Describes Vast Changes In Confectionery In 100 Years

Rotarians heard an interesting talk on "confectionery" by Ralph Balderston at the weekly luncheon held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. He was explaining his classification as required under his acceptance into membership recently. "It is doubtful if there is any modern industry that has experienced more radical changes during the past 100 years than trade of confectionery-making," Mr. Balderston said after touching on the primitive use of honey by Greek and Roman doctors to disguise a bitter draught of medicine. Prior to 1851 the manufacture of boiled sweets, as candy was then called the industry was largely controlled in England. Because of the great Exposition at London in the 19th Century, and the unique display of candies and sweetmeats, other nations realized the possibilities and especially Germany imitated all of their choicest products.

Murray Harbor Train Delayed

The Murray Harbor train arrived at the Southport terminal yesterday at 2:00 p.m., three and one half hours behind schedule. The delay was said to have been occasioned by a breakdown of the train's diesel engine prior to its departure from Murray Harbor. The train is reported to have left Southport on the return journey only a few minutes after its regular departure time.

Mr. Balderston explained in detail the amazing scope of some modern candy-making machinery which he recently saw in operation. "The increase in production in Canada, particularly in chocolate bars, has meant an expenditure in labour and wage earnings tending to make the industry a large one in the field of merchandising," Mr. Balderston concluded. The speaker was introduced by the chairman Stan MacInnis and thanked by Jim Cerry, co-chairman. Gordon Avarid in reviewing the 47th annual issue of the Rotary magazine urged attendance at Rotary International to be held at Dallas, Texas in June where 9,628 clubs in 107 countries with a membership of 451,000 will be represented. In the past six months 123 new clubs have been organized throughout the world. Guests at Rotary were Fred W. Ryan, Saint John, N. B., and W. W. Downey, Halifax.

Cable Break Cuts Power To Large Area

Major centres of population and many rural homes in the southeastern section of the Province were without light and power for more than five hours yesterday morning. Lights were out and power operated equipment idle in the Towns of Montague and Georgetown, and the Villages of Southport, Murray Harbor, Murray River, and Cardigan. In most sections schools were closed until noon. The breakdown in power transmission took place at 5:30 a.m. when a blow-out occurred in the submarine cable that carries the power line beneath the Hillsborough River. Service was not restored to the affected areas until 10:30 a.m. A spokesman for the Maritime Electric Company said yesterday that the restoration of the light-and-power service in this time was made possible by the fact that there was an alternative cable running across the top of Hillsborough Bridge. Unfortunately, he said, construction work on the new bridge across the River had necessitated the removal of a part of this cable last year, so that it took some time for the repair crews to splice a new piece of cable into place.
