Ch'town Hockey Meeting

There was nothing decided at the hockey meeting which was held at the Charlottetown Legion home Tuesday night. There was a good turnout for the meeting, but there was no organization and the proposed meeting never got off the ground.

The idea which was being voiced earlier in the season of forming an Island senior loop was considered out by those present at Tuesday night's session due to the entry of the Summerside Combines and the Summerside RCAF into the Prince County League.

Sandy Frizzell said Tuesday night: "the Royals will be in operation and going after the Maritime Intermediate championship whether there is a league formed here or not." Johnny Reid who sponsored Johnny's Flying Hawks, last season, suggested that there should be an executive elected and that the executive should be given the power to decide upon which team a player would play.

Mr. Frizzell protested strongly against this suggestion as he said that his team will never be broken up by an executive as he has spent too much money and time gathering together the few players he has to allow this to take place. Let anyone else who is interested in entering a team go out and find their own hockey team and never mind looking for any of the Royals.

This columnist feels that both these gentlemen are a little off base if they hope to capture the interest of local hockey fans. We think that any sponsor that wishes to back a team this season should first find a coach to represent him. The coach should be more closely associated with the players and allow the coach to pick the team.

We feel that Johnny and Sandy should both allow their players from last year's teams to go free agent and when it comes time to hold practice sessions if they can persuade these players to turn out with their respective teams for the coming season more power to them. If both men stand pat with last year's players and refuse to allow them to be released we don't think there will be a sufficient amount of talent in the area to form a league that would capture the interest of local fans. On the other hand if the players are allowed to line up with a team of their choice we think that they could come up with a league that would provide good rivalry and thus capture the interest of the fans.

Hockey on the senior level is in a sad sad situation in Charlottetown at the present time and unless some of the people who are in a position to help, it can sit down and give and take a little it will remain that way.

The big stumbling block appears to be that the other teams fear the power of the Royals, but we think that if any sponsor who is thinking of backing a team was to get a coach and put him to work at moulding a team together that he could come up with a team that would defeat the Royals. They only have about eight regular players and these players aren't getting any younger so surely if you look hard enough you could come up with a team of equal if not of better calibre than the Frizzell sponsored aggregation.

Tid Bits From Here And There

Vancouver Canucks are beginning to look like comers in the Western Hockey League. And don't count out Victoria Maple Leafs-last year's league champion Denver Invaders-either. The Canucks skated the San Francisco Seals into the Vancouver Forum ice Tuesday night for a 10-1 victory, their second lop-sided win over the California club in two meetings. Last time they beat them 7-0. At Victoria Lou Janowski scored at 8:41 of the overtime to give the Maple Leafs a 4-3 win over Los Angeles Blades.

Percy Cerutty, former Australian track and field coach, said yesterday Australia's "conceited" men and "too-masculine" women at the Tokyo Olympic Games made him sick. Cerutty told reporters on his return to Australia that "Australian women were among the biggest bunch of flat-chested, big shouldered females ever collected. Their feats do not heighten Australia in the eyes of the world. We are looked upon as a semi-masculine country. "And the "conceit" of some of the male athletes had made him "very annoyed and very sad for Australia," he added.

Manuel Conzalez fourth ranked-welterweight, stopped Peter Schmidt of Toronto at 2.59 of the eighth round of their scheduled 10-round boxing match Tuesday night. Conzalez who fights out of Houston alternated at playing cat and mouse. But he found the range to rock Schmidt's head with as many as five punches in a combination. Conzalez weighted 152, Schmidt 151.

There will be two basketball meetings held at Charlottetown's City Hall tonight. The first meeting is scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m. The election of an executive for the men's City basketball league and the listing of players along with the finalization of league plans will be the business of this meeting. The second meeting wil commence at 8.30 and this will be for all ladies interested in contributing to a City league for ladies. If not able to attend anyone interested is requested to send a repdesentative to the meeting.

Brier Film To Be Shown

Arrangements have been made for the showing of a film of the 1964 Brier in this city in the near future. The Macdonald Tobacco Company each year arranges for the preparation of these films of the Canadian Curling Championships and for their showing throughout Canada and the United States.

The present film is of particular interest to Prince Edward Islanders as it shows many of the thrilling highlights of last year's curling classic at the Charlottetwon Forum. It shows features, the final thrilling game between Art Burke's rink of Charlottetown and Lyall Dagg of British Columbia.

