Jones Meets Alongi

DOUG JONES, listed as the No. 1 heavyweight challenger in the World Boxing Association standings, gets back into action after a three month layoff at Madison Square Gardens tonight when he fights Tony Alongi of Miami Beach in a 10-rounder.

Jones, who lost a close decision to Cassius Clay in his last Garden start on March 13, 1962, will be seeking his fourth straight victory. After losing to Clay the 27-year-old New York heavyweight outpointed Billy Daniels, knocked out Tom McNeeley in five rounds and won a 10-round verdict over Leroy Green.

He has a seven-year record of 24 victories, four losses and a draw. Fourteen of his wins were by knockouts.

The 24 year old, 6-foot-5-inch Alongi is undefeated in his last five bouts. His seven year record shows 33 victories, two losses and a draw. He has KOed 20. Although he boasts quite a record, indications are he won't give Jones too much trouble.

Secretary of the WBA, George Logan says that Jones is the logcial man for Clay to fight in the first defence of his crown, won from Sonny Liston. But Clay and his bosses will have nothing of it; they want to fight Liston again.

Exhibition Games

CHARLOTTETOWN gets its first real taste of exhibition baseball tonight and Sunday as the Intermediate All-Stars and Legion Juveniles host teams from other areas of the province.

Tonight, under-the-lights, at Victoria Park it will be the City Intermediate All-Stars taking on the Kings County All Stars. The Charlottetown boys have brought together quite a reputable team in the All-Stars. They will probably enter Maritime playdowns this season.

The Legion Juveniles, as strong a team on many days as the Intermediates, host Summerside Juniors Sunday 2:15 p.m. in the first of their annual exhibition encounters. If I remember correct the Juveniles came out on top in last year's exhibition games but they'll have their hands full Sunday.

Off The Cuff

MARITIME SOFTBALL playoffs get the 'go' sign in Prince Edward Island tonight as BARRY'S LIONS play Charlottetown Royals in the opening game of a best-of-three Intermediate "C" series at Victoria Park, 6:30 p.m. The series winner will play JOHNNY'S FLYING HAWKS for the Queens County title . . . SIG OHLEMANN, Vancouver, a silver medalist for Canada in the 1963 Pan American Games, said earlier this week he is giving up track and field. He finished third in his specialty, the 800 meters, at the St. Lambert Olympic trials last weekend. "It looks like I've had it," said the 26-year-old runner. "I've missed two national teams now so I might as well retire." No comment . . . The Canadian Amateur golf championships open at Saskatoon today with ART MACKENZIE, Charlottetown, this province's only representative . . . After taking a shelling in the City Senior Baseball League a few days back, 'LEFTY' DUNN was back to normal at Morell Wednesday as he gave the Kings County League All-Stars a scattered 10 hits to pace the City Stars to a 6-1 win. The Kings County team will have a chance to avenge their loss tonight when they meet the Intermediates at Memorial Field, 8 p.m., in an under-the-lights exhibition clash . . . JIM PIERSALL celebrated the birth of his ninth child Wednesday night by going 3-for-5, knocking in two runs, scoring one and stealing a base as the Los Angeles Angels defeated Cleveland, 4-2.

HUNTER'S CORNER

An Enjoyable Experience; Our Trout Are On Strike

I got quite a thrill a few weeks ago — a Kingfisher scolded me from atop a dead spruce rampike beside a favourite trout pool. It was the first I had seen for five years. There was a time when every dam held a pair and then, they vanished like mist before the rising sun. It is now apparent that restrictions on the promiscuous use of certain pesticides, etc, is now bearing fruit. In the states whole river systems were cleaned of fish life and everything else that ate fish whether it was bird or animal.

One evening this week I watched a parent Kingfisher teaching one of its young how to catch fish or minnows. When its parent refused to carry it to the dead tree stub where it awaited its meal there was a cry-baby act. It would follow its parent high in the air and they would face each other, both upright as if standing motionless on their tails, a few inches apart with the youngster throwing a regular tantrum but there was no give — not while I watched at any rate. I imagine when the little tyke got hungry enough it would start foraging on its own. I don't think any young starve to death but if they are that stubborn and stupid maybe it's just as well that they do pass out of the picture.

I also saw my first family of Flickers — better known as Yellowhammers to the most of us — in three years. They are of a general yellow colour with a white spot on their back almost bordering the butt of their tail. The robins and bronzed grackles have made a swift comeback once they started on the comeback trail. I never before saw so many robins nesting in the swamps and deep woodland. Formerly they patronized orchards, hedge rows and, in some instances, inside farm buildings. 'Jim' Crow is the only bird that I know of that showed no appreciable diminution in numbers during the 'pesticide epidemic' of the past few years. I have heard it said that the Crow will still be on the range after all other feather creatures have vanished from the face of the earth.

