Rev. and Mrs. Henry leave the Island on return Friday morning and are followed by the good wishes of their many friends here.

Two Girls In Suicide Pact

By AUTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) - Two teen-aged girls took gas together Wednesday, apparently aflame with wind and bewitched into a childishly romantic suicide pact. One died, the other is near death.

"I die simply enough, because I haven't enough strength to nourish myself through long, long years," read a note left by the surviving girl, Helen Jacobs, 18, a Columbia University summer school student and daughter of a Chicago labor lawyer. She is a pretty brunette.

The dead girl was Madeline Jean Sommer, 19, missing for a week from her Bergenfield, N.J., home. A blonde, she was equally pretty and well formed.

There was no immediate clue as to how the girls happened to rendezvous for death in a combination art gallery and apartment where Miss Jacobs had been staying only briefly.

The girls were clad in short, filmy nightgowns. An empty half gallon jug of sauterne and a half empty bottle of sherry were found in the apartment on fashionable East 65th street just off Fifth avenue. Evidence of considerable wine was found in Miss Sommer's body.

HEAD ON PILLOW

Four burners and one oven jet were wide open on a kitchen stove. Miss Sommer was stretched languidly on the kitchen floor, her head on a pillow. Miss Jacobs, moaning, lay half in and half out of the kitchen alcove.

Madeline left a terse note, asking only that her mother, Mrs. Irene Sommer, be notified.

However, Miss Jacobs wrote at greater length in an attempt at philosophy:

"Today I die. Not as casually as I should, but then I've always been spasmodically violent anyway. I die simply enough, because I haven't enough life within me to nourish myself through long, long years. Be as kind to yourselves as you have ever been and be as kind to yourselves as I have been cruel. Love Mark and listen to him."

Helen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jacobs of Chicago. The "Mark" mentioned in her note was her 16-year-old brother.

CONCILIATION BOARD ISSUES REPORT IN DISPUTE BETWEEN FORD AND UNION

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) - A conciliation board majority report issued Wednesday in the dispute between Ford Motor Company of Canada and United Automobile Workers Union (UAW) recommended no increase in wages for Ford workers but backed the union in refusing changes in seniority regulations.

Neither company nor union were immediately prepared to comment.

The majority report was issued by Justice Walter F. Schroeder of the Ontario Supreme Court, chairman and J. J. Robinson, Toronto lawyer and company representative. Drummond Wren, union representative, issued a minority report disagreeing on certain basic questions.

The majority report denied a union request for 30 cents an hour increase in wages. Wages at Ford-Windsor range from $1.56 to $2.21 with an average of $1.69. The union based its request on the fact Ford workers in Detroit receive about 30 cents more.

Mr. Justice Schroeder gave an extensive outline of financial benefits granted the union during the last 12 years. He said these combined with a falling market for automobiles made any raise in pay impractical.

UNION SHOP REFUSED

Mr. Justice said Ford could afford the increase out of its profits without passing it to the consumer. He said union figures proved this.

Both reports agreed on the question of seniority. The company asked for a reduction in the seniority agreement from company-wide to plant-wide. The present agreement requires that on any layoff more than 14 days, the company relieve men from their jobs on the basis of company-wide seniority.

The union has asked a union shop clause on the basis that it is a logical step from the Rand formula which has been in effect for several years at Ford. The report said, in effect, that it would be an infringement of the rights of an individual to force him to join a union. The Rand formula provides a compulsory union membership but does not require the employee to be a union member.

East & West

western nations to define the line for their proposed defence alliance in Southeast Asia.

India would head a three-man commission including Canada and Poland to supervise both the armistice terms and the elections in Viet Nam.

(The Canadian cabinet is to decide Thursday whether to accept membership in the commission.)

STIFFER TERMS

The neutralization terms for divided Viet Nam are stiffer than those for the other two states. The two sections of the country are forbidden to line up with either East or West in a military alliance under any conditions, according to the 13-point declaration.

In regard to Cambodia and Laos, the declaration says "the two governments will not join in any agreement with other states in such a way as to create an obligation to take part in a military alliance which does not conform to the principles of the UN charter."

Cambodia and Laos must not agree to foreign military bases "as long as their security is not menaced. Both states, however, will be permitted to accept foreign military aid and instruction for defence purposes.

All the Communist delegates hailed the Indo-China settlement as a great triumph for the cause of peace.

FAILED ON KOREA

Unmentioned in the conference wind-up was the fact that the peace talks failed in one of their two talks - to get a Korean settlement.

Unlike the Korean phase of the conference, all Indo-China negotiations were conducted behind closed doors. Even then, a deadlock set in until the arrival on the scene of France's dynamic premier and foreign minister who made no bones about direct talks with the enemy in Indo-China.

Mendes-France will fly back to Paris for a report to parliament later today. The 47-year-old statesman has gained tremendous stature in France.

In saying farewell to Molotov Wednesday, he was reported to have discussed European affairs and later conferred on the same problem with Bedell Smith and British Foreign Secretary Eden.

RESPECT U. S. ATTITUDE

A Chinese communist spokesman said Wednesday night "he deems it regrettable" that the United States did not join in the final declaration.

"Despite this, we pay close attention to the attitude made known in the statement of the United States that it will respect this agreement," he added. "This promise is welcome. We hope it will be observed."