The film will be shown Saturday evening at the Charlottetown Curling Club to curlers in attendance at the annual meeting of the P.E.I. Curling Association. On Monday evening there will again be showings of the 35-minute film at the Charlottetown Curling Club at 7.30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. The members of the Belvedere Golf and winter club will have the opportunity of viewing it on Tuesday evening at the same hours.

FOOTBALL PAD FOR HOCKEY STAR

Toronto Maple Leaf trainers Bobby Haggert (left) and Tommy Naylor display equipment designed to save Leaf defenceman Kent Douglas from bangs and bruises. The forearm pad was supplied by the Toronto Argonaut football club and is the type used by linemen for blocking. On the ice, Douglas blocks a lot of shots with his arm, thus needing the added protection. A sponge and fibre pad covered with leather also has been added to Douglas' right glove to soften the blows. Larose Gets Two Markers; Canadiens Down Leafs 5-2

By TOM WILLIAMS

TORONTO (CP) — Montreal Canadiens grabbed a share of first place in the National Hockey League Wednesday night, dumping Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 to stretch their undefeated streak to six games and hand the Leafs their first loss of the season.

The victory tied Canadiens and Leafs at the top of the standing with nine points each. Chicago, Detroit and New York are bunched behind them with seven points each and Boston trails with one.

A speedy line of Bob Rousseau, Claude Larose and Gilles Tremblay packed most of the punch for Canadiens, who held an edge most of the way through the game. The Leafs, who tired noticeably in the second and third periods, were playing their second game in as many nights, having defeated Chicago 3-2 Tuesday at Chicago.

Larose fired two goals, while Rousseau scored one and Tremblay picked up three assists. Claude Provost and Ralph Backstrom connected for Montreal's other goals.

Don McKenney and rookie Ron Ellis counted for Toronto.

A crowd of 14,006 watched McKenney shoot Leafs into the lead at 2.23 of the wide-open first period, picking up Bob Baun's slapped pass and shooting in one motion from 20 feet to beat Charlie Hodge in the Montreal nets.

Provost tied it 1-1 at 5.45, with Canadiens playing five men to Toronto's four. Backstrom broke around Leafs defenceman Carl Brewer and forced goalie Johnny Bower to make a sprawling save and Provost eluded a check to lift the rebound high into the nets for his fourth goal of the season.

Bower fanned on Rousseau's rising slap shot from the blueline at 10.21 of the second period to make it 2-1 for Canadiens. Ellis tied it again at 2-2 when he took a pass from Frank Mahovlich and fired a 15-foot shot past Hodge at 16.04.

But Larose came right back 28 seconds later with his first goal of the game when he was left unprotected in front of the Leafs' net and deflected Rousseau's pass from the corner of the rink between Bower's legs.

St. John Applies For Track Meet

SAINT JOHN, N.B. Last year the Legion sponsored the Eastern Canadian events in Saint John. Saskatoon is also bidding for the national meet.

Clay Predicts A Ninth Round KO

By ED TUNSTALL

BOSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay or Muhammed Ali, the world's heavyweight boxing champion by either name, predicts former champion Sonny Liston "will be mine in nine" when they meet in Boston Nov. 16. "But I may have to shorten that a bit."

Clay held a full-blown press conference Wednesday when he kicked off his Boston training sessions. Most of the adjectives he used in the room crowded with sports writers, photographers and newsreel cameramen were in praise of his talents.

"He's in for a bloody battle, I'll tell you that," Clay proclaimed.

"There'll be no hurt shoulder," he said, referring to the February fight in which Clay won the title from Liston when Liston failed to answer the bell for the seventh round because of an injured shoulder.

"This fight will end with Liston on his back," Clay said, "I'll guarantee that."

"I didn't really want to make a prediction on this fight," he said. "I didn't want to give Liston a chance to get back to his stool in the corner.

HAVING STOOLS MADE

"I'm having some 'Sonny Liston sit - down stools' made. You'll be able to buy them at the fight."

But this piece of prophecy was forthcoming nevertheless:

"Right now, I'd say he's mine in nine, but I'm in such good shape—the best of my life—I may have to shorten that to four just before the fight."

He lapsed into the realm of rhyme again to offer that "after four rounds of fast pace, Liston will be on his ace."

His newly-acquired "strategy adviser," old-time Negro comedian Stepinfechit, said he is briefing Clay on techniques used by Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion of decades past.

"But they is secret," Stepinfechit drawled, "but they is going to surprise lots of folks."

The champion said he now weighs 215 and will be down to 208 for the fight two pounds less than for the first Liston fight.

