt Jr., Lorne Ramsay is treasurer and Joan Strain is secretary. Two members are currently attending a conference on corrections at Laval University in Quebec.

A council of the John Howard Society of P.E.I. was formed in Summerside on April 20, 1964, under the direction of the present Society, with Ernest Murphy as chairman. This council is to serve Prince County.

The main object of the Society is "Rehabilitation." Material assistance is given — such as meals, lodging, clothing, etc., when justified; and every effort is made to find a job for the individual.

The stress however, is put on guidance and counselling, and placing in employment. Absence of occupation is not rest — a mind quite vacant is a mind distressed.

The John Howard Society knows that too often the worst problem of the average discharges begins after he leaves prison.

He is frequently shunned by society at large and refused employment — more sinned against than sinning. He is often without home, money, food, or friends — in fact totally unprepared for a normal life.

Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. That is one of the reasons for this Society, to help the rehabilitation of such people. It believes that sympathetic guidance and material help for immediate needs will prevent many prisoners from returning to crime.

The interest, sympathy and charitable efforts of the Society's members, made possible it's accomplishments during its first few years. The Society is now financed by small grants from Federal and Provincial Governments, the United Fund of P.E.I., and the contributions of it's members.

Fed. Farm Loans No Advantage

Large pieces of agricultural machinery may not be practical in this province where many farmers plant small acreage crops, Agricultural Minister Andrew MacRae said yesterday.

He said there was "little or no advantage" to Island farmers in the federal offer of loans up to $15,000 per member or $100,000 per syndicate composed of three or more farmers for the purchase of expensive farm machinery.

PROVINCIAL

iness about provincial polices that call for support of ther own industries.

"I believe they run against the interest of efficiency if they permit premium prices to be paid for local produce . . ."

A general survey of regional economic trends presented to the delegates showed these findings:

Rcent trends in the Maritimes were "most encouraging." "We believe we are entering a period of unprecedented growth and that Canada can look to us for important contributions to national progress.

"However we must continue to receive understanding and assistance from the rest of Canada if we are to achieve our full potential."

Tremendous additional efforts were needed to bring ncomes and capital spending up to levels enjoyed by the rest of Canada.

In Quebec a "new dynamism" was permeating the economic and social structure.

CENTRED IN MONTREAL

However, 85 per cent of the province's monufacturing industries were centred in Montreal's vicinity and the rest of Quebec was lss developed than the Maritimes.

It was not uncommon to encounter unemployment rates above 30 per cent in small urban centres.

There had been a "spontaneous acceptance" of the emphasis on the importance of education and Quebecers were shedding "the complexes whic fostered his acceptance of certain preconceived notions regarding his destiny, his profession and his occupation n adult life."

Ontario had excellent prospects for expansion in both primary and manufacturing industries.

In manufacturing, the largest gains could be expected in machinery and equipment, goods required by the construction ind- and by consumer durables.

INCREASE CALLED FOR

However, the productivity of labor, capital and management had to be increased ti improve the province's competitive position, especially in the export fields.

On the Prairies, the natural resources of oil and gas and, recently, potash, had greatly helped prosperity.

Manufacturing was expected to show the greatest percentage increase in the area's economy during the next few years, although agriculture would continue to come in the major urban areas of Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

British Columbia's important resources-based industries had exciting prospects.

The province was ideally located to take advantage of the growing market in the West, which offered an interesting market for the province's seconday manufacturers, especially well-designed consumer products.

CHAIRMAN HONORED AT BANQUET

The Charlottetown branch of the Montreal Trust Company last evening tendered a banquet at the Charlottetown Hotel in honor of the company's chairman of the board, Oswald B. Thornton, OBE, of Montreal. Chatting at the reception are, left to right, Mr. Thornton, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. D.A. Mercer, and Mr. Mercer, assistant general manager for the Atlantic region.