Our trout appear to have gone on a prolonged strike and are not co-operating like they should. Food apparently is present in its natural state far in excess of normal years and anglers, at least the bulk of them are reporting many fruitless quests in search of a nice trout fry. A noticeable drop in water tables has occurred since the month of August came in. The water in our dams is not tepid but the flow through the bypasses is down almost to a trickle. On Monday of this week I decided I'd like a nice mess of trout. Conditions after 6 p.m. were okay — dull with a nice ripple. For over three hours I tried out every type of fly I had in the kit but the Montreal and Par Belle were the only ones they'd condescend to notice.

Surface fly fishing was out— one had to let the offering sink well below the surface. Ofttimes a slight tug would be felt but it was just a teaser. As the shades of night lowered there was a slight bettering of the action but it was still the under-water take. Three and a half hours steady casting creeled ten trout — not a single one over 9 inches. The average was a short eight. Ordinarily the bulk of the catch would have been returned to the water. They were all in top condition and fought like heavyweights. Several bored deep and fought so hard I thought I had at least a three quarter pounder on the end of the line until it was boated. They had been living so high their sides were rounded out. Maybe its just as well I didn't tangle with anything in the pound and a quarter class. At the moment trout fishing is a real down to earth gamble with a top casting arm thrown in to boot.

Pontiacs Top Legion Team

SUMMERSIDE — A. E. MacLennan Pontiacs evened up their best of three baseball semi-finals last night, outslugging and out playing the Legion 15-9.

It was the Legion's turn this time to play shoddy ball. They made five errors and a few of their runners were caught off base. But although errors played an important part in the game, Pontiacs' hitting was the major factor.

Four Pontiac players, George Taylor, 'Turk' Arsenault, veteran, Charley Deighan and Dave MacPhee powered the hitting attack. Arsenault had three safeties while the others had two hits apiece. Taylor, on one of his hits, cracked a long three run homer that hit the road on the fly in the fourth inning. The clout ignited a six run fourth inning by the Pontiacs. In all the Pontiacs whacked 15 hits in the crucial game off three pitchers, Don Gunning, Bob Gallant and Don Schurman. Gunning pitching the first two innings took the loss.

The Legion got more hits, 17, than the Pontiacs, with Gunning and Gallant each rapping three hits. Pontiacs' pitcher Lou Poirier went the distance for the victory. I. Poirier got three strikeouts.

The two teams play the deciding game next Tuesday.

ON THE WAY

Moe Norman of Toronto chips the ball onto the green at Halifax's Ashburn course during the first round of the CPGA championship. Norman was on his way to a great opening 18, finishing with a three-under-par 65 to lead the parade by a stroke.

Intermediate Clubs Clash Under Lights

The King's County All-Stars will clash with the Charlottetown Intermediate All-Stars in an under the lights baseball tilt scheduled for Memorial Field at 8.30, tonight.

The Charlottetown team just obtained a sponsor and if their team proves to be up to par they plan to go after the Maritime Intermediate baseball championship. The Charlottetown 'Abegweit' club has agreed to sponsor the club.

George Smith will be at the helm of the King's County squad. George requests that the following players be on hand at Memorial Field tonight. Walter Bradley, Gerard Smith, Edward Smith, Art Coffin, Elliot Handrahan, Ernie Crane, Ross Piggot, Lou Murphy, Mike Kelly, Joe McGuire, Brian McGuire, Jerry Connolly, Buddy MacCullough, John Walsh, Allie MacPhee, Lawrence MacIntyre, Joe Gill and Maynard Pacquet.

Kings County fans are urged to support their team in this game as a successful turnout for this contest could mean the continuance of baseball under the lights.

Baseball fans at Memorial Field tonight should witness an interesting ball game between the two top notch Intermediate teams. Both squads will be going all out for a win as there is considerable rivalry between the two squads. The action gets underway at 8.30 p.m.

Major League Baseball Action

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ernie Broglio held the Philadelphia Phillies to three hits and struck out nine in pitching the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory Thursday. The win, in Chicago, snapped the National League - leading Phillies five-game winning streak.

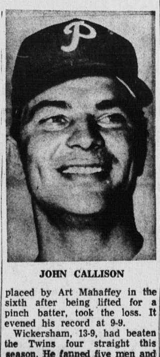
In the American League, the Minnesota Twins chased Detroit's Dave Wickersham with a five-run first inning and went on to defeat the visiting Tigers 6-3.

Boosting his record to 7-9 in the win in Chicago, Broglio set down the first 11 men he faced before Johnny Callison slammed a clean single to right centre. Then he got the next seven in order before Richie Allen beat out a bouncer to shortstop Andre Rodgers.

Tony Gonzalez doubled with one out in the ninth for the final Philadelphia hit.

The Cubs, ending a four-game losing string, backed him with a run in the second and two in the third.

Denis Bennett, who was replaced by Art Mahaffey in the sixth after being lifted for a pinch batter, took the loss. It evened his record at 9-9.



JOHN CALLISON

Wickersham, 13-9, had beaten the Twins four straight this season. He fanned five men and gave up three hits and two walks before being lifted. Jack Hamilton got the side out after five runs and five hits.