He said he heard that Liston, who is training at a resort motel at Plymouth, Mass., has been belting sparring partners around, but the champion said he's not impressed.

"I understand he's had some boys I beat up a few years ago," Clay said. "He just brought in a lot of bums."

The 15-round match is set for the Boston Garden and before a theatre television audience.

The champion said he is a little disappointed at the fight prices.

"I made history the first fight when ringside tickets were the highest ever at $250," he said. "Now they're the lowest at $50. I guess I just got to make history anywhere I go."

Former Star Trawick Says Would Never Do It Again

By JOE DUPUIS

MONTREAL (CP)—The retired athletic great, asked what he would do if he had his life to live over again, usually replies that he wouldn't change one word in the script.

Not Herb Trawick.

If he could go back to page one, he says, he'd never play football.

"It's too brutal a sport. The fans don't understand the punishment a man takes. I wouldn't encourage my kids (he has a son) to play the game.

"I'm not bitter. I was lucky. But there are hundreds of kids playing the game who end up as athletic bums."

This is the same Herb Trawick who played 11 seasons with Montreal Alouettes, was twice voted outstanding lineman and, on quitting in 1957, had his No. 56 sweater retired as a tribute to his greatness.

And it's the same Herb Trawick who fought his way up from a Pittsburgh slum, a Negro who today grips hard-earned security as a Montreal businessman.

But though he may have mixed feelings about the sport that helped him on the way, he really isn't bitter. And he can't conceal a certain affection for the game.

"I was fortunate to be able to play football and, because of it, to be exposed to opportunities," he says. "As long as I am healthy, I don't intend to lose the opportunities I have been given."

COACHES RIFLES LINE

And so, while running a busy distribution agency and a trucking business—a couple of firms that employ 60 people at peak periods—Trawick is the coach with Quebec Rifles, new entry in the semi-pro United Football League

He's associated with two old buddies—Sam Etcheverry, the former Alouette quarterback who is head coach of the Rifles, and Ray Cicia, Rifles executive director, who was Trawick's partner on the Alouette line.

The fact is that Trawick has never really been far from football even in retirement. He has coached amateur teams in the area and one of his clubs, Lakeshore Alouettes, won a Canadian intermediate title.

And he brings more than a little understanding to the job of coaching linemen in a league where players get $1,500 a season, about what Trawick got when he came to Canada after the war.

"They're like me when I came up in pro ball," he says. "I know their problems."

One problem is the danger that the players will squander their football earnings and be left with no money and no career when their playing days are over.

That didn't happen to Trawick. He invested much of his football pay in the distribution agency. The truck-washing business is a recent acquisition

He'd probably like to be able to devote more time to coaching without the burden of business interests.

But with a wife, son and daughter at home in suburban St. Laurent and another daughter at college in the U.S., Herb Trawick is not going to let go of enterprises that spell security

Rifles Release Seven Players

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Rifles released seven players Wednesday in a move designed to trim the squad to a "more functional group" for the stretch drive in the United Football League.

"We are coming into the tail end . . . of our season and the coaches wanted the best in a more functional, closely - knit group," general manager J. I. Albrecht said in explaining the surprise move.

Rifles have won only three games this season, while losing six. They are seeking to end their first year in the UFL with a .500 won-and-lost average. With five games left to play, Quebec is in third place in the UFL's eastern division, eight points out of first place.

Rangers Down Bruins; Win First Home Game

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Rangers combined a hard-hitting blue line defence with a sustained offence Wednesday night and turned in their first home-ice victory of the National Hockey League season, beating Boston Bruins 3-1

Goalie Marcel Paille, who had a shutout until the last seven minutes of play, had plenty of help as the Rangers checked the Bruins consistently.

New York, which had managed only one tie in three previous starts at home, got its first goal in the opening period when Vic Hadfield beat Boston goalie Ed Johnston on a backhander 41 seconds after Leo Boivin was penalized for tripping rookie Lou Angotti. Angotti's pass set it up for Hadfield

The Rangers blitzed Johnston with 16 shots in the second period for the best shooting period of the season. Two got by Phil Goyette made it 2-0 at the 35 second mark, converting passes from Arnie Brown and Camille Henry. Brown and Dick Duff set up Earl Ingarfield's wrapup goal at 7:22.

Paille, who made 21 saves, lost his shutout when Bruin rookie Ron Schock beat him at 12:58 of the third period. Schock scored after a scramble in front of the Ranger nets while Hadfield was serving a double minor penalty.