There is still some confusion on the detailed terms of the settlement since the 13-point declaration refers constantly to the three cease-fire agreements which will not be revealed until all the fighting is completely stopped. This may take some time because of scattered hostilities in Indo-China's remote jungles, mountains and swamps.

Correspondents pressed the delegates for details on the neutralization of the three states. The chief British spokesman told them that as far as Britain is concerned, Laos and Cambodia "will not take part in any Southeast Asian pact."

SAFEGUARD RIGHTS

In his protest to the conference, Viet Nam's Foreign Minister Tran Van Do said his government reserved the liberty "to safeguard the sacred rights of the Viet Nam people for political unity, national independence and freedom."

Bedell Smith pointed to Do's statement as a good reason why the United States stood on the sidelines. He reiterated the American stand "that peoples are entitled to determine their own future."

Swimming Tests At Brighton Beach

The Kiwanis Pool at Brighton was a centre of great interest on Monday July 19, when Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety tests for Beginners and Juniors were conducted by Mr. Kent Ellis.

This year the Red Cross National Swimming and Water Safety Committee has changed the requirements for the Beginner and Junior Awards. The new tests are more difficult than those used previously and therefore some juvenile swimmers find it necessary to repeat the Courses several times before they succeed in swimming the required distance.

66 candidates tried the test on Monday and 44 merited awards. Those who were unsuccessful will continue in the same class for another two weeks, when they will have another opportunity to achieve the award.

The following boys and girls passed the tests:

JUNIORS

BEGINNERS

Plans Return To Antarctic

CLEVELAND (AP) - Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who was 65 last October, said Wednesday he "is planning to return to the Antarctic as soon as I can get together an expedition."

He told the Poultry and Egg National Board in a speech that further exploration of the south polar regions is important from both the military and economic standpoint.

"If the Panama Canal were knocked out by an A-bomb, we would have to get our ships from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the Strait of Magellan or between Antarctica and South America via Drake passage," Byrd said.

ESSENTIAL TO DEFENCE

"It would be essential, therefore, for this nation to have control of that part of Antarctica that is nearest to Cape Horn and of the islands between the cape and Antarctica," Byrd said.

From the economic standpoint, the retired United States navy officer said, "in the foreseeable future we will be greatly in need of these resources (coal, uranium, oil, and other minerals) that lie untouched at the bottom of the world."

Byrd, third man to explore the South Pole, first flew there Nov. 29, 1929, and made other trips there in 1933 and 1947. First was Roland Amundsen, a Norwegian, in 1911. An Englishman, Capt. Robert F. Scott, got to the South Pole in 1912 but perished on the return trip.

Singing Star Will Marry

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - Lu Ann Simms, 21-year-old singing star of the "Arthur Godfrey and his Friends" television show, will be married in New York Saturday to Loring B. Buzzell, 26, New York City music publisher.

A Columbia Broadcasting System spokesman said Miss Simms would resume her program in the fall "as far as we know."

Hoan declared the conference "a complete success" and pledged that his government would observe all the agreements in the hope they would lead to friendly relations among all three states and France.

Church Of Scotland

from Charlottetown to take up residence in Cape Traverse - the congregation was disbanded and the church property sold.

In 1946-47, the congregation was reorganized by Rev. J. H. Bishop, B.A., and the Orange Hall was secured as a place of worship. At the time of reorganization a women's auxiliary was formed with Mrs. Percy Sharam as its first president.

Later a Sabbath School was organized; and by 1952, the congregation became strengthened sufficiently to consider the erection of a church building. To this end, a site was purchased on Birchwood St., by the Women's Auxiliary, and it was mainly through the efforts of this organization that a start was made to secure funds to defray expenses of building, etc.

The site was purchased in 1952, and the first sod was turned by Mrs. Maria Mutlow, in a dedication service in June of 1953, conducted by Rev. J. H. Bishop, with dedication prayer being offered by Rev. A. Johnston, minister of the Free Church congregation of Kinglesse, Fife, Scotland.

On Jan. 17, 1954 the church was opened.

Rev. Prof. MacKenzie, M.A., was silver medalist of his year at the University of Glasgow, and was also examiner of philosophy, at the University under the terms of the Ferguson Bursary.

Rev. MacKenzie and Rev. MacLeod were moderators of the church. Rev. MacKenzie in the centenary year 1943, and Rev. MacLeod in 1941.

Rev. MacKenzie and Rev. MacLeod leave July 23rd for Princeton, N. J. U.S. to attend the Council of the World Presbyterian Alliance. They will return to P.E.I. early in August for service, the actual dedication service being held over until the arrival of delegates from the home church.

At the first service held in the church the ordinance of baptism was administered to two children, Cynthia Dawn Smith and John Floyd MacKinnon.

The first communion service was held on June 6th, 1954 at which time five new members were received, three by profession and two N. J. U.S. to attend the Council of the World Presbyterian Alliance. They will return to P.E.I. early in August for service, the actual dedication service being held over until the arrival of delegates from the home church.

Following the dedication service at which many visitors were in attendance from various island points, a reception was held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Bishop, 10 Lapthorne Ave., at which the ministers and elders and their wives were entertained to tea. Mrs. Mackenzie and Mrs. MacLeod, wives of officiating clergymen, poured and Mrs. Robert Carruthers of Kensington assisted the hostess, Mrs. Bishop, in serving.
