

Three Services Will Mark Opening Of Park Royal Ch.

It will be an occasion of rejoicing tomorrow for the people of Park Royal United congregation when at 11 a. m. their new church will be dedicated to the glory of God.

For those who have worked and sacrificed for the fulfillment of this project it will be an important step in a long range program which will, in the years to come, provide for the spiritual needs of the people in the surrounding areas of Parkdale, Central Royalty and East Royalty.

For some four or five years the need for a church in this community has been keenly felt. About 250 families who have until the present date been attending Trinity Church, began to talk of a church of their own.

The physical facilities of the City church have been taxed to capacity both from a congregational standpoint and in regard to Sunday School accommodation. Also many parents experienced a handicap in bringing children long distances to Sunday School.

CONGREGATION FORMED

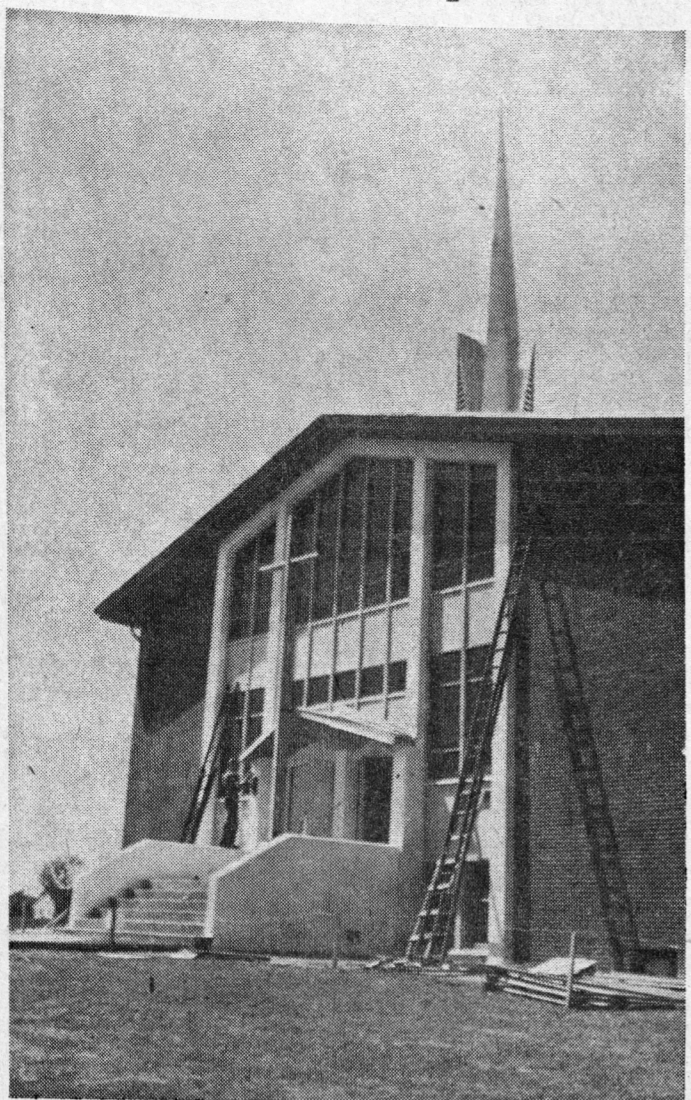

On May 26, 1957 the Presbytery of Prince Edward Island gave authority for the congregation to be constituted as a separate charge and Rev. G. Howard Christie, Assistant Minister of Trinity Church was named interim chairman. At an initial meeting held shortly after 180 people signed the original roll. Latest reports show that 263 church members have placed their names on the charter roll.

In June of 1957 Keith Pickard of Charlottetown was engaged as the architect to draw up plans for the new building. After several months of study by various committees, construction was actually started in the month of October. County Construction Company was awarded the contract for the exterior of the building and with the help of an exceptionally mild winter completed this work by January 1958.

INTERIOR STARTED

In February, M. F. Schurman Company was awarded the contract for finishing the interior. The nave has been about completed with the exception of the gallery which will be finished in the near future. Considerable finish work remains to be done in the basement area of the church.

Situated on one of the highest points of land on MacKay Drive midway between Mount Edward Road and St. Peter's Road, the church presents a striking appearance with its aluminum pylon pointing skyward. A large Cross placed on the east end wall marks it as a place of Christian worship.

AN EXTERIOR VIEW

The land on which the church is built has been generously donated by Mr. Stewart MacKay. It has been landscaped and greatly to the overall appearance of the church.

Ample natural lighting in both the nave and substructure of the church is provided by full length windows which extend from foundation to the eaves of the building.

The walls are of thermoplastic finish. The ceiling is finished in wallboard painted in a quite buff colour. The pews which have been installed this week are of natural colour and blend well with the surroundings. The steel roof trusses have been encased in natural grain plywood of a similar shade.

THE CHANCEL

Something of a departure in the construction of most United churches is the off centre pulpit with the organ on one side of the chancel and the choir on the opposite side. Again the Cross, full height of the chancel is in evidence.

