Gold Cup and Saucer Girls present several new faces

By RALPH CAMERON
Veni, Vidi, Vinci!
Perhaps our Gold Cup and Saucer Girls of other years were not thinking in Latin, but today they can honestly say they came, saw and conquered the hearts of thousands of wildly applauding girlwatchers. Apparently they also captured the hearts of a variety of individual men as some former GC&S Girls who are single are hard to find.

And now a new assault on the public eye is to be launched by the 1965 edition of the famous beauty line as the people are invited to meet this year's Gold Cup and Saucer collection of loveliness.

For a starter may we introduce the gorgeous 20-year-old Paula Campbell with the breathtaking 36-24-36 vital statistics delightfully placed on a 5'7 1/2" 130-pound frame. Paula, who has been previously referred to as the brightest jewel in Taylor's Jewellery Store, is the only one of the 1964 Gold Cup and Saucer Girls with the group this year.

But it will probably be her last appearance with them as a certain member of the RCMP now stationed in Newfoundland wants to hear the wedding bells ring out next May. In that case at least one of her hobbies will be useful as Paula loves to sew. She also likes engraving and listening to music.

This lovely gal with the long dark brown hair will be a stand-out as usual in her maroon and white racing silks.

Since all the others are newcomers to the group there is no protocol involved in the order of introduction so let's start with one of the tiniest dolls ever to wear the silks of the Gold Cup and Saucer Girls. She is petite Rosemary Brown, barely 18, who is a student of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Halifax, and plans a career in the nursing profession.

One of only two blondes in this year's group, pretty little Rosemary has an eye-filling 34-24-34 figure which is not concealed by that shoulder-length blond hair. Her hobbies are in the sports participation field and she especially enjoys tennis and horseback riding.

Rosemary says she has no marriage plans at all right now "but I might think about that in a couple of years", she admits. Right now she thinks it "is mighty nice to be a Gold Cup and Saucer Girl" and is anticipating the fun in which she will share. Incidentally, only the other day she was a bridesmaid for one of last year's GC&S lovelies as Roberta Lappin was married. Rosemary will be in green and white racing colors.

It could, I suppose, almost be said to be a case of them lapping up the joy of being a member of the group if it were not for the fact that this year's Lappin is such a brown-haired beauty in her own right. But Patsy Lappin, 20 years old, is really something to see and remember with her 34-24-34 1/2 figure that is sure to please all lovers of beauty.

Now in her third year of training in the nursing school of the Charlottetown Hospital she must cause a sensation among patients meeting her for the first time. Sometimes it pays to be sick. Naturally she plans on nursing as a career and says she has no definite plans regarding marriage. On that score Patsy is adopting a wait and see attitude.

She is a good card player and loves to get at the bridge table when she is not indulging other hobbies of singing or acting. And she can act as her past performances in St. Patrick's Day plays has proven. Patsy will be wearing red and white silks and believes it is "an honor to be a Gold-Cup and Saucer girl. It is nice to be chosen as one of only eight and it should be a lot of fun".

And next comes tall raven-haired Trudy Callbeck, another 18-year-old, whose hobby is art and who looks like a work of art herself. She, too, is still a student and this fall will be entering second year at Prince of Wales.

Trudy plans on eventually going to Dalhousie and because of her love of drawing will probably make a career of art. She stoutly maintains she has no marriage plans at all and no steady boy friend. "Not for a while anyway, I am just going to have fun."

More than a little thrilled at being chosen a Gold Cup and Saucer Girl, she nonetheless simply says of it "I'm glad."

However, she looks forward to the break in ordinary routine being one of the troupe provides and is anticipating a lot of fun from now on. Trudy will be seen in red and blue silks.

And again art plays a big part in Gold Cup and Saucer Girl selection as our next lovely is the cute little 20-year-old Jane Elizabeth Hogan. This is revealed in the delightful 35-24-35 figure she sports so proudly.

Jane is a student at Nova Scotia College of Art and plans on a teaching career in that field when she graduates. To allow for this she says any marriage plans she might have "are way in the future."

Her lovely dark brown hair curls attractively around her neck as she looks over the camera. Jane, who will be wearing purple and white silks, makes a hobby as well as a career of art, but she also enjoys sewing and dancing and manages to find time for them as well.

And Jane freely admits "I am proud to be a Gold Cup and Saucer Girl".

One of the nicer bits of furnishing offered by a furniture store anywhere is the lovely Helen Ann MacCallum, 21, who comes originally from St. Peter's Bay and has come a long way. This eye-filling gal with her 36-25-36 1/2 figure is one of the adornments at Crockett and Storey where she works in the office.

After finishing her business course here she went to Ottawa where she was employed in the department of national revenue and was named "Miss Income Tax" in 1963. But in spite of this she thinks "IT IS WONDERFUL TO BE CHOSEN A Gold Cup and Saucer Girl", and in her blue and white silks she is wonderful too.

Her hobbies vary with the season as she goes in for bowling and swimming while particularly loving dancing to the extent she is frequently seen with the Ruth Ross troupe. She has no wedding plans "except maybe sometime in the future".

And now meet the gal who could literally knock them dead. You would never know it to look at the charming Lorna Vessey with her 35-24-35 measurements fitted into bright green and gold silks that she is one of the better rifle shots in the province.

But she is, and has a Dominion of Canada Rifle Association record to prove it, having been a member of the Island team to go to the famed Ottawa matches on three occasions. More than that she has been shooting since she was 13 and that makes her just 21 now. But of course she names Vessey and York (her birthplace) go together with rifle shooting.

Lorna is a stenographer in the Telephone Co. office and while admitting she has a steady boy friend says any wedding date is in the indefinite future and then proceeds to contradict herself by adding "but not too far off". Aside from her love of shooting, her hobbies generally centre around curling and playing the piano. Lorna feels honored to be a Gold Cup and Saucer Girl and "loves the idea".

And last on this list, and far from least, is the delightfully vivacious Carol Foster, a 20-year old blond bombshell who is full of fun and looks it. Her neck length hair frames a pixie face that is always full of laughter, and her red and gold racing silks cover a 32-22-32 figure.

Once again there is an overtone of art in the picture as Carol is in her third year at Nova Scotia College of Art. The subject plays a big part in her planned future which will include work in industrial designing as well as giving children an art education through her teaching.

She, too, makes a hobby as well as a career of art, but she is also keen about sewing.

So far as being a Gold Cup and Saucer Girl is concerned Carol says "it should be a lot of fun".
