NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Moncton Times points out that "the bricks brought from Ontario (purchased from President Jaffray of the Toronto Globe) and used in the new railway station, cost laid down in Moncton, about forty dollars a thousand. Our own pressed bricks could be furnished for about half the cost." Business is business, you know.

Mr. Mallory and Mr. Haycock, the Patron leaders, allege that the order is all right politically and otherwise. The Montreal Gazette thinks that the test of this opinion can be left till the Ontario election date. If it is not then shown that the Patron movement has started on the stubble of the Grit farm, there will be an apology due to the directors.

The Toronto Globe raises a plea for Mr. Tarte that he should not be condemned until he has been investigated and found guilty. This causes the Montreal Gazette to remark that the breed of the ox that is being gored makes a great difference in the point of view of the Ontario organ of the Laurier Government. The paper that during the last election campaign raised a daily shriek that Sir Charles Tupper was a robber and a fraud is in a poor position to ask for fair treatment for a besmirched friend. Sir Charles Tupper was neither investigated nor found guilty; nor will any Liberal in a responsible position even propose to investigate him.

The expense of sending a team of twenty men to Bisle every year is getting out of all proportion to the receipts of the D. R. A., according to an exchange. In 1893 it cost $5,448.21, and in 1896, $5,656.47. The expenditure for the team for 1897 will be the largest yet. They were sent a week earlier than their predecessors at a cost of $400 or $500. They were transported to and from Liverpool in some of the best and most expensive ships sailing out of Montreal, at an additional cost of $400 or $500. The allowance for maintenance in England has been increased from 6s per day to 8s, and now 10s is allowed. The Military Gazette says that the revenue of the D. R. A. is not increasing, while the expenditure is, so that it is imperative that the money prizes be reduced at the Ottawa meeting or the expenditure on Bisle curtailed. It is a fallacy to suppose that an additional $5,600 per year can be obtained from the Government.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER

Denies that he intends giving up the Conservative Leadership.

WINNIPEG, Man., September 26.—Sir Charles Tupper reached Winnipeg on Saturday, accompanied by Laly Tupper, and spent Sunday with his son here. The veteran leader was somewhat fatigued after the long journey last night, but otherwise is in excellent health. Sir Mackenzie Bowell also arrived by the same train as Sir Charles. Both deny that their visit west has any political significance. Interviewed tonight, Sir Charles Tupper said:—"Sir Mackenzie Bowell and myself met purely by chance. I had no communication with him since I left Great Britain, and I am quite sure that Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. Mr. Macdonald have been as much amused and surprised at the arrangements invented for the management of the Liberal-Conservative party by our opponents as I have been myself. It is quite true that I am devoting a large amount of attention to the management of the gold mining interests that I have been appointed to take charge of, having made large pecuniary sacrifices to accept the leadership of the Liberal-Conservative party in Canada. I have felt at liberty to meet the pecuniary demands upon myself by devoting a portion of my time to business, a course rendered necessary by the loss of the income which I previously enjoyed. I have the satisfaction of believing that in exerting myself in securing a substantial return to the British capitalists who have formed the companies with which I am connected, I will not only be providing for my own necessities, but adopting a course that will be eminently beneficial to the country. I cannot but feel flattered, however, by the evident anxiety of the Government press to dissociate me from my connection with the party who have honored me by making me their leader. When I went to England on business to which I referred, the Liberal press proclaimed that I would never return, but when I returned sooner than they desired, they invent that I wish to sever my connection with the Liberal-Conservative party. I should imagine that they have just now more pressing and important affairs to deal with in the threatened disintegration of their own party to which they will probably find it much more profitable to devote themselves than to the political arrangement of their opponents."

THE EXHIBITION MANAGEMENT.

Sir.—Now that the agricultural exhibition and races are over I desire, with your permission, to offer a few remarks in a critical but at the same time not unfriendly spirit.

I am a shareholder. My motive for taking shares was to promote the agricultural interests of the Province, seeing that shipbuilding was "a thing of the past" and that the Province was thrown upon agricultural and fishing resources.

In my opinion too much attention was paid to breeding trotting horses. It did a lot of harm. Farmers were induced to go into breeding this class of horses. It was attractive to the sons. Not more than one out of fifty of such horses proved a success. The others were almost worthless as farm, carriage, roadsters or teamsters. A racing horse, when he proves a failure, has to be fed over the winter at a cost of not less than fifty dollars, is very little good on a farm and may be considered an encumbrance. Carriage and draft horses are always saleable at fair prices.

The exhibits of cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry may be considered satisfactory, the accommodation provided by the Company is ample.

I regret to say that in my opinion the exhibits of vegetables, fruit, &c., have proved a failure, there has been a marked falling off in this respect since the Exhibition ground were opened. There should be two classes for exhibition. At present the products of the plow have to compete with our market gardeners and amateur experts for vegetables. This is most unfair. Half a dozen people residing within a mile of Charlottetown have, for years, carried off most of the prizes. There should be two classes of prizes, first and most important for the products of the plow in not less than one acre of ground, such as mangle warts, turnips, corn, etc. There should be a second competition among gardeners and amateurs. It is folly to suppose that the products of the plow can compete with a person who cultivates about an acre of ground highly fertilized.