Fed. Youth Allowance Cheques Distributed

The first cheques under the federal youth allowance program were received Wednesday by parents who have 16 and 17-year-old children in school.

A total of 2,912 cheques were reported in the mail Wednesday by Eldon Green, regional director of family allowances for Prince Edward Island, for parents whose children qualify for the allowance.

Mr. Green said that about a month ago, 4,960 application forms had been sent out to those who might qualify for the $10 per month assistance. "To date," he said, "3,072 applications have been returned. It was found that 58 of the applications had to be turned down as the applicants did not qualify and 74 applications had to be deferred until more information is received. The 74 applicants have been sent form letters for the additional information."

According to Mr. Green, his department would like to have all outstanding applications as soon as possible for processing.

To date, only 19 applications have been received for assistance for 16 and 17-year-olds who are mentally or physically handicapped. "This group," said Mr. Green, "qualifies for assistance whether attending school or not and I feel that there must be more applicants who can qualify in this category."

Mr. Green said that an additional 206 students may qualify for youth allowance "as they reached their 16th birthday in September." He said application forms have been sent to this group.

Quota Short Of Objective After Two Days Donations

The attendance at yesterday's morning and evening Red Cross blood donor clinics being held at Zion Church Hall in Charlottetown reached a total of 427 — 111 on the 120 quota, in the morning and 316 on the evening objective of 300. The overall response for the first two days is just 4 short of the goal set for this period.

Red Cross officials stated last night that the response to date is most encouraging and that they are confident that residents in Charlottetown and the surrounding area will turn out in large numbers for the concluding sessions of the current series which take place today from 2-4 in the afternoon and from 7 until 9 in the evening. The minimum number required for today is 274 to reach the objective of 1,065 but additional donors are needed to make up for some of this summer's deficit of 300.

Three different shifts of volunteers assisted at yesterday's clinics and were drawn from the following organizations: — Zion Women's Auxiliary, St. Dunstan's parish council of the CWL, the Royal Edward chapter of the IODE, the Land Rangers, Parkdale Women's Institute. High school Red Cross members from both Queen Charlotte and Birchwood were also included among the workers.

Members of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown were on hand during all the clinic hours to check the various keenly contested competitions, with a special PWC representative checking on their competition between the girls and the boys (the boys had a slight "edge" on the girls last night) as well as that with St. Dunstan's University.

Promotion Program For Island Spuds

A sales promotion program for Prince Edward Island potatoes is to be carried out in the Toronto area this fall by John Bentham Sales Limited, Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae said yesterday.

Mr. MacRae said he is highly in favor of the promotion program, calling it "the first step toward a solid marketing effort for Island potatoes."

While the Toronto firm's sales efforts will be concentrated mainly in the Toronto area this year, Mr. MacRae said it is planned that sales efforts will be extended to other parts of Canada next year.

Mr. MacRae said that the decision to use a promotional approach by a sales firm was made by the P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board.

The "GOOD L'IL ANGEL" Talks to MR. WORKER

L'il Angel: Mr. Worker, did you know the United Fund campaign is trying to raise $258,483 on Prince Edward Island? These are the funds necessary for 27 Agencies to carry on their work. The campaign runs from September 24th to October 20th.

MR. Worker: Yes, L'il Angel but how can I support 27 Agencies, I haven't any money.

L'il Angel: Well, Mr. Worker, you can do this by taking advantage of your employer's payroll deduction plan. He will take a small amount from your pay each week and send it to the United Fund. All you have to do is to tell him. You'll never miss it and 27 Agencies will be able to carry on their good work.

Mr. Worker: Yes, but I don't know how much to give. What do other folks do?

L'il Angel: Well, we all try to give one hour's pay per month. We call this the "Fair Share Plan."

Mr. Worker: By golly, L'il Angel, I'll do it.

L'il Angel: Thanks Mr. Worker, that makes you a good L'il Angel too.

Mr. Worker: Aw, gee, shucks, L'il Angel!
