

Remember When

By Jim Griffith

The University of Prince Edward Island Campus did not always exist as it appears today. The rules and regulations, administrative bodies, curriculum, teaching methods, residences, and other aspects of University Life, have changed considerably over the years; some more drastically than others. While it may be impossible to relive and change the past, it certainly is possible to remember the good times, good friends and good feelings which were generated throughout one's college career.

-REMEMBER WHEN-

-Is an attempt by present faculty members and administrative officials to share with you some of their experiences which took place on this campus somewhere in the past. My name is Jim Griffith and I am presently Director of Student Services and will be with you for the next few issues. I would certainly be interested in receiving your comments, questions and suggestions. You are most welcome to drop into the Student Services office on the first floor of Main Building and deliver these in person if time so permits. I have been on this campus since 1962 and have served in a number of different roles, the most enjoyable of which was as a student (1962-1966). Since then I have been employed as University Placement Officer, Dean of Men and presently, Director of Student Services.

This column will present factual information however, I'm sure it will appear to many of you as pure fiction.

I REMEMBER WHEN-

-Residence students were first given permission to have the privilege of keeping their lights on all night (Dec. 1962). Up until this time, all residence students were requested to be in bed, with lights out, by 11:00 p.m. In fact, it was a bit stronger than a request - the main power switch for the building was pulled by the Resident Prefect, who was usually a member of faculty. Of course, this only happened on weekday nights: Friday and Saturday you enjoyed the privilege of turning lights on and off 24 hours a day, if you so desired. Imagine - being able to stay up and read with the aid of electric lights until 2:00 or 3:00 a.m.!

The radical students, who were freshmen in 1962, protested to the Administration until they were granted this privilege, i.e. all nightlights.

- Class attendance was compulsory and you were reported to the Dean of Studies if you were absent from class 3 times in one semester. If your excuses were acceptable and you obtained written permission from the Dean's Office, then you were once again permitted to resume your place in class - yes, I mean your place --- because you were assigned a seat which you had to occupy for the entire year. This made it fairly easy for the professor to take daily attendance. The practice of assigning seats disappeared in 1963. Compulsory class attendance did not disappear until 1969.

I try not to REMEMBER WHEN -

- Playing a football game in Antigonish and listening to the fans yell, "We want 100". The 14 players that dressed for the Island team were determined that this was not going to happen. Their determination won out --- final score, St. FX 90 - opponents 0.

The major criteria for making the football team was to make it to the opening game. If you survived Coach Hilton's training camp, then surely you could play the rest of the season without too much fear of physical injury!

REPORTER TALKS TO DEANS, THEN TELLS ALL

by Lois Pursey

The Deans of U.P.E.I. are aiming for quality learning within each subject area. This is evident in the goals they have set for this year.

The Dean of Arts, Dr. Frank Ledwell, is working towards unity and progression within the faculty of Arts. He anticipates the implementation of the three-tier structure of honors, majors or pass degrees, hopefully in the year 1980. He is organizing career plans for non-business students. Dean Ledwell aims for a higher profile to scholarly activity among faculty members.

Specific goals of Dean Campbell in Education, include the provision of graduate courses in Education, and improvement of the practice teaching experience for student teachers. The main tasks of this Faculty, as defined by the Dean, are in preparing teachers for service in the schools, and meeting the in-service needs of teachers in the field. Dr. Campbell views the responsibility for the preparation of teachers to be held by all three faculties.

Literacy is a main goal of Dean Ivan Dowling, Science Faculty. "Literacy for the modern student involves contact with a wide field of learning... An important goal for any faculty, aside from the obvious one of maintaining strong programs in individual disciplines, is that of providing the opportunity for UPEI graduates to be truly literate in a nonrestricted sense.

The aims of the Deans are practical and unified, and will no doubt lead to progress.
