ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY—Mr. Kenneth MacLeod, Irishtown, narrowly escaped possible fatal injuries on Wednesday, August 6th, when the pole broke in a spraying machine he was using as he turned into a pasture field after spraying a field of potatoes. The tank was partly filled with the poison solution, which spouted out and frightened the horses so that they dragged him until they broke clear and Mr. MacLeod was left with the weight of the heavy machine across his limbs, and the spray pouring over him. Eventually he was able to release himself and made his way home, although suffering severely from shock and pain. Although no bones appear to be broken, he continues to suffer considerably from the effects of the accident, which could have been even more serious had the weight of the machine been across his body. The team was recovered later in a corner of the pasture field.

 Saturday evening, August 2nd, some of the relatives and close friends of Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards met at their charming home on First Street, Summerside, the occasion being the 31st anniversary of their wedding.
 As the gathering came to order a beautiful bouquet was presented to Mrs. Edwards by their granddaughter, little Miss Gwendeth MacDonald. An address was then read by Miss Joyce Edwards and a lovely tri-light lamp and a purse of money was presented by Mr. Earl Sudsbury. There were also several other gifts.
 Mr. Edwards, although taken by surprise, replied in his usual genial manner, thanking all present. A delightful lunch was then served consisting of a splendid assortment of good things including ice cream. A beautiful three tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table. After the delicious lunch, the guests took leave, once more wishing Mr. and Mrs. Edwards many more years of wedded bliss.

"So may we offer you our very best wishes for many more years to come. Then as the shadows lengthen and the end of the road appears may your days be crowned with the reward you deserve. "So now may we ask you to accept this gift as a symbol of our desire to rejoice with you on this happy occasion." Signed by family and friends.

Illustration Station Field Days Prove Very Successful
 Illustration Station Field Days sponsored by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the Provincial Department of Health and Welfare are being largely attended.
 Over 550 farmers attended Field Days held on Illustration Stations operated by J. W. MacKenzie and Son, Rose Valley; Robert Woodside and Son, O'Leary and Zenon Gallant, Urbanville.
 Complete tours were made of farm fields on these well managed stations and experimental projects were reviewed in detail by the supervisor W. N. Black. Farmers attending these meetings showed their interest by taking part in open discussions relative to crop production, fertilization practices; soil conservation problems; pasture fertilization practices including proper management of permanent and rotationally grazed pasture areas. Cereal variety tests were observed and those varieties commonly seeded in the Maritimes, as well as some comparatively new varieties were reviewed.
 The following varieties of oats were dealt with:—
 Beaver—Developed from a cross between Vanguard and Erban. Matures a few days earlier than Abegweit but has been no better than Erban in yield and not as good as Abegweit. A good variety but no better than Erban or Abegweit in most cases.
 Erban—A medium early variety with moderate resistance to leaf rust, strong straw and excellent yield. Erban has been widely grown throughout the province and has in most cases given good satisfaction. It has been faulted for being too tall but the hull percentage indicates that the hull obtained per hundred pounds of grain compares favourably with such varieties as Banner and Victory.
 Ajax—An early maturing variety quite resistant to stem rust and moderately resistant to leaf rust. On the average, it does not yield as well as either Erban or Abegweit and the threshed grain is inclined to be thin and small.
 Victory—One of the older varieties, late maturing and with no disease resistance. If maturity and rust resistance are not important

Illustration Station Field Days in a district Victory will give excellent yields and produce very attractive threshed grain.
 Abegweit 51 An improved strain of Abegweit from which registered seed will be produced and distributed probably in 1953. Almost identical with the original Abegweit but has been consistently higher yielding.
 While farmers were on a tour of the farms Miss Hazel Roland, Victoria, director of Nutrition, Department of Health and Welfare, Charlottetown, addressed the ladies on the topic "Good Food for Everybody."
 Through the courtesy of the National Film Board, Charlottetown films of an agricultural nature were shown by Mr. F. M. Deacon, Fieldman, Provincial Department of Agriculture. Mr. Deacon also conducted a livestock demonstration at the Rose Valley Field Day, pointing out desirable and undesirable features to look for in weeding out the herd.
 Mr. S. C. Wright of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, outlined in a brief talk, some of the results of grass storage on the Falconwood Farm. He also brought greetings from the Provincial Department of Agriculture.
 Dr. George Fisher, director of veterinary services for Prince Edward Island gave a true picture regarding the outbreak of anthrax in the Roseville area in which three horses have died. He mentioned a few of the symptoms and emphasized it was not a contagious disease. It is a bacterial disease, not a virus, and that the infected farms were quarantined and all preventive measures have been implemented.
 At each Field Day, Mr. R. C. Parent, Superintendent, Experimental Station, Charlottetown, discussed the question of grass allage.
 Mr. G. B. Whiteside, Soil Specialist, reviewed the results of the soil survey of the Province, which was conducted as a cooperative project by the Experimental Farm Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, and the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Illustration Station Field Days are to be held at Illustration Station, located at Monticello, Alliston and Iona Aug. 19, 20 and 21, a program of which appears in the press.
