

IT'S TOO RISKY

To undergo an operation for itching Piles when Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a surer, cheaper, easier way to cure.

Cruel, barbarous methods belong to the dark ages of the past. There was a time when a surgical operation was considered the only possible cure for piles. Not so now. Occasionally there is still found a physician who adheres to this dangerous and expensive method, but to every one who still believes in using the knife, ninety and nine recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in The American Journal of Health, said:

"We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all the requisitions of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we endorse it to every reader."

By force of merit alone Dr. Chase's Ointment has won its way into this wide, wide world, until it has made the name of Dr. Chase familiar in almost every home, and won for the venerable discoverer the title of "America's Greatest Physician."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has never been known to fail as a cure for piles. It matters not whether blind, itching, bleeding or protruding. Dr. Chase's Ointment is an absolute and perfect cure.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is the discovery of the author of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, whose portrait and signature is on every box of the genuine. All Dealers, Wm. Manser, Bates & Co., Toronto.

He had knelt down in front of the striped chest and passed the blade of the tool under the lid. With a sharp snick the lock flew back. "Stand by!" yelled the mate, and with a heave he threw open the massive top of the box. As it swung up we all three sprang back. I with my pistol leveled and the carpenter with the hammer above his head. Then, as nothing happened, we each took a step forward and peeped in. The box was empty.

Not quite empty either, for in one corner was lying an old yellow candlestick, elaborately engraved, which appeared to be as old as the box itself. Its rich yellow tone and artistic shape suggested that it was an object of value. For the rest there was nothing more weighty or valuable than dust in the old striped treasure chest.

"Well, I'm blessed!" cried Allardyce, staring blankly into it. "Where does the weight come in, then?"

"Look at the thickness of the sides and look at the lid. Why, it's five inches through. And see that great metal spring across it."

"That's for holding the lid up," said the mate. "You see it will only stand straight. It won't lean back. What's that German printing on the inside?"

"It means that it was made by Johann Rothstein of Augsburg in 1606."

"And a solid bit of work too. But it doesn't throw much light on what has passed, does it, Captain Barclay? That candlestick looks like gold. We shall have something for our trouble after all."

He leaned forward to grasp it, and from that moment I have never doubted as to the reality of inspiration, for on the instant I caught him by the collar and pulled him straight again. It may have been some story of the middle ages which had come back to my mind, or it may have been that my eye caught some red which was not that of rust upon the upper part of the lock, but to him and to me it will always seem an inspiration, so prompt and sudden was my action.

"There's devilry here," said I. "Give me the crooked stick from the corner."

It was an ordinary walking cane with a hooked top. I passed it over the candlestick and gave it a pull. With a flash a row of polished steel fangs shot out from below the upper lip, and the great striped chest snapped at us like a wild animal. Clang came the huge lid into its place, and the glasses on the swinging rack sang and tinkled with the shock. The mate sat down on the edge of the table and shivered like a frightened horse. "You've saved my life, Captain Barclay," said he.

So this was the secret of the striped treasure chest of old Don Ramirez di Leyra, and this was how he preserved his ill gotten gains from the Terra Firma and the province of Vera Cruz. Be the thief ever so cunning, he could

The young mother's delight and joy in her beautiful baby is always accompanied by more or less care and solicitude, and a certain degree of drain on her physical resources. She needs all the strengthening and sustaining help which is possible to be obtained in order not to fall a victim to the organic weaknesses incident to maternity.

The grandest help in the world for expectant mothers or nursing mothers is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It imparts health and strength directly to the delicate organs and nerve-centers involved in motherhood.

It renders the coming of baby safe and almost free from pain. It transmits constitutional health and hardihood to the child; promotes the secretion of abundant nourishment, and fortifies the mother with permanent vital energy.

All diseases of the feminine organism are completely cured by this remarkable "Prescription." No other medicine was ever devised for this purpose by an educated, skilled physician of thirty years' experience, and an expert in this particular branch of medical practice.

The marvelous effects of this medicine are more fully described in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book which every woman ought to read. A paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free on receipt of 3¢ in stamps to pay the mere cost of customs and mailing. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. A handsome cloth-bound copy for 50 cents.

