vice-president in charge of operations, on the witness stand. The purpose was plain; there was no thought of obliging the Provinces. The C.P.R. proposes in the coming years to invest a further $1.5 billions in capital improvements. This year, to illustrate, it is buying 138 diesels and next year will buy an additional 122. The C.P.R. believes that it would be helpful in getting the 10 per cent increase in freight rates...

The C.P.R., of course, would be able to raise this new capital much more easily and cheaply if it could show very high revenues. And revenues are the result of freight rates. The C.P.R. therefore, believes that it stands to gain by giving this evidence. But so do the Provinces. Their argument is that these gains from greater efficiency should be reflected in freight rates...

Among the speakers who expressed concern was the Hon. Gordon Churchill, Canada Trade Minister. The main fear is that the six nations in their efforts to build up a self-sufficient economy will raise tariff barriers against goods from non-members so high that competition from abroad will be greatly diminished.

During the discussions delegates from the six nations did their best to secure a general agreement. GATT that there is no real cause for alarm, that the common market and GATT will be able to work together for the benefit of all concerned.

As far as GATT is concerned, there seems to be little it can do to keep the common market arrangement from coming into operation, since it is a formula full of loopholes to provide for bilateral or multilateral agreements. And it is a little difficult to see how a common market can be effective in its purposes without at the same time causing some inconvenience to outsiders.

Railway Freight Rates
This province is, of course, among the eight Provinces which are protesting the application before the Transport Commission for an additional 10 per cent boost in railway freight rates.

"Russian leaders are insisting that no international problem facing the world can be solved by Britain and the United States without the Soviet Union taking part," reads a dispatch from Moscow.

The nine Negro children of Little Rock, Ark., who were kept out of school by national guardsmen by order of Governor Faubus, until federal troops came to their aid, have been presented with "Americanism" citations by a veterans' organization.

There is pretty general agreement that a name other than that of "Confederation" should be adopted for the new Federal Building in Charlottetown. This will be acceptable to the Public Works Department in Ottawa provided it meets with local approval.
