That Wearing Tearing Maddening Headache is often the result of eye strain instead of drugs, in such cases the only reasonable and effectual remedy is

FREE FOR ALL.
 There were three starters in this class, Arc Light, Provider and Montrose, having positions in the order named. Minnie, Beau Prince and Button were drawn.
 The race was one of the most hotly contested that has been seen on the park for years. Arc Light took a slight lead at the first turn with the other two close behind, Provider having second position. After passing the quarter the space between the horses was narrowed materially and when they came under the wire at the half Provider and Montrose were neck and neck, with Arc Light close by. After passing the half Montrose broke, but after regaining his feet the gelding made up for lost time and soon came up with the leader. Coming up the stretch Montrose and Provider were neck and neck, but just before the finish Montrose again broke and dropped to third place. Arc Light finished second.
 The second heat was also won by Provider, who held the lead throughout. Montrose made a break at the first turn and fell behind a considerable distance. Coming up the stretch he passed Arc Light and came up with the leader; but just before reaching the wire he went off his feet and lost to Arc Light.
 The third heat and the race was also captured by Provider. Montrose, who broke badly and fell behind just after the start, caught up on the back stretch on the second half, and pushed Provider hard for first place. Arc Light was a good third. Following is the summary:

THE CRYSTAL HOUR.
 Amethyst, crimson and beryl,
 A splendor of infinite seas,
 In fathomless floods of beauty and pearl
 From the depths of eternity.
 With stately reverberant motion
 And the breakers' wish and din,
 The ceaseless anthem of turbulent ocean,
 The surf comes rolling in.
 While dim in the distance hover
 The sea birds, a white winged fleet,
 And exhausted waves, their ecstasy o'er,
 Make ripple marks at our feet.
 Soothed is the flesh and the fever
 Of earthly passion and power,
 And the rested heart shall treasure forever
 The touch of this crystal hour.

Bells in Jerusalem.
 Turks and Jews as well as Christians, according to the Kolnische Volkszeitung, have been much excited by the sound of the three bells of the new Protestant church in Jerusalem. For several centuries the use of bells by the Christians in Palestine or elsewhere within the Ottoman empire had been prohibited by the great Turk, who has conceded it now, however, to his friend and ally, the evangelical German kaiser. In the Theatre de la Turque, published in 1698, it is said: "The Turks hate bells as a symbol of Christianity and do not permit even the Christians to use them. Only in a few remote mountain convents or in lonely islands where there are no resident Mohammedans is the use of a bell tolerated."—Westminster Gazette.
