

Agricultural.

POOR PRACTICES.

It is a pretty poor practice for a farmer to dig and dig, tag and tag, and clear up fifty acres of land at a cost of £200, and then in the third year surrender about one fifth of it to briars, brambles, and ox-eye daisies.

Poor practice to half manure, half seed, half plough and half cultivate a field, and then harvest from it less than half a crop.

To keep two inferior, scrawny, scrub cows for dairy purposes, that give less milk than one good one, and consume more food than three.

To purchase in town five hundred loads of livery-stable manure, and suffer six hundred of better home made material to run to waste.

To attempt to fatten three hogs into twelve hundred pounds of pork on just as much food as would keep two nicely growing.

To estimate agricultural fairs as arant humbugs, and spend three days every month serving the country at political meetings.

To depend on borrowing your neighbors' rakes, reapers, mowers, and all sorts of implements in haying and harvest time.

To house up a thousand bushels of grain, waiting for a rise, till one-tenth has gone to feed the rats and mice, and the remainder smells like essence of rat and the price is down 40 per cent.

To plant out a big orchard of fruit trees with a first thought of money making, and leave them to die.

To keep two fancy five hundred dollar carriage horses, and pay six dollars a day for a team to plough.

It is positively a poor practice to call "back larnin'" all hogs, to ignore news and agricultural papers, and attempt to keep up an even yoke with your progressive neighbors by main strength and stupidity.

THE MOLE AND THE FARMERS.—It appears, from recent observation, that the mole is one of the most useful animals in existence. The voracity of this little creature is extraordinary. It must eat incessantly, or it dies; hence it must work and burrow without respite, in order to find the insects and larvae on which it lives. This also explains the incredible rapidity with which the mole will pierce under ground galleries in every possible direction, and in this way the number of noxious creatures it destroys is absolutely incalculable. To the gardener and agriculturist the mole is consequently a most valuable auxiliary.

Baby Literature.

ROAD TO KNOWLEDGE.—He that shortens the road to knowledge, lengthens life, and we are all of us more indebted than we believe we are, to that class of writers whom Johnson termed the "Pioneers of literature," doomed to clear away the dirt and rubbish for those heroes who press on to honor and to victory, without deigning to bestow a single smile on the humble drudge that facilitates their progress.

A SHARP TICKET AGENT.—"Fe-r-ee teck-its! Yes they are—three for ten cents (apiece)!" sang out one of those Kaig'n's Avenue juvenile nuisances.

Jerseyman from away in yonder, with wife and three daughters, caught the cry—all but the sotto voce, ordered five tickets, and headed out a dollar note. Squirt passed back a fifty-cent fractional, and five tickets, and went on yelling out loud, "F-e-r-ee teck-its! Three for ten cents apiece!" leaving Jersey puzzling over the problem how the five tickets at three for ten cents could absorb half a dollar.

REMEDY FOR FITS.—If you are subject to those distressing attacks, buy your clothes at a sloop-shop, and you will never have a fit afterwards.

LOAFER.—Hello, old gander! why didn't the Lord give thee a short neck like mine, eh? QUAKER—Perchance thine was made for stretching.

We notice an advertisement of "milliner's feathers for sale." The milliners from whom these feathers were plucked must have been little ducks.

A Quaker who wanted to shoot a man apologized to him and his principles at the same time, by saying: "Thee stands in the way of my gun, and it must go off."

Mr. Quibble reading: "it has been decided in the Court of the Queen's Bench in Dublin, that a clergyman of Church of England can legally marry himself," observed, that might be very well as a matter of economy, but that even in the hardest times he should prefer to marry a woman.

A gentleman of the name of Pepper had been thrown several times from a spirited horse, and was relating the circumstances to a friend, at the same time observing he had never given his horse a name.

"I think," observed a friend, "you should call him Pepper-caster."

A wag entered a store in London years ago, which had for its sign, "The Two Baboons," and addressing himself to the proprietor, said:

"I wish to see your partner!"

"I have no partner, sir."

"I beg your pardon, sir, and hope you will excuse the mistake."

"Oh there's no harm done; but what made you think there was two of us?"

"Your sign. 'The Two Baboons.'"

A suitor having gained the affections of a daughter of Professor Wilson, waited upon "papa," and stated his case—of which the professor had a previous inkling. The young gentleman was directed to desire the lady to come to her father, and doubtless, her obedience was prompt. The professor had before him in review some work, on the fly-leaf of which was duly inscribed, "With the author's compliments." He tore this out, pinned it to his daughter's dress, solemnly led her to the young lover, and went back to his work.

New Triumphs of Rogers' Medicines.

See your eye over them and tell your afflicted neighbour about it.

AMHERST, N.S., August 7th, 1866. MESSRS. ROGERS & CO.—

Gentlemen—Permit me to read my testimony to the great value of your preparation; and any person reading the following account of a cure effected by it upon my son, will not dispute my right to do so.

He first fell upon a fork handle in the barn, and hurt his leg a little below the knee; he subsequently took cold, when it began to swell and pain him very much. It soon ulcerated near where it was hurt, and continued to discharge freely, until the calf of the leg seemed to be one mass of corruption. His foot and knee swelled very much, and when we commenced with your medicine, was very much inflamed, and was evidently on the eve of mortification. The pain and suffering he endured, no pen can describe. He grew weaker daily. Nothing that medical skill and faithful attendance could accomplish, was omitted; still he gradually sunk, until there seemed but little hope of saving either his life or limb. As a last effort the doctors decided to amputate the leg. This was to have been done the next day, but at this critical point, I contacted to do so; and the leg at once began to improve, and is now well. He goes to school daily.

This is, certainly, the most extraordinary cure ever made in this country. No person could duly appreciate the sad and suffering condition he was in, without seeing for himself; to all human appearance he could not have any hope left, and there are thousands dying whose lives might be spared, if they had this extraordinary medicine.

Hoping that God may prosper you in your work of humanity, I am, Gentlemen, yours affectionately, ALISON COPELAND.

We, the undersigned, inhabitants of Amherst and vicinity—some of us having been eye witnesses to the above distressing case, and all being quite familiar with the facts, from common report in this community—have no hesitation in endorsing the above statements of Mr. Copeland.

CHILDREN'S TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN'S TEETHING.

which greatly facilitates the progress of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over thirty years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it.

On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this manner, "what we do know," after thirty years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. It is almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhausting relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never failing success in thousands of cases. It is a cooling and relaxing agent, from just that invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhoea in Children, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. It would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used.

Full directions for usage will accompany each bottle. None Genuine unless the face-simile of CUTLER & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Principal office, No. 48 Dey Street, N. Y. Price, only 35 Cents per Bottle.
