

HOME.

A man can build a mansion, And furnish it throughout; A man can build a palace, With lofty walls and stout; A man can build a temple, With high and spacious dome, But no man in the world can build That precious place called home.

Odds and Ends.

Three new gas wells have been struck in the Andover, N. Y., regions.

Shakespeare, as recently revised in London—The Times is out of joint.—Puck.

"The greatest and most important of English industries" is what the London Times calls agriculture.

The mercies of God to some have been as oil to the wheels of their obedience, and made them more fit for service.

Life is made up of little things, in which smiles and kindness given habitually are what win and preserve the heart and secure comfort.

The reputation of a man is like his shadow,—gigantic when it precedes him, and pigmy in its proportions when it follows him.

There are two classes of people in this world—those who make fools of themselves and those who don't need to be.—Burlington Free Press.

A German specialist says that Patti has two valves in her windpipe. She is, then, a kind of bivalve, a veritable oyster Patti.—Musical Courier.

"What were you thrashing your boy for last night?" asked a neighbor of Mr. Caution. "Wild oats," was the old man's reply.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

"George," she said shyly, as she withdrew her lingering lips from his, "I think I smell whiskey on your breath." "Wrong, Edith, dear, 'll have to guess again." And she guessed again.

Smith—"Well, thank heaven, my daughters are ugly. Brown—"Why thanks?" Smith—"Well, you see, when their beaux call, they turn the gas down and save a great deal of expense."

Mrs. Bretta—Aren't you laced awfully tight, Aspasia?—"I may be a little, mama, but I feel sure that Mr. Sawdoff will propose this evening, and he's got the shortest arms you ever saw."

It is not the whitewash on the fence that keeps it together, but the rough posts which no one sees. It is not a man's pretence that gives him his value, but the motives which are hidden from view.

An Appeal—"Now, Smithers, let me earnestly exhort you to take the pledge." "Certainly not, my lady! I'm one of your people as can keep sober without going and takin' hoaths about it!"—London Punch.

It is easy enough to destroy; and there are always destroyers enough. It requires skill and labor to erect a building; any idle tramp can burn it down. God alone can form and plan a flower; any foolish child can pull it to pieces.

Mrs. Brief—who has been reading an article on Sleep in a health paper: "John, is it best to lie on the right side or the left?" John (a lawyer): "If you are on the right side it usually isn't necessary to lie at all."—Harper's Bazar.

Papa (that is to be)—You make a draft of your plans after marriage, George, and submit it to me. George—I thought I'd leave that to your generosity, sir. About fifty thousand will do, though. I'll draw when we get to Paris.—Chicago Journal.

Husband (to wife as they start out)—"But aren't you going to wear anything on your head?" Wife (provoked)—"Why, you horrid thing, I've got on my Easter bonnet!" Husband—"You'd better wrap the bill around it, so as not to catch a cold."—Lawrence American.

Husband (to wife as they start out): "But aren't you going to wear anything on your head?" Wife (provoked): "Why, you horrid thing, I've got on my Easter bonnet!" Husband—"You'd better wrap the bill around it, so as not to catch cold."—Lawrence American.

A letter has been received by the Mayor of Chicago from leading residents of Ouida, Dak., stating that 25 residences, 48 barns, 650 sheep and many horses and cattle were destroyed by the recent prairie fires in Sully County. The letter says that one hundred farmers are homeless, without clothing or seed for sowing, and appeals for help.

In a great affliction there is no light either in the stars or in the sun; for, when the inward light is fed with a fragrant oil, there can be no darkness, though the sun should go out. But when, like a sacred lamp in the temple, the inward light is quenched, there is no light outwardly, though a thousand suns should preside in the heavens.—Becher.

When Capt. McCabe was in Kansas last year on a tour endeavoring to raise $1,000,000 for missions a little boy heard his appeal and, thinking of the large sum he had to raise, determined to help him. The first chance he had early in the week he gathered a basketful of chestnuts, which he sold for five cents. He sent this to Mr. McCabe with the note: "If you want any more let me know."

Into an ordinary claret glass or egg cup put an egg, large end down, and you will find that by blowing into the glass sharply the egg can be made to jump out. Place another glass a short distance away from the first one, and a little practice will enable you to blow the egg from one glass into the other. As several failures will precede your success in this experiment, you had better try it with hard boiled eggs.

In the letter written by Henry M. Stanley to the Royal Geographical Society he described at length the various devices by which the natives endeavored to prevent the advance of the expedition. One of these was to dig shallow pits across the path of the column and fill them with skewers, which were deftly covered with leaves. The skewers pierced the feet of Stanley's men, inflicting wounds that in many cases developed into gangrene sores. The men who were lamed in this manner were seldom fit for further service.

DRUNKENNESS Or the Liqueur Habit, Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Halse's Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea, without the knowledge of the person taking it; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an inviolable guaranty for the liquor appetite to exist. For full particulars apply to Dr. H. D. D. GRATEFUL—COMFORTING. EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shroud by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

$500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturer of Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid; at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, dizziness, hacking or spasmodic cough, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed, and the usual functions of breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Ago," from Catarrh.

Prof. W. H. ALLEN, the famous mesmerist, of Hines, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, at intervals, my voice would become so hoarse I could hardly speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Sneezing and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 202 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Rungen P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and robust and healthy."