Then, again, judges should not be competitors. There is a suspicion that "log-rolling" has been going on, as judges are appointed from competing classes. It would be better to ask some of our "old folks" who are not interested and have a good knowledge of gardening to act as judges. There are several such residing in the city who would willingly serve, but they are not asked. Again, I consider the managers are short sighted in charging the excessive entrance fees they do. They are killing the business. In these days of low prices nobody cares to pay more than 25 cents for a days run of the exhibition. At present the rates are 25 cents for opening day. If it happens to be a fine day some folks who have money to spare go out to witness the opening ceremony, and hear His Honors address. The attractive days are the two days of the races. I consider it an imposition to ask visitors to pay 50 cents for each day, and if they happen to leave the grounds during the day on business and return the same day another 50 cents is exacted.

I think a fifty-cent ticket should be good for the four days of the exhibition, and a twenty-five cent ticket for one day. Cheap rates would attract crowds of people who stay away because they consider fifty cents an imposition.

Several joint stock companies in our small community have gone down and been revived again on a reduced capital, the original owners getting about twenty-five cents on the dollar. This has been so with the flour mill, the Inland Steam Navigation Co., and the gas works. It is hard upon the shareholders, but upon the whole I think it is the best plan, as it infuses new life into played out companies. Possibly it would be the best course for the Exhibition Company to go through this process. Purchasers would be found who would bid for the Exhibition grounds what they considered it worth as a paying speculation, and then they would go ahead.

Your obedient servant,
DANIEL DAVIES.

THE TARTE-GRENIER CASE.

Mr. Tarte Volunteers Certain Information—Admits He Was Mistaken.

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—The case for the prosecution was finished at Saturday's sitting of the court of Queen's bench and the defence will begin tomorrow morning. Mr. Tarte is to be called by the defence. He Saturday afternoon volunteered the information that he had been mistaken when he had said he did not know the $5,000 received from Pacaud came from J. P. Whelan. The judge would not allow him to give the names of those to whom he paid the money. He did not remember that Mr. Carlebois was treasurer and consequently he could not have himself paid the money from Rimouski. He said it was a matter of appreciation whether the credit of the legislature was discounted in the Langelier $5,000 note matter. As the government was dismissed on September 7th, 1891, he did not go on with the printing for which the letter of credit was given. It was an open secret now that for some time previously the Mercier government could not transact any business. He had not paid the note but had intended to do so. He had asked Mr. Hall to allow him to go on with the printing. He mentioned that he had had the letter of credit but it was not he who had discounted it. The credit of the province was so little involved that he did not make any protest. He was questioned at length about the Beemer pipe deal and said that the money he got from Benjamin Trudet was for services rendered. What were the services? He had prepared memoranda and written articles in La Canadien. He did not know what Trudet did with these. "Was it necessary to work the alermen to vote for lowest tender?" The defence objected and the court maintained the objection. This brought out a vigorous protest from Mr. Leboeuf. They had to show that Mr. Tarte was a boodler and the court refused to allow them the legal means. Mr. Tarte said he did not keep books. He denied getting $1,500 from the Lake St. John railway. The list of payments amounted to $8,000 made to him by Mr. McGreevy. He said was not for himself personally but for the paper La Canadien. In 1877 he had sold all his financial interest in that paper. McGreevy had asked him to buy the paper and had advanced sums up to $1,500 or $2,000. This was the man he drove out of parliament. Mr. Gobeil, deputy minister of public works, was called but it was ruled his evidence could only be given in rebuttal. The case was then closed by the calling of minor witnesses.

MISS BOOTH'S MEETING.

Sir.—I feel after reading Mr. "Onlooker's" untruthful remarks I should give our friends at least an explanation as many have asked our soldiers about the matter. Anyone can see "Onlooker's" remarks were not an objection but a nasty spirit underneath it all. The expenses of the meeting were heavy and only a silver collection was announced through press etc. The widow and mite in question was not refused admission but was on hand when the doorkeeper told "Onlooker" the admission was silver collection. She did not attempt to go in, and since has said "Onlooker's" remarks were not true, did not put in any money but came away and met "Onlooker" telling his tale of woe. This lady says several of her friends went in free, and will see the door keeper and explain she did not make any objection.

A good number went in and did not pay. Even prominent business men, who no doubt took part in the inside collection. The army is not sustained and kept up by "cranks" and "Onlookers," but by friends who cheerfully pay what they can and we are proud to say many widows are among our best friends. We are glad to know the audience at Miss Booth's meeting was made up of Army friends and well-wishers which Charlottetown is noted for. Trusting our friends will not pay any attention to anonymous "Onlooker."

Dress Goods Growth

From small beginnings our Dress Goods Department has grown to its present size and usefulness. Years ago we planted the seed, and work and watchfulness has made its growth rapid. This season's stock is greater and more carefully chosen than ever before. We have introduced a new idea in Dress Goods selling. The annoyance of seeing your costumes duplicated on your neighbors back, caused us to decide to get a much larger variety of patterns and materials, but a much smaller quantity of each pattern. In our finest lines we have only purchased enough for one costume. This attention, we think, will be appreciated by everyone. The following are a few of many attractive patterns.

48 inch Costume cloth, extra heavy weight, in ten different shades

We Might Say worth 65 Cents

We will say our price for spot cash 40c. All wool heavy serge in colors and black, 42 inch, only 32c.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always weeps the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young girl suffers, bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and is a specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of woman. Careless, easy going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Brooklyn, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.
