Canadian Businessman Believes In Living Fast

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

If it travels fast, see Charles Rathgeb, Jr. He'll be interested.

It isn't on record, but it is likely this 42-year-old Toronto businessman — a sportsman learned to run before he could walk. He still hasn't developed the art of a leisurely stroll. A walk to him is a brisk-paced trot.

He's a partner in the Union Jack racing stable and his steeds campaign on Ontario tracks.

BOUGHT TWO COOPERS

Then, three years ago, he first became enivolved in sports car racing. The speed, skill and art of this sport attracted him and he was annoyed that Canadian-built cars with Canadian drivers were not making it internationally.

He made a deal with another Canadian to produce two racing machines but they were only theoretically quick and they were also-rans. He put more money into faster cars and in 1962 his sports car stable had more than moderate success with 18 over-all firsts.

Pretty good but, for Chuck Rathgeb, not good enough.

He was on hand at Riverside, Calif., last year when an Anglo-American hybrid — an English Cooper fitted with a Ford engine—made its debut in North America and streaked home a winner against the world's classiest sports-racing machinery.

That was more like it. He made a deal on the spot to buy two Coopers and have the Ford engines put in for the 1964 season, then set up the Comstock racing team with himself as manager, a crew chief, mechanic and a couple of experienced drivers.

HIT 180 M.P.H.

They are Ludwig Heimrath, a native of Germany now living in Toronto, who was Canadian racing champion in 1961, and Eppie Wietzes of Toronto, ranked as the most improved driver in 1963 by the Canadian Racing Drivers Association.

Rathgeb unveiled the two cars the other night and announced that they would hit the North American circuit this year. Their top speed is 180 m.p.h.

"They have a good chance to clean up in Canada and show well in the United States," he says.

Their first test is at Davidson, Sask., Sunday. From there they go to Westwood, B.C., for a May 24 race, back to Toronto for the big 200-mile international race at Mosport, Ont., and then a full campaign in Canada and the U.S. over the next few months.

Rathgeb is executive vice-president of Canadian Comstock, a company his father formed nearly 40 years ago. Several years back the firm completed conversion of most of southern Ontario from 25-cycle to 60-cycle power, a 10-year, $200,000,000 job that involved changing every piece of motor-driven electrical equipment in a million homes and business places.

All of which suggests that Rathgeb is no more likely to run out of money than patience in his search for auto-racing laurels.

Second Accused Testifies In Trial Of ALQ Suspects

MONTREAL (CP) — Proceedings against eight suspected members of the terrorist Armee de Liberation in Quebec were postponed for nine days Wednesday following testimony by the Crown's two key witnesses.

A second ALQ suspect turned Crown witness in the morning session and testified he was the getaway car driver in a robbery staged by four of the suspects.

Maurice Leduc, 18, asked for protection of the court, meaning his testimony cannot be used against him.

He was arraigned with the others May 8. Robert Hudon, 20, Andre Wattier, 23, Rene Dion, 17, Jean Gagnon, 22, Jean LaSalle 22, Pierre Nadon, 18 and Claude Perron, 20, face more than 60 charges arising from the looting of Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal Armory in Montreal Jan. 20, the Shawinigan Armory Feb. 20 and a number of holdups.

Leduc was charged only in connection with the $17,000 robbery of a Caisse Populaire (Credit Union) in east-end Montreal and was given bail during a preliminary hearing on the Shawinigan Armory robbery charge.

WAITED AT WHEEL

His testimony followed Tuesday's surprise evidence by Dion who linked all the accused with two armory robberies and five holdups.

Leduc said Wattier asked him to sit at the wheel of a red panel truck at a corner in east-end Montreal March 23.

After waiting for two hours, he said Dion, Wattier, Hudon and Gagnon arrived on foot, carrying canvas bags and asked him to drive to a north-end garage in which police later found the Shawinigan Armory loot.

La Salle, Perron and Nadon were waiting at the garage, Leduc said. He noticed a quantity of rifles on the garage floor.

Defence lawyers Francoit Chapados declined to cross-examine Leduc.

Trenton Man Gets Life Term

PICTOU, N.S. (CP) — Amos Craig, 52, of Trenton, N.S., was sentenced Wednesday to life imprisonment in the Maritime Penitentiary at Dorchester, N. B., for the March 5 shooting of Trenton barber Fred Humphreys.

Craig was found guilty of non-capital murder Friday by a Supreme Court jury. Wednesday Mr. Justice J. H. MacQuarrie passed sentence.

Craig had been charged with capital murder, but was found guilty on a reduced charge after the jury deliberated an hour and 36 minutes.

Humphreys was shot when eating in Lou's Lunch, a Trenton lunch counter operated by Craig's wife.

Robert Craig, Craig's 11-year old son, testified at the trial he saw his father standing on the steps leading to the kitchen, saw the barrel of a gun in his hand and heard a shot.

He said Humphreys stood up, and after a second shot fell to the floor.

Seven witnesses were called during the trial.

Parliament At A Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

WEDNESDAY, May 20, 1964

The Conservatives said they support in general the government's measure to extend the territorial and fishing limit.

A radical reorganization of the 1,000-member staff serving the House of Commons was recommended in a report.

Prime Minister Pearson reiterated that the flag question will not be submitted to a referendum.

The Commons gave third reading to income tax amendments and second reading to Bank Act amendments.

Senator David Walker (PC—Ontario) proposed establishment of a royal commission on corporation law.

THURSDAY, May 21

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to consider an interim supply bill. The Senate sits at 3 p.m.

Citizenship Extension Is Granted

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the world's leading authorities on the history of art has been granted a 10-year extension of his Canadian citizenship to prevent him from becoming a stateless person.

The citizenship department said Wednesday that Citizenship Minister Tremblay has extended the Canadian citizenship of Prof. William S. Heckscher until Jan. 1, 1974. It expired Jan. 1 of this year.

Prof. Heckscher, a naturalized Canadian citizen of German origin, is professor of the history of art at the University of Utrecht in Holland. He is regarded as one of the greatest living authorities in his field.

Prof. Heckscher is married to a Canadian citizen and has three daughters who were born in Canada.

Because there is no job in Canada in the field of the history of art for a man of Prof. Heckscher's standing, he has been living outside of this country for many years.

As a result he fails within a section of the Canadian Citizenship Act which provides that a naturalized Canadian will lose his citizenship if he lives outside of Canada for more than 10 years. Previously, Prof. Heckscher had been granted six extensions of his citizenship to prevent him from becoming stateless.

SNAKE SPECIES

There are about 1,700 species of snakes throughout the temperate and tropical regions of the world.