W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay County, Arkansas, writes: "Since I last wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us. My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, heartier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as a cold. It is a fact, sir, and we have not had to be up with her as often as twice at night since her birth."

not tell that golden candlestick from the other articles of value, and the instant that he laid hand upon it the terrible spring was unloosed and the murderous steel spikes were driven into his brain while the shock of the blow sent the victim backward and enabled the chest to automatically close itself. How many, I wondered, had fallen victims to the ingenuity of the mechanic of Augsburg? And as I thought of the possible history of that grim striped chest my resolution was very quickly taken. "Carpenter, bring three men and carry this on deck."

"Going to throw it overboard, sir?"

"Yes, Mr. Allardyce. I'm not superstitious as a rule, but there are some things which are more than a sailor can be called upon to stand."

"No wonder that brig made heavy weather, Captain Barclay, with such a thing on board. The glass is dropping fast, sir, and we are only just in time."

So we did not even wait for the three sailors, but we carried it out, the mate, the carpenter and I, and we pushed it with our own hands over the bulwarks. There was a white spout of water, and it was gone. There it lies, the striped chest, 1,000 fathoms deep, and if, as some say, the sea will some day be dry land, I grieve for the man who finds that old box and tries to penetrate into its secret.

A Daring Joker.

Lord Malmesbury used to relate a good story told him by one of Napoleon's officers—an incident of the peninsular campaign.

The French officer was reconnoitering with three or four troopers when they came suddenly upon a young English officer similarly occupied, mounted on a superb thoroughbred horse. Summoned by the French colonel to surrender, he quietly cantered away, with a mocking smile on his face.

The Frenchman, who rode a heavy horse, pursued at full gallop. The Englishman allowed him to get quite close. Then, kissing his hand and leaving him behind, he shouted, pointing to his horse, "A Norman horse, sir."

Again the Frenchman pursued, threatening to shoot his enemy if he did not surrender. He went so far as to point a pistol at him, but the weapon missed fire.

With a roar of laughter the young Englishman shouted again, "Made at Versailles, sir," and giving the thoroughbred his head was soon out of sight.

It was most amusing to hear the old colonel tell this story and describe his rage, adding, however, that he had always felt glad that he had not shot "the brave joker."

The Bluejackets' Revenge.

The unflinching good humor of the British bluejacket was shown the other day when a boat's load of A. B.'s from a man-of-war were landed for shore leave in a Cornish village.

As they journeyed up the roadway to the second pub a gentleman's wagonette passed, driven by a surly looking coachman, and one of the tars jumped on the step behind.

"Git off there!" shouted the coachman, and being a churlish sort of fellow he lashed the sailor viciously across the face with his whip. That was enough.

In an instant the other 11 blues had closed round and stopped the trap, the boat's mate in command. "Tention!" cried he, and "tention there was."

"Dismount the gu!" he shouted, and it seemed as if every bluejacket carried a whole carpenter's outfit. In three minutes they had taken the wagonette into 172 pieces, and that without so much as scratching one bit of paint or losing the solitary screw. They laid them all out neatly on the stony road, and the boat's mate, after inspecting the job, cried: "Good! Dismiss!"—London Sporting Times.

Babies of Alaska.

Alaskan babies are rubbed with oil, tightly rolled in a skin or blanket padded with grass and bound with deerskin thongs, which are undone but once a day, when the grass is freshened. If the baby cries, he is held under water until he is still.

GOOD HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food Restores Weak, Sickly Women to Robust Health.

Any irregularities in the monthly uterine action is sufficient cause for women to be alarmed about their health. Whether painful, suppressed or profuse menstruation, the cause can be traced to some derangement of the nerves.

A few boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will completely build up the exhausted nerves and restore the regular monthly action which removes from the body the clogged matter that would otherwise cause pain and serious disease.

It is as a restorative for pale, weak women that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has been singularly successful. It counteracts the debilitating diseases peculiar to women by feeding the nerves and creating new nerve fluid, the vital force of the human body.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has restored scores of hundreds of weak, sickly women to robust health. 50c. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