First period—1. New York, Hadfield 2 (Marshall, Angotti) 14:14. Penalties—Johnson 0:15; Ingarfield 7:30; Balfour 11:05: Boivin 13:33.

Second period—2. New York, Goyette 1 (Brown, Henry) 0:35. 3. New York, Ingarfield 2 (Brown, Duff) 7:22. Penalty—Brown 2:54

Taylor Pressing Brown's Yardage

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Taylor, Washington Redskins' No. 1 draft choice, is pressing Jimmy Brown of Cleveland Browns for total yardage gained in the latest National Football League statistics.

Taylor is the only rookie listed among the leaders in both rushing and pass receiving. His gains of 398 running and 355 catching add up to 753, compared to Brown's 841.

Brown still holds a comfortable lead in the rushing department with 664 yards to 599 by Don Perkins of Dallas Cowboys. Taylor ranks fifth behind John Henry Johnson of Pittsburgh Steelers and Jim Taylor of Green Bay Packers.

In the pass receiving rankings led by Johnny Morris of Chicago Bears with 51 for 632 yards, Charley Taylor is tied for seventh with 26 catches.

Johnny Unitas of the high-flying Baltimore Colts is the top passer based on percentage of completions 52.1, touchdown passes 13, interception percentage 2.1, and average yards gained 9.47. Bart Starr of Green Bay and Fran Tarkenton of Minnesota Vikings are the top contenders.

Lenny Moore of Baltimore leads the scoring race with 66 points on 11 touchdowns. Then comes Jim Bakken, St Louis' kicker, with 63.

Yale Lary of Detroit, with a 47.2-yard average, has taken over the punting lead from Tommy Davis of San Francisco '49ers.

SPORT ECHOES

Summerside Bureau of The Guardian

Experience Looking Good

We predicted that the Toronto Maple Leafs would fall like all the other leaves are doing this autumn because they had too many old-timers in the line-up, but right now they are on the top of the heap, and some of the oldsters have been chiefly responsible for putting them there. Using Bower and Sawchuk alternately might be the answer to Punch Imlach's goal tending problem. Both boys (if you can still call them that,) know the techniques of good goal-guardianship, but the lone, steady strain of continuous play could be too much for them. Spelling each other off might mean a brilliant half-season for both. Bathgate is still making the Leaf management happy for last year's horse-trading, and Red Kelly, no spring chicken, is off to a fine start. Perhaps we short-changed experience when we relegated Toronto to the also-rans. You've got to have a lot more than young legs, and the whoop-te-doo of youth to win hockey matches. To versify it: youth isn't always seved, you see — for many, many gents—have hobbled on to victory — on crutches called experience.

A Popular Sport

Soccer is getting to be a very popular sport among the high school boys of Prince Edward Island. There are three levels of soccer played in the province under the administration of the P.E.I. Interscholastic Athletic Association. "A", "B" and "C", the latter for grade eight and under. Kensington seems to have a particularly strong team in the senior "B" East-Prince zone. They have cleaned up on all the other teams in their Bailiwick, and held S.H.S., a senior "A" team to a one-all tie. Unlike the Maritime system of placing teams in "A" "B" and "C" in Baseball and Softball, which most resembles a grab-bag the system of classifying soccer teams on P.E.I. is more clearly defined. If a high school has over 300 pupils enrolled, grades 11 and 12 go into senior "A", grades 9 and 10 into junior "A". Schools with an enrollment of under 300 are in the "B" brackets. The game is said to be great fun and exercise for the boys, which alone recommends it, but there'll be no stampede of spectators to the game sites for a little while yet. Mr. Gus Fan, why don't you try watching one of those games. You might like it. Hundreds of thousands of Englishmen can't be wrong.

It will be Hockey night in Summerside on November 10th, and a large turn-out of fans is expected for this first game of the new season. Summerside Combines and Summerside Juniors, Island and Maritime champs respectively, will be two of the clubs participating. Borden and RCAF are the other two. With a regulation here and there that might bolster Borden's chances, this should turn out to be a banner season.

An Awful Ribbing

We got an awful ribbing about the face at the top of this column. The "Realm's" was the most unkindest cut of all. He said we'd been taking pictures for the last twenty years, and finally got one fit to insert in the column. Even my wife joined in the act. She said the picture looked like Jack Benny looks when the joke is on him. You know, that "egg-on-face" look for which Mr. Benny is famous. Well, the first time we saw "The Realm's" picture, we figured the comic section had got on the wrong page. We thought it was Dagwood after eating too many sandwiches. And give us time, we'll think of a snappy comeback for my wife too for her cute remark.