The Twins added another on Tony Oliva's 27th home run in the second innig. Oliva doubled in the first inning rally.

Detroit got two in the third on a double by Bill Bruton and singles by Jerry Lumpe and Norm Cash.

Camilo Pascual picked up his 12th victory against nine losses, striking out 10 but needed relief help in the eighth.

Rookie Joe Sparma, in his second year of pro ball, checked the Twins on only one hit in a four-inning relief job.

Loop Owners Approve Sale

BOSTON (AP) — The American League owners have approved the sale of the New York Yankees to the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., American League President Joe Cronin said Thursday night.

Cronin said the necessary three quarters of the league's club owners had approved the sale of 80 per cent of the stock in the Yankees to the network.

Cronin, however, did not say that the deal had been completed.

Cronin stressed that when and if the transaction is completed the Yankees will be "a separate entity and an autonomous organization independent of CBS with Dan Topping as president."

In New York, a Yankee spokesman issued a club statement which declared "as of this moment Dan Topping and Del Webb own the club." The spokesman said that any definite statement would have to come from CBS.

CBS, in New York, declined immediate comment.

Toronto Native Is Leading Canada's Pro Golf Tourney

By W. R. WHEATLEY

HALIFAX (CP)—Moe Norma of Toronto had sub-par score going for him Thursday in the first round of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association Championship when it was blown sky high under the impetus of four penalty strokes.

It happened far down the back nine but despite this, Norman struggled to a three-under-par 65 to lead by one stroke.

Despite dampness from drizzle and early morning fog, former CPGA champions, Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Alvie Thompson of Toronto were in the 66 bracket with George Knudson of Toronto and Dick Munn of Victoria.

Norman ripped apart the first nine with a six-under-par 28 and was still six-under before the collapse.

Norman said he went for broke at the 18th. He shot 27-28, against the Ashburn course's 34-34 par.

Four birdies and an eagle fell to him. At the second par-four 50-yard hole he nearly drove the green, chipped up and sank a five-foot birdie putt. A 12-footer went down at the sixth.

From there on to the ninth he was at his best. He sank a 30-foot downhill putt for his eagle at the long seventh, ran down a 40-foot putt at the eighth and an eight-footer at the ninth.

His first muff of par came at the 12th where he was short with his approach. Back he went to six-under at the 13th with a 12-foot birdie putt.

At the par-four 15th his approach was over the green in water and bush. He had to play it again—at a penalty—and got down for a six. Another 40-foot birdie putt helped him at the 17th and he went boldly for the green at the par-four 280-yard 18th.

The ball went into the woods at the left. Norman went back to the tee, taking a two-stroke penalty. He drove just short of the elevated green, chipped up and sank a six-foot putt for his six.

Mariners Capture Semi-final

The Bill Mulligan coached Main Brace Mariners eliminated the BIS Shamrocks in Charlottetown by defeating them in city league playoff action at the new softball diamond, last night.

The Mariners were defeated in the opening game of the best of three semi-final series but came back strong to win the semi-final with two victories in a row and the right to meet the National Park All-Stars for the City championship.

Dick Carrol led the winners attack at the plate as he lashed out with a double and two singles in four appearances. Paddy Shepherd has three singles in four trips to the plate for the Mariners.

Bill 'Monty' Monteith was on the mound for his third consecutive start for the Irish. Wilf Shepherd was the starting hurler but was relieved by 'Teet Gregory who hurled nice ball to pull one out of the fire for the Main Brace aggregation.

The score was seven all at the end of the fifth frame and in the next two innings neither team was able to bring a runner across the plate and the game was forced into extra innings.

The Mariners came up with three big runs in the final frame. Duffy walked and Gregory got on with a bunt. Vince Mulligan singled, Dick Carrol doubled and Paddy Shepherd garnered a single in that order to give the Mariners the decision.

Lion's Coach Is Outshone

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan roughriders Coach Bob Shaw is acclaimed throughout the Western Football Conference as a master psychologist, but Dave Skrien of British Columbia Lions outshone the expert Thursday.

Skrien fired the first shot in a pre-game war of wits as the two clubs prepare for a test at Regina tonight.

He said any club would be tired when facing two games in four days, as Lions do this week—but his club will have more than routine weariness to overcome.

"From playing Calgary on Monday to Saskatchewan on Friday is . . . four days," Skrien said. "But the difference between their playing styles means more than that."

He said the Roughriders set a distinct tempo — "measured, deliberate, positive," while the Stampeders bounce out of the huddle. Calgary bounced to a 22-4 defeat.

"If they (Roughriders) decide to sweep, they sweep from one sideline to the other. Our job defensively is to keep the quarterback in the pocket so we at least know where the ball is coming from.

"Offensively against Saskatchewan," he said. "We must be prepared to work very, very hard."

Asked if he believed the loss of crunching fullback Nub Beamer would hamper the defending champion Lions, Shaw said: "All I know is that they have not lost a league game yet. They'll be the same old Lions with that same gigantic defensive line."
