HOUSEHOLD HINT

Sticky dates, raisins or figs will come apart easily if placed in the oven for a few minutes.

Put paper gollies between plates and saucers when you stack them, to prevent scratches and chips.

Whenever possible cook vegetables in the bottom of the double boiler while you make the cream sauce in the upper pan. Saves fuel and time.

FIRE BOAC STEWARDS

LONDON (Reuters) — Twenty-two persons working for British Overseas Airways Corporation have been fired for alleged smuggling activities, an airline spokesman said Tuesday. He added that most of those dismissed were British stewards and that a number of other cases are being investigated. The smuggling took place between the British colony of Hong Kong and Calcutta, India.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES DOUGLAS ROSS

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Young Couple

In a wedding at St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church, Lot 7, June 27, 1959, at 9 a.m. Miss Mary Clement MacGregor, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin MacGregor, Burton, P.E.I. was united in marriage with James Douglas Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ross of Velpoon, P.E.I. Rev David McTague performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass, while the bride's young brother, Frankie, served as altar boy. Rev J.N. Trainor of Charlottetown was also present in the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a full length gown of nylon lace and net over tulle, with leg of nylon sleeves and high neckline. The fingertip illusion veil cascaded from a Queen Elizabeth crown of tiny seed pearls. She carried a white prayerbook from which fell streamers with tiny red roses and maiden hair fern. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, June, and the bridesmaids were the bride's cousins, Miss Bonnie MacGregor, of Truro, N.S. and Miss Nadine Rogers of Burton.

The maid of honor wore a ballerina length gown of yellow organza with bolero, wide cummerbund, balloon skirt and matching headpiece. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns in mauve. All carried white prayerbooks from which fell streamers of white with mauve and yellow rosettes. The best man was Mr. Donald Whalen of Charlottetown and the ushers were Messrs Edard McCabe and Kenneth McCabe. The guest pews were marked with bows and white carnations.

During the Mass the choir under the direction of Mrs. Bennett Howard sang "The Holy Family", "O Sanctissima", "O Lord I Am Not Worthy and 'Holy God, We Praise Thee Name.' Immediately following Mass, the bride and groom knelt at the Blessed Virgin's Altar, while Frankie MacGregor sang "Mother At Your Feet I'm Kneeling".

A reception for approximately eighty guests was held at Birch Hill Lodge, Summerside. The toast to the bride was proposed by the groomsmen, Mr. Donald Whalen and responded to by the groom, Miss Beverly Howard was in charge of the guest book.

The brides girls to her attendants were prayerbooks with mother-of-pearl covers and the groom's to the best man and ushers were gold cuff links.

The bride's going-away outfit was a blue dressmaker suit, with white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross spent their honeymoon on Cape Breton Island and other points in Nova Scotia. They have taken up residence in suburban Moncton, N.B. —Photo by Heckbert Studio.

ELLEN'S DIARY

No Matter If Days Hot Nights Are Always Cool

A tale of the hayting we live now on these farms where presently that harvesting will have reached the end. So smartly these perfect days its work continues, each one of the family as always fitting in faultlessly, it seems to us, to his or her role, to move it toward a speedy close. None complained in the heat of the day how demanding it is! And all so happy with the chosen work of their hands.

Jamie, still stained with the perspiration of a morning at the hay fork, stopped to chat in the shade of a lawn-tree before going in to dinner.

"Whew!" he commented stretching a moment at full length on the cool of the grass "this is a hot day!"

"Reckon" we chuckled, naming then one we knew taken up with a less muscular calling, "has his feet up on his desk and a fan going at either ear!" "I reckon he may have!" Jamie grinned. "But he doubtless has his worries—plenty of them! Everyone has. I'll bet he's not so happy as we are, out on the farm making hay. Here we have no bosses to please—only "Grampie" he smiled teasingly as James came by, and Granddaughter. "And he's getting too frail now to bother much with the work and his voice pretty weak for giving orders!"

"As I recall it!" Granddaughter laughed suggestively, mind on the loud signals issued to her at her driving "there are other busy voices in the family!"

Indoors these days, the cooler food to keep a supply of cool drinks on hand for the workers. We smiled as we mixed this and that essence according to expressed wishes and added the sugar and ice cubes required, reflecting that tastes had changed from those which had found a handful of the fine, milled oatmeal in a pail of well—or spring-water a preferred drink in the heat of an oldtime hayting day! The meals too must naturally be good.

"Eat up, boys!" James chuckled (saw and hence ideal) the victuals may not be the daintiest but they're filling!"

Filling they must be—the home cooked bread and rolls, the meats and fish, the cake and pies, and all the cookery which goes to stay strength and spirits for the demands of the busy—and hot hayting days. Hot by day, yes. But the night spreads its refreshing coolness.

"That's what I like about your island!" a visitor remarked the other day, "no matter how hot the days may be, the nights are pleasantly cool." I he smiled "can always get to sleep—and what a nice rest it is when one is comfortable."

"Ho hum!" James' sigh has a pleasant tinkle to it" another day like this, Ellen and we'll have our hayting pretty well rounded up. What a nice week it's been!"

And a nice night too, cool and sweet which takes us now to our rest.
