to turn it over," said he, and walked toward the box. Flip stopped barking. He stood still close to the box, his eyes fixed on it. He was all set and ready to run after Peter when that box should be turned over. He quivered all over with excitement as his master stooped to lift the box. He would catch that Rabbit this time. He was sure of it.

PERTH, Scotland (CP)—Meteorological lecturer James Paton says people "enjoying the air" at the seaside are kidding themselves. "All they get is a whiff of seaweed," he said. "The nearest approach to the real stuff is in London's underground where the air is powerfully purified."

NEWCASTLE, England (CP)—Police for more than three hours kept children clear of a length of wet string training from a kite entangled in overhead wires. The string carried a kick from 20,000 volts and power was cut off while the obstacle was removed.