In the basement is a recreation room and auditorium with classrooms opening therefrom. A modern kitchen is conveniently located for use on social occasions.

Every night this week a volunteer group of workers both men and women have offered their services in putting the finishing touches on the new edifice so that everything will be in readiness for opening day.

In the morning the cornerstone will be laid by Rev. Howard Christie, Rev. H. E. D. Ashford, D. D. will deliver the dedication sermon at 11 a. m. Rev. Dr. W. S. Godfrey will preach in the afternoon and Rev. A. Frank MacLean will preside at the evening service. Special music will be heard from the Park Royal and Trinity Church choirs. The first minister of Park Royal will be Rev. Burton Crowe, B. A., who assumes his duties the first of August.

Revolutionary Changes In Soviet Farm System

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union Thursday night announced revolutionary changes in Soviet agriculture by abolishing the systems of compulsory deliveries of grain to the state, and substituting a new pricing system.

This announcement came after a two-day meeting of the central committee of the Communist party.

The principal idea behind this plan of Premier Khrushchev is to give Russia's 130,000,000 farm workers higher incentives to produce more and cheaper foodstuffs and raise food standards beyond those of the United States and other Western countries.

A communique on the committee meeting explained that under the new system the state will purchase farm produce from collective farms at prices which will "raise the incentives to the collective farms and collective farmers to increase the output in crop farming and livestock breeding."

The old system of compulsory deliveries to the state will be abolished. So will the system of payment in kind — in grain and other products — by the collective farms for the work done by the state-run machine and tractor stations, the technical repair stations and other specializing stations.

(Under the old system, these serviced the collective farms in return for considerable payments in kind.)

The central committee met Tuesday and Wednesday and its decisions on agricultural policy were disclosed Thursday night.

Minister Ruffled Over Health Insurance Queries

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Monteith was obviously ruffled Thursday by persistent opposition queries as to why hospital insurance agreements have been signed with only two provinces so far.

The repeated Commons questioning came from Paul Martin, former Liberal health minister, and Romuald Bourque (L—Montreal Outremont-St. Jean).

They brought from Mr. Monteith the statement that agreements for federal sharing of provincial hospital insurance costs have been completed with British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and are before the government now for final approval. Newfoundland and Ontario already have signed.

Mr. Monteith shot back that there hadn't been time to make all the complex arrangements. He said he hopes and expects that the Alberta insurance plan will be found to conform with federal requirements.

HEATED REPLY

If the Liberals were still in power, he added heatedly, the hospital insurance plan wouldn't start until next Jan. 1.

The Commons finally completed detailed study of a bill which will permit federal cost-sharing payments to start July 1 toward federally approved provincial insurance plan then in effect. He has said the joint scheme is expected to start then in Newfoundland and the four western provinces. Ontario's plan is scheduled to begin Jan. 1.

Mr. Monteith told Mr. Bourque he has received no indication of whether Quebec intends to enter the plan. Quebec officials attended the last two technical conferences on hospital insurance as observers.

To Mervy Hardie (L—Mackenzie River), the minister said there will "undoubtedly" be some hospital insurance arrangements in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, although it had not yet been drawn up. Mr. Hardie asked that the impor-

MY ISLAND HOME

My Island home with climate fair,
On water and on ground,
Is not surpassed by any land,
In all the world around.

Delightful scenery you can see
At work, or when at play,
The beauty spots of P. E. I.
Our land, Home of the blest.

Though many years and many miles
In other lands you'd roam,
You would not find one that could excel
My P. E. Island Home.

We've always work, yet pleasure too,
That we might call our own,
So I give three cheers for my native land.
My P. E. Island Home.

Promises Action On Bullfights

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton expressed confidence Wednesday in the Commons that "appropriate action" will be taken if it appears likely that any proposed bullfights in Canada will contravene Criminal Code regulations.

Mr. Fulton was giving what he termed a "hypothetical" reply to H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) who drew attention to reports that an Ontario town's chamber of commerce plans to hold a "bloodless bullfight" this summer.

Mr. Herridge wanted to know whether the provisions of the Canadian Criminal Code are stringent enough to ban such an "undesirable and exotic form of entertainment."

The town of Lindsay, Ont., has announced plans to import bulls and matadors from Mexico in connection with celebrations this August.

A 30-year-old Belle River fisherman was given a two-year suspended sentence and released on a $500 peace bond when he appeared in County Magistrate's Court yesterday. The accused had pleaded guilty on June 13th to a charge of mischief.

The same man also appeared on a charge of allowing a motor vehicle to be operated on the highway without having it properly registered for the current year. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs or 10 days. R. T. Bell, Q.C., appeared for the defence.

A Charlottetown man, arrested at Parkdale and charged with being intoxicated in a public place, pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs or 30 days.

Fines of $10 and costs or 10 days were meted out to a North River man for overtaking and passing another vehicle at a dangerous point; a young Charlottetown man for speeding; a Vernon Bridge man for speeding and another Charlottetown man for speeding.
